with such fatal consequences at Cannelton, has take her when repaired . The number of victims by the explosion was 36, up to last advices, and 15 more were in a critical condition.

The Cincinnati Commercial says:

DEAD.—Mr. James Harper, a student at Gefforson College, Canonsburg, died on Tucsday night in that place, from injuries received on Thursday of last week, in the following manner.
Mr. Harper, in company with Dr. Cook went out riding, and on coming in the vicinity of the "closing," of a fox-hunt near Canonsburg, his horse became frightened and ran off into the woods;
coming in contact with a tree, Mr. Harper's foot was so terribly crushed that the bones protruded through his boot. On Saturday, mortification having taken place, the injured limb was amputated by Dr. McCook. The operation failed to have the desired effect, and he commenced failing rapidly, until Tucsday evening, when death terminated his sufferings. Mr. Harper was a young and promising student for the ministry.
He was in his 22d year. His father resides in Manchester.

WHOLESOME PUNISHMENT.—On Wednesday a suspicious slooking individual entered the American Hotel, Penn street, and helped himself to a coat, belonging to the cook, a colored man. In passing out he was discovered by the owner of the coat, who, on seeing him with it under his arm, interrogated him as to what he was going to do with his coat. He feigned drunkenness, and said the coat belonged to him. The cook was about proving his right, when the thief, taking advantage of the cook's sheenee, took to his heels. Ile was pursued some distance and finally captured by the landlord, Mr. Benj. Trimble, who, after giving him a sound drubbing, let him go. Benj. Trimble, who, arrer drubbing, let him go.

The Court House was closed last evening, and no admittance to the offices or any part of the grounds will be permitted, except by those holding deputation cards.

Siames There. The famous Siameso Twins will shortly pay a visit to this city. The advertisement may be seen in another column.

The Rev. Dr. Duff, of Calcutta, having arrived yesterday from the East, was conducted to the residence of Mr. James M Candless Esq., Allegheny, where a large number of Ciergmen and citizens, representing the várious Protestant denominations in our two cities, waited upon him in the evening, in order to welcome his arrival and testify their high appreciation of his characacter and the noble missionary work in which he is so distingueshed a laborer.

In pursuance of the notice already given he will lecture this evening in the Masonic Hall at 7 o'clock.
