PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.
MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 15, 1853.

TO BRING THE DROWNED TO LIFE.—Intended to be put into every man's hat. Immediately as the body is removed from the water press the chest suddenly and forcibly downward and backward, and instantly discontinue the pressure. Repeat this violent interruption until a pair of common bellows can be procured. When obtained, introduce the nozzel well upon the base of the tongue, Surround the mouth with a towel or handkerchief, and close it. Direct a bystander to press firmly upon the projecting part of the neck, (called Adam's apple,) and use the bellows actively. Then press upon the chest to expel the air from the lungs, to imitate natural breathing. Continue this at least an hour, unless signs of natural breathing come on.

Wrap the body in blankets, place it near a fire, and do every thing to preserve the natural warmth, as well as to impart an artificial heat if possible. Every thing, however, is secondary to inflating the lungs. Send for a medical man immediately.

Avoid all frictions until respiration shall be in some degree restored. VALENTINE MOTT,
Surg. Gen. of the American Ship-wreck Society

Mark, says a sensible writer, the laboring man who breakfasts at six, and then walks perhaps two or three miles to his work. He is full of health and vigor, and defies doctors. Mark, on the other hand, your clerk, who takes tea and toast at eight, and gets down to the store at nine, or half-past. He is a pale, effeminate creature, full of sarsaparilla and patent worm medicine, and baby things. What a pity it is that all such people do not lay down the yard stick and the scissors and take up the the scythe or the flail for a year or two. By remaining in their present occupation, they only help to fill up cemeteries, and that's about as miserable use of humanity as you can name.

MUTILATION AT SHAKSPEARE'S HOME.—An English paper, the Leamington Spa Courier, accuses "H. Johnson, ex-Governor of Louisiana," with having abstracted a portion of the fig-leaf from the Shakspeare family Bible, at Stratford-upon-Avon. The accusation is based upon the fact of the leaf having been abstracted during the visit of a person who registered his name on the visitors' book as above, and who manifested a fiendish desire to obtain a memento of the great bard, but was refused by the keeper of the house.

Portraits and Memoirs of EMINENT AMERICANS NOW LIVING

With Biographical and Historical Memoirs of their Lives and Actions. By John Livingood, of the N. York Bar.

"The portraits are all engraved from daguerreotypes, in the finest manner, and are undoubtedly correct. We can vouch for the remarkable fidelity of the likenesses of those persons with whom we are familiar. The work is a truly national work is creditable to the ability and enterprise of the publisher, and should adorn every public and private library in the country. His plan is to 'no crowd of portraits, but to present three or four persons of eminence, statesmen, founders, merchants, manufacturers, and farmers, and the principal facts connected with the progress of every department of American society. To appreciate at the value of such a work it would be necessary to state only the names of the men who are to figure in it. Suffice it to say that it is a universal favor.—Com. Adv.

SELLERS' LIVER PILL—"The very best Pill now in use!"

ATHENS COUNTY HOUSE (Va.), Jan. 4, 1851.
Mr. R. E. Sellers—Dear sir—I will state to you that it is my opinion your Pill is perhaps the very best Pill now in use for diseases of the liver, and I am certain as an anti-bilious pill. It is very highly esteemed in our country as a Family Pill, and in fact, surpassing all others. I now speak from my own experience and from the use of many of my friends.—I remain, yours respectfully,
P.S.—I would like to show the original letter, but not to publish the writer's name.

PROFESSOR ALEX. C. BARRY'S TRI-COPHEROUS, or Medical Compound, for beautifying, improving and preserving the hair, curing cutaneal eruptions, burns, stings, rheumatism, and all irritations of the skin. A preparation, the sale of which amounts to one million of bottles annually, would seem to need no advertisement; but as the thousands of testimonials and approval of it having probably no more of the merits of the article than the name, the proprietor begs to state a few facts in connection with its history. Professor Barry has devoted 15 to 20 years to the study of the diseases of the hair and beauty thanks to his innumerable patrons.

The Professor Barry's account of sales for the year 1852, show that during that year about 240,000 bottles of his Tricopherous were disposed of; and that the cash product of this immense sale was nearly $100,000.

This plain, unvarnished tale is a better commentary on the value of the article that anything the proprietor could say. If it were not previous in its effect upon the hair—if it were not invaluable as a household remedy for sore throat, bruises, burns, skin diseases, &c.—it would not, of course, be so generally in demand. The wealthy portion of the public would buy it at any price, but Professor Barry has reduced it to so low a rate that it is within the means of its benefits
Sold in large bottles (price 25 cents,) at wholesale and retail, at the Manufactory and Depot, No. 127 Broadway, New York; and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States and Canada. Agents, Wood ladies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by

ATTAINING FAVOR DAILY—There is no medicine so well adapted for all common diseases on plantations as B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE. Read this testimony:

[From N. P. Ducongé, Esq., New Orleans.]

Messrs. B. A. Fahnestock & Co.—New Orleans, March 8, 1853.
Gentlemen: I have pleasure, I am glad to be pleased to inform you that your Vermifuge continues to sell well in this city, and I find gaining favor daily amongst our planters. Many of my customers, who were in the habit of using other medicines, are now determined to use B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge only, owing to its safety as well as efficacy. In fact I know of no Vermifuge in this city which stands so high in the estimation of the public. Please send me fifty gross more of your Vermifuge, as I find my present stock getting very low.
Respectfully, F. P. DUCONGÉ.
