He is suffering from what apfore the Senate, and is now considered to be about finished. Its other great measure, the Nebraska outrage, has been put to sleep for an indefinite period, in a House where the administration could count, at the commencement of the session, over sixty majority. In the meantime, the session, over sixty majority. In the meantime, the session of the better this morning, though not yet well enough to leave his room. the people are giving to the bill such rough handling that there is a probability that it will

Nearly five months have passed away, and no deficiency bill has yet reached the President. It seems as if the President's democratic friends were determined to starve him out, or they take this mode of expressing their contempt of an administration their party has brought into power.

popular, the attempt is making to create a belief that Gov. Bigler is opposed to that iniquity.—
This is Democracy throughout. It skulks away from every issue in which there is danger, never meeting it boldly until it is perfectly safe to do so. While agitation and excitement prevail, its policy is to vary its hee with the facility of the chameleon, according to the color of different localities. In Washington city, where the Gorernment, has offices to bestow, Gov. When the N branks bill came up in Congress they did not see the cloud that abolition had raised to obscure that question—they did not hear the load threats of noisy demograss. They did not be dead threats of question—they did not hear the lond threats of noisy demagogues; they did not heed the prophecies of timid and time serving politicians. They saw the great principle involved; and they followed it like a star. They saw that it was their duty to stand by principle, and to follow it; and they unhesitatingly took their position. However others may faiter, the great body of the Democracy of Pennsylvania will not faiter. They are not to be intimidated, and they can afford to await the result of their firmness and devotion to the great truth.

This is for the latitude of Washington. No sch talk as this is indulged in Bradford, Busquehanns or other Northern counties, where anti-slavery sentiments are prevalent. Still, we shall
