Nothing in Mrs. Stowe's work equalled this in the bratality displayed by this Pennsylvania Marshal and the Virginia slave hometer. Had some bold spirit led the way, the citizens would have demoliabed them on the spot. As it is, the result has been good.

Some curiosity having been expressed by the press to learn its character, The President of the "Democratic Adamantine Association" gives the public the information called for, as far as the rules and regulations of the association will permit. He says:

"It extends throughout the State of New York in almost every county of which there is now a branch association in full operation. It comprises leading and influential Democrats, whose political standing has always been above repreach and suspicion. In this city, our organisation is very numerous, and since the meetings have been called through the public prints the "usual place" has been crowded with applicants.

The President, Joseph T. Sweet, says he is not permitted to give further information at present, but the injunction of secresy having been removed from a portion of the by-laws. be makes them public. The following extract shows the colors under which the "Adamantine Association" will fight:

"No person can be preposed a member of this Association who does not publicly declare that he snoports the fugitive Slave Law of 1850, without amendment or afteration—the measures known as the "Compromise measures"—and believes in the constitutionality of the same; that he is opposed to the Wilmot Provine, and will by his voice and action resist the application of the same to any territory now belonging to, or hereafter acquired by the United States, which may seek to become a State of this Union; that they support the Inaugural Address of Precident Pierce, and the "Baltimore Platforms of 1844, 1848 and 1852, without any reservation or exception whatever."

GREAT PRIL-REMARKABLE Escare.-Early GREAT PERIL—REMARKABLE E-CAPE.—Early this morning Mr. Amory Amaden thought he would take a walk, and struck off in the direction of Goodman stroot, to the railread crossing. Just as he get there, a woman, with a small cliff upon the seat with her, drove up, and as the hugger oressed the first rail of the track, the shafts became detached from the vehicle, leaving it, with the woman and child, standing on the track. At this point of time the lighting train was not than eight rods from the vehicle; nevertheless, Mr. Amaden grappled it, and throw it from the track just in time to clear the trail. A moment later and the designation of the parties would have been inswitchle.—Rochester Adecritier.
