PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

TUESDAY MORNING, NOV. 16, 1852.

At Boston, on Tuesday evening, an oration was delivered on the life and character of the Duke of Wellington, by R. H. James, the novel writer. The Atlas says:

The audience was very large—embracing nearly all the British residents of the city and vicinity. Hon. Abbott Lawrence, Hon. Josiah Quincy, Sr., Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., Gov. Boutwell, Lieutenant Governor Cushman, and nearly the entire Executive Council, occupied seats on the rostrum, as well as many other distinguished persons. After an impressive prayer by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Eastburn, Mr. James commenced his oration, and spoke over two hours. There was no attempt at eloquence on the part of the orator. He merely sought to give a historic sketch, and in this he was quite successful. He began by saying that these were solemn days in which we lived—that they were days of great men departed—and that from both sides of the Atlantic there arose one common wall, the cause of which was the death of Wellington and the death of Webster.

Mr. James went elaborately into the history of Wellington's life—viewing him as a military commander, as a statesman, and as a man. He followed him through India and Spain to Waterloo. He then reviewed Wellington's civil career briefly, and closed in a lofty strain of praise. The orator was listened to with marked attention.

A RICH REVOKE.—It is said of the Marquis of Townsend, that when young and engaged in battle, he saw a drummer at his side killed by a cannon ball, which scattered his brains in every direction. His eyes were at once fixed on the quality, object, which seemed to engross his thoughts. A superior officer observing him, supposed he was inflicted at the sight, and addressed him in a manner to cheer his spirits. 'Oh,' said the young Marquis, with calmness but severity, 'I am not frightened—I am puzzled to make out how any man with such a quantity of brains ever came to be here.'

One	do 16	do	16⅜ do 15⅜ do
One	do 16	do	15⅜ do 14⅜ do
One	do 16	do	14⅜ do 13⅜ do

The above mentioned timber must be delivered in the following proportions, and annually thereafter, viz: One-fifth part on or before the 1st of August next; two-fifths part on or before the 1st of October next, and the remainder complete sets in the United States arsenal at West Troy, New York; 80 complete sets at the United States arsenal near Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; 160 complete sets at the United States arsenal at Watervliet, New York; 80 complete sets at the United States arsenal at Old Point Comfort, Virginia; the whole Proposals will be received for any number of sets less than the quantity required, or for that required for each arsenal separately.

The first delivery of timber will commence on the 1st day of July, or between the first of December and the middle of March next, in such lots of straight grained, free from sap wood and from splits, check, and cracks, or large knots as may be required from time to time, except in pieces of large size which cannot be procured free from knots, and these will be received from the contractor if the other defects stated. It may be delivered from time to time, as it is ready, at the arsenals, and will be daily inspected and measured by the Commanding Officer, and a receipt given for each arsenal and, if approved and received, the quantities of each description will be credited to the contractor, but no less than 100 will be paid for at the contract price, less ten per cent. until the necessary is completed, when the amount so reserved will be paid to the contractor; but it will be for the Secretary of War to decide whether the timber fall in such like particulars as to inspection or cut or delivery desired by the Department, whether the application may be made by the agent of the contractor, or by the Commanding Officer of either of the arsenals.

No compact for the above mentioned timber will be entered into with the lowest bidder, but the contractor to whom the award may be made will be required to give satisfactory evidence of his ability to fulfil his contract.

No advance on contracts will in any case be made; but payments will be made as the work progresses.

Proposals will be for a sum in gross.

Proposals to be addressed, and sealed envelope, ad "Proposals for Gun Carriage Timber," to Colonel of Ordnance.

Proposals for Carrying the Mails

OF the United States in steam boats, from the 15th day of January next, to the 30th day of June, 1856, on the following routes, will be received at the office of the Second Assistant Postmaster General, in the city of Washington, until 9 a.m. of the 8th day of December next, for the conveyance of the mails four times each week:

From New Orleans to Pensacola, Apalachicola, St. Marks, New Orleans to Galveston, and Tampa to Key West.

Leave New Orleans on the third and seventh of each month.

Arrive at Key West on the tenth and twenty fourth.

Leave Key West on the eleventh and twenty fifth of each month.

Arrive at New Orleans on the seventeenth and first.

PROPOSALS are invited for trips once in three weeks, leaving New Orleans on the 1st and 15th.

NOTES:

Articles of agreement, to be executed by the accepted bidders, with sureties, duly authorized, on or before the 15th day of January, 1853. The contractor will be required to enter into bond with sufficient sureties, in the penalty of twice the amount of the pay to the trip to be furnished when the trip is performed by the month, and not more than three times the trip is not run, and no sufficient excuse be rendered, and due allowance made for the proportion of it when a grade of service is rendered inferior to that contracted for, or when the service may be imperfect, unless the deficiency be satisfactorily explained; and in case of failure to enter into the contract or deliver into the post office at the port of landing the mail, or any part of it, to be well, injured, lost or destroyed, or not delivered in due season, that expense it to depredation, loss, or injury; that expense to be incurred in conveying it by other additional steamships or vessels, or by the best other means, and the amount thereof charged to the contractor in the settlement of his account, and for not arriving at the hours of the sailing intelligence, or furnishing the means of the sailing intelligence, or furnishing the mail. The Postmaster General may annul the contract for repeated failures by violating the regulations of the Department for performing the contract without the consent of the Postmaster General, or for running at a greater or slower rate.

The Postmaster General may alter the time, or after the schedule, by allowing a pro rata increase of compensation for any increase of speed by law any reduction of compensation proposed by law for any diminution of speed. The Postmaster General shall, three months' notice, have the power to discontinue the whole or any part of the service, if he shall deem it necessary.

The pay for the service, the year's per, the bidder's name and residence, the name of each member of the firm where a company offers, should be distinctly stated in the proposal.

Form for a Bid where no change from advertisement is contemplated by its Bidder.

I, (or we, as the case may be) here write the name or names in full) of (here state the place or residence) hereby agree to carry the mail on the route from New Orleans to Key West, and back, according to the terms of the advertisement for proposals on the same, dated November 2, 1852, and to perform the service in the time and manner contained in such advertisement, and by the following modes of conveyance, viz: (here state how it is to be conveyed) for the annual sum of (here write out the sum in words at length.)

Date [Signed.]

The following is the form of a guaranty, which should be filled up with the name of the bidder, and the signature of the second with that of the bidder, and the third with the name of the route, and the leading points of the route, and, after being dated, should be signed by the guarantors, the names of whom, with written certificate of a postmaster, or other equal satisfactory testimonial to the character of each, and able to make good their guaranty. This guaranty, as above, must accompany each bid.

The undersigned guaranty that ——— if his bid be accepted by the mail route ——— to ——— be established by the Postmaster General, shall enter into the contract required by the Postmaster General, pursuant to law, prior to the 15th day of January next, with all the terms and conditions of the advertised notice, to perform the service proposed.

Dated ———

[Signed.]

Form of Certificate.

The undersigned, ——— master of ———, certifies that he is well acquainted with ——— the guarantors above named, and their property, and that they are sufficient and able to make good their guaranty.

Dated ———

[Signed.]

The bid should be sent under seal to the Second Assistant Postmaster General, at the seat of government, written on the same of the letter, "Mail Proposals," in the left hand corner, and be received before the 8th day of December, which will be the last day for receiving proposals at the office.

JAMES CAMPBELL,
Postmaster General.
