tor The communication on our first page was written by a professor of the College at Canons burgh, whose initials are appended to it. We give the arlicle without any knowledge of the matter except what we have derived from the public prints and from our correspondent, and do not wish to be considered as expressing any opinion whatever on the subject in controversy

"THE OBEAT BROAD GAUGE RAILEOAD TO OLI an."-This project has made a good deal of noise of late in the Ohio and North- estern Pennsylwaais papers. Meetings were held in various parts of the country, delegates were appoint eff, and a wast deal of ink and wind were ent. Last week delegates from Ohio, and th Pitteburgh and Erle Road, met in New York, to consult with the Directors of the New York an Erie Road. The meeting took place in the sple did rooms of the New York and Erie Bailroad Company, and continued by adjournment from day to day, but finally broke up without effect ing any thing of importance towards the objec

This negotiation having failed for the present We have a proposition to make to the New York ers, and all others concerned, which we think is more feasible than the project discarded. New York desires a great trunk-line, broad-gange Railroad to Cincinnati. Well, to obtain this of jest, we propose to them to join in securing the six foot track on the Allegheny Valley Road, the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Road, the Steubenville and Indiana Road to Zanesville, and the Zanesville and Wilmington Road. This woul give New York as good a route as she ever can have to Cincinnati : with the double advantag of the Ohio river commerce at Pittsburgh, which losts more tonniage than, any two or three Railroads can carry. The four roads mentioned nnecting the New York and Erie road with nati, are all progressing, with large sub scriptions of stock, and are in the hands of or mpanies. All that is necessary is, for New York to enter into the requisite negotia tions, and assist in the con great line. The project is certainly worth thinking of, and we commend it to the attention of all concerned. We propose it at our own sug-gestion, without consulting with, or knowing the minds, of any of the parties concerned.

ELECTIVE JUDICIARY. The National Intelligen The National Intelligencer regards the row dyism lately prevalent at Baltimore, and other nots indicating a lawless spirit, as the legitimat offspring of an elective Judiciary. It contends that Judicial officers who receive their power from the people, will not wield that power fear lessly against those from whom they received it, offences never so great; because those who are arraigned before them are voters, and having in their hands the power of punishing es judges, the judges dare not provoke them to an exercise of it. In this view a Balti-

many has been conclusive; but it behooves those who urge it to show that the Judges of Maryland, (or any other State,) elected by the peo-ple, have been less fearless than those who preded them under a different mode of appoint This is the way to secure a large and regular business. Bapidity and certainty are matters of great importance to merchants in these specenent. One fact will outweigh a thousand the les, and unless the facts show that judicial in territy has failed, under the new method of ion by the people, we must be excused for adopting the conclusions of the intelligencer, for want of a sufficient basis on which to rest. them. Here in Pennsylvania, as far as our people have proved as honest and determined in he discharge of their duty as any who served under the appointing power of the Governor and in some instances, Judges who at first re ceived their appointment from the Governor, and afterwards were elected by the people, have own more severity to culprits since their election than before. The great objection to the argument of the ncer is, that it strikes at the root of republican government. It involves the conclu-
