

PITTSBURGH GAZETTE

PUBLISHED BY WHITNEY & CO.

PITTSBURGH:
THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 18, 1854.

WHIG STATE TICKET.
FOR GOVERNOR,
JAMES POLLOCK,
OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY;
FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER,
GEORGE DARRIE;
OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY;
FOR JUDGE OF PEACE COURT,
DANIEL M. SMYER;
OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

Mr. Pittsburgh Weekly Gazette.—The extensive circulation of our Whig Gadsden has been known to every manufacturer and shopkeeper in Western Pennsylvania, and Eastern Ohio.

To Advertisers.—Neither the Editorial Rooms nor the Publishing Office of the Daily Gazette, are open on Monday. Correspondence will please hand them in at the paper on Monday mornings, will please hand them in at the paper on Saturday.

Headlines on each page of this paper and copy of our DAILY PAPER can be obtained at McWhorter's, on Smithfield street, near the Post Office.

JOHN CLARK, at Tarentum, Allegheny Co., Pa., is authorized to receive money for subscription, &c., for this paper.

DEMOCRATIC SYMPATHY WITH RUSSIA.—It is one subject on which the people of the United States approach to unanimity of opinion, it is that the acts taken by Russia in her quarrel with Turkey, are almost universally believed to be right, her course hypocritical and dishonest, and her conduct cruel, tyrannical and bloodthirsty. The hearty sympathy of the American people is with Turkey.

Yet we find the organ of the National Administration, in this country, taking sides openly with Russia. Some time ago a leading editorial article appeared in the Washington Union, vindicating the acts of the Government of the United States upon its side.

This article professed considerable political circles and the author of it was at once compelled to assume its paternity, and retire from the paper. But the Union, while disowning the author, never disavowed the sentiments of that article; and it has lately returned to the task of spreading similar views. It has, with a short interval, maintained several elaborate communications indicating sympathy with Russia, in his dispute with Turkey; Powers; and in one of its issues has made an editorial article upon the subject of the approaching war, in which we find the following sentence:

"England is actuated by no regard for Turkey, but she is looking to the extension of the field of empire, and to the acquisition of capital. In this wide field for commercial enterprise, the real prize at which Great Britain is looking, we have powerfully to prefer the success of our ally, Turkey, to that of Russia. Our foreign and commercial nation, the other countries not in competition with us, whilst, therefore, our sympathies are with Turkey, because she is that which is strong, these sympathies are not strong; they are not even when our interests are fully consulted, but when the discourses as to the policy and conduct of Great Britain are considered."

We commend this extract to the attention of all those who think the democratic party is the essence of republicanism. The great principles of justice in the present European contest are here treated as nothing, and the United States are tempted to entitle themselves on the side of the English tycoon, because England is suspected of being actuated by a desire to extend the discourses as to the policy and conduct of Great Britain.

England is actuated by no regard for Turkey, but she is looking to the extension of the field of empire, and to the acquisition of capital. In this wide field for commercial enterprise, the real prize at which Great Britain is looking, we have powerfully to prefer the success of our ally, Turkey, to that of Russia. Our foreign and commercial nation, the other countries not in competition with us, whilst, therefore, our sympathies are with Turkey, because she is that which is strong, these sympathies are not strong; they are not even when our interests are fully consulted, but when the discourses as to the policy and conduct of Great Britain are considered."

And this is American democracy! This is the epitaph of the President's mouthpiece, the embodiment of a great party's voice.

With so many citizens of foreign birth, who have given up their native land to the democratic party, because of its supposed sympathy with Russia, it may be asked, what is the fate of republican America? We have seen, in the paper by which it is properly regarded as speaking for the President; and whatever influence we may possess as a nation is sought by this organization to sustain the administration to the end.

Mr. Grubb submitted a resolution, calling on the Governor to inform the Senate what steps were to be taken, with regard to the proposed bill to incorporate the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

A bill for the relief of certain old soldiers.

A bill relative to the Church and burial ground of the United Brethren and Reformed Association in Mill Pleasant, Westmoreland Co.

A bill to prohibit the sale of distilled spirituous liquors in the state of John Chase, a negro man in Cambria, Washington county.

Mr. Grubb moved to take up the bill to repeal the tax on distilled spirituous liquors.

Several Senators objected to its consideration at present, and on motion of Mr. E. W. Hamlin, it was postponed—yeas 18, nays 15.

The following bills were taken up, and passed finally:

A supplement to the bill to incorporate the Franklin Railroad.

A bill for the relief of certain old soldiers.

A bill relative to the Church and burial ground of the United Brethren and Reformed Association in Mill Pleasant, Westmoreland Co.

A bill to prohibit the sale of distilled spirituous liquors in the state of John Chase, a negro man in Cambria, Washington county.

Mr. Grubb moved to take up the bill to repeal the tax on distilled spirituous liquors.

The leaders of the democratic party are corrupt enough to throw into the hands of Russia, and array us upon the side of tyranny, if left to themselves, but in endeavoring even the thought of doing so, they have arrayed themselves on the side of those who would awaken an instant clamor for their overthrow.

Such revelations of corruption as is elicited in the extract given above from the Wig, ought to be sufficient to drive every honest Democrat from the ranks of that party. The name "democratic" has proved a gaudy bait to trap those whose sympathies are so scarcely democratic as to lead them to expect to find the substance with the name; but what acts, which speak louder than words, prove the party to be anti-democratic, and that they should awaken an instant clamor for their overthrow?

FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of the Daily Pittsburgh Gazette.

WASHINGTON, April 10.

The rumor first given to the public by the New York Tribune, that the administration of Mr. Everett, has, of course, excited some alarm among Washington politicians, is well founded.

The truth of the story may be, it is not for the credit of Mr. Everett that it should be believed. If he did write the principal part of that noble composition, it cannot be doubted that Mr. Webster, in adopting it, made such improvements in its style and substance as to make it essentially his own.

The administration of the state as a great and independent state during the last year of his life, but nobody had the thought of destroying that it was a true and an able writer. His style was grand and lofty as the peaks of his native mountain, and as pure as the air which surrounds them. The fame of his eloquence and scholarship will still bear abroad, but his political career has already sunk in the oblivion of history.

PITTSBURGH, April 10.—Porto Gallo, dated in a previous letter, has been received. Consideration, in session, considering the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received. Consideration, in session, concerning the emancipation of slaves at an early day. This project was a favorite of Mr. Webster, who hoped thereby to gain greater influence with the slaves, since his entry into the house of his power or confidant, he is a candidate for the Presidency.

ENCLAVE OF THE PACIFIC.—The original of the Webster's broad address, which adorns Webster's broad address, has been received.