

PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOV. 6, 1852.

THE JAPAN EXPEDITION.

The New York Tribune has an interesting article on the Japan expedition and its matters. We copy the concluding paragraph: "The Mississippi takes out a variety of articles as presents to the Emperor of Japan to complete his present, and provides him with the means of communication. A locomotive and a quantity of railroad iron will be taken along, with which to show him the operations of a railroad. Telegraphic apparatus and wire will also be taken, with which to demonstrate how the lightning can be controlled. Two men of our crew are learning the use of the ship's engines to familiarize him with their mechanism. An apparatus for taking daguerreotypes will also be used, to obtain information for the formation of his Majesty, by means of portraits. A large lot of fine English articles will be given to him. Also, boxes of domestic goods, comprising a great variety of manufactured articles, which are to give the Emperor ideas of the industrial pursuits of this country, and perhaps awaken a desire on his part to extend his dominions over the United States. The Mississippi will take ten days to get home. The Missouri will be used for her. There are four beautiful brass nine-pounders, mounted on carriages, which are to be used, if necessary, by parties of engineers engaged in surveying. This expedition will succeed, and establish commercial relations between the U.S. and that extensive and secluded nation, it will richly repay the risk and expenditure incurred."

SATURDAY LITERATURE.—The Cincinnati Atlas states that the West is flooded with trash in the shape of cheap blood and thunder stories, and it expresses the hope that the press throughout the country will do all in their power to stamp out this infamy of the press. This obscene and revolting literature is hawked about by agents who insinuate themselves into every dwelling, office, and public place, and by their misrepresentations and falsehoods, they bring down the moral publications, thus diffusing the poison through the community. Is there no means, asked our Cincinnati contemporary, to stay the torrent of impurity? None, we fear, but in cultivating a purer taste in the community, which would be the best guarantee of the virtue of the vice still offered for their material diet. It is particularly amazing the number of writers, male and female, of this class that have sprung up in this country during the last years. Many of our weekly papers are laden with their compositions, and the author of one of the most popular of these appears to be the man whom the imaginative faculties have been strongly developed. We have our recollection on one hand, who, after contributing many quantity of pirate stories and others of equal quality to one or more of the periodicals produced by the emanation of such quantities of clever trash. Let the public discourage the publication of these stories by refusing to buy them, and the evil may be gradually corrected, and a more salutary state be substituted.—Boston Transcript.

Reply of the Duke of Wellington.

The gallant Duke lately made a young sergeant, who was, being aware of his grace's former residence in the East, and his services in India, sent him a small and elegant box containing a copy of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

MISCELLANEOUS.

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be built for the express purpose of carrying coal from the coal fields of Scotland to America. She will be built of iron, and will be the largest vessel ever built for the express purpose of carrying coal.

THE HINDOO.—The Duke of Wellington, and other members of the British Parliament, are to be present at the opening of the Hindoo in support of this false religion, gravely proposed the following question: "Do you not think it almost useless and extravagant to preach the gospel to the Hindoos?" The Duke replied: "I am sorry to hear that you are marching on me. Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Every Christian is a soldier of the cross, "enlisted and held in service under Jesus Christ. It is required of a soldier, not only that he shall not engage and endanger himself, but that he hold himself ever on the alert to catch his "marching orders," and do his Captain's bidding. No Christian can doubt the question, these things, and hence none should fail to see and feel the pertinency of the Duke's remark. The Duke, however, did not mean to indicate that the Christians of one and another country were to be left to the ignorant and obstinate Hindoo, and to the torpid sickly elements of Africa. There is a much more important reason for the wisdom of his "marching orders," than the Duke's question, and that is, to march on him, "Preach the gospel to every creature." (Mark xvi. 15.)

Steam Communication Between New York and Glasgow.

THE GLASGOW AND NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—A new steamship, the "Gloucester," will be built at the yard of Dumbarton, and will be ready for sea in November. She will be 250 feet long, and will be