WASH FOR STONEWORK.—The following recipe was sent by a gentleman of New Orleans to his friend in Philadelphia, who writes that the wash was satisfactorily tested upon the roof of the Phœnix Foundry in that neighborhood. It is not only a protection against fire, but renders brick work impervious to water. The basis is lime, which must be first slacked with hot water in a tub to keep in the steam. It should then be passed, while in a semi-fluid state, through a fine sieve. Take six quarts of the fine lime, and one quart af clean rock salt for each gallon of water—the salt to dissolved by boiling, and the impurities skimmed off. To five gallons of this mixture, (salt and lime,) add one pound of alum, half a pound of copperas, three-fourths of a pound of potash. The last to be added gradually, four quarts of fine sand or hard wood ashes. Add coloring matter to suit the fancy.

It should be applied with a brush. It looks as well as paint, and is as lasting as slates. It stops small leaks, prevents moss from growing, and renders the work incombustible.

NEW YORK
Its Upper Ten and Lower Million!

BY GEORGE LIPPARD,

Author of "Washington and his Generals," "The Empress," "Quaker Quadroon," "Paul Ardenheim," "Gents and the Fours," "Adonai," "The Quaker City," &c.

This is the best work ever written by Lippard; one continued scene of excitement from the commencement to the end. Those who have read Count de Monte Christo, or The Wanderer and Gerfaut, will be under the impression, will be equally pleased with this. Many of the characters of this the most interesting work that has issued from the press for some time.—Reporter.

George Lippard's Great Work—New York: Its Upper Ten and Lower Million. Novel readers will be perfectly delighted with this new work. The incidents delineated in this work are of the most exciting character. We should not be surprised if the demand for it should exceed that of Uncle Tom's Cabin.—Times.

From the Louisville Courier.

New York: Its Upper Ten and Lower Million.—George Lippard's last and best work. This novel requires only to be read to be correctly appreciated. As an enchanting story, it is unsurpassed; as a picture of life unimaginable; any person who consciences this work, to leave it off unread, has turned over its last page.

From the Louisville Daily Chahal Flaitsinker.

New York: Its Upper Ten and Lower Million.—A new book by that gifted son of genius, George Lippard. We are read it: It is a novel of most thrilling interest—such as he has taught us to look for from common pens. You will sit up all night to finish. It is a book we would like to see in the hands of every lady in the land.
