PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

WHAT THEY ARE.—Dr. Kendall, an ancient writer on fishes, was so fond of figs, that he died in 1565, of a surfeit, occasioned by eating them to excess. In a letter to a friend, Dr. Parr confessed his love of "hot boiled lobsters, with a profusion of shrimp sauce." Pope, who was an epicure, would lie in bed for days at Lord Bolingbrooke's, unless he were told there were stewed lampreys for dinner, when he arose instantly and came down to the table. A gentleman interested Dr. Johnston to new honey and clouted cream, of which he ate so largely that his entertainer became alarmed. All his lifetime Dr. Johnston had a voracious attachment to a leg of mutton. "Ah, my aunt Ford's"; says he, "if ate so much of a boiled leg of mutton, that she used to talk of it. My mother, who was affected by little things, told me seriously that it would hardly ever be forgotten." Dryden, writing in 1699 to a lady, declining her invitation to a handsome supper, says: "if beggars might be choosers, a chine of honest bacon would please my appetite more than all the marrow puddings, for I like them better plain, having a very vulgar stomach." Dr. George Fordyce contended that as one meal a day was enough for a lion, it ought to suffice for a man. Accordingly, for more than twenty years, the doctor only used to eat only a dinner in the whole course of the day. This solitary meal he took regularly at 4 o'clock, at Dolly's chop-house. A pound and half of rump steak, half a broiled chicken, a plate of fish, a bottle of port, quarter of a pint of brandy, and a tankard of strong ale, satisfied the Doctor's moderate wants till four o'clock next day, and regularly engaged one hour and a half of his time. Dinner over, he returned to his home in Essex street, Strand, to deliver his six o'clock lecture on anatomy and chemistry. Baron Mosacres, who lived nearly to the age of ninety, used to go home one day in the week without any dinner, eating only a round of dry toast at tea. Aristotle, like a true poet, seems to have literally feasted on fancy. Few could live more frugally, in one of his poems he says of himself, "that he was as fit person to have lived in the world when acorns were the food of men." When Bolingbrooke invited Swift to dine with him, he talked of the dishes he would offer. "A pig for your bill of fare, said Swift, "show me your bill of company." Milton was fond of a glass of water and a pipe. A modern poet, who was asked by a lady of fashion what he would like for dinner, answered, "Peppermint cordial and black pudding."

NEW YORK.
Its Upper Ten and Lower Million!

BY GEORGE LIPPARD,

Author of "Washington and His Generals," "The Nazarene," "Paul Ardenheim," "Jesus and the Poor," "Adonai," "The Quaker City," &c.

This is the best work ever written by Lippard; one continued scene of excitement from the commencement to the end. Those who have read Dumas' Count of Monte Cristo, or The Wandering Jew, we are under the impression, will be equally pleased with this. Novel readers will find this the most interesting work that has issued from the press for some time.—Enquirer.

George Lippard's Great Work—New York: Its Upper Ten and Lower Million. Novel readers will be perfectly delighted with this work. The characters delineated in this work are of the most exciting character. We should not be surprised if the demand for it should exceed that of Uncle Tom's Cabin.—Times.

From the Louisville Courier.

New York: Its Upper Ten and Lower Million.—George Lippard is fast and best work. This novel requires only to read to be somewhat appreciated. As an enchanting work, it is unsurpassed. We believe it will be impossible any person who commences this work; to leave it off until he has turned over its last page.

From the Louisville Daily Dispatch.

New York: Its Upper Ten and Lower Million.—A new by that gifted son of genius, George Lippard. We are read it. It is a new style of novel interest—such one as having been commenced, you will sit up all night to finish. It is a book we would like every body to read.

To Capitalists, Manufacturers and Mechanics.

THE 'Beaver Manufacturing Company,' under a Charter from the Legislature of Pa., with a Capital of $500,000, propose to establish, in the village of Beaver Washington, Beaver Co., Pa., a spinning and an extensive ROLLING MILL, with the necessary machinery and apparatus for the production of Bar Iron, Sheet Iron, Nails, Spikes, &c., &c., as soon as the Company shall have purchased Iron.

The location of the establishment of this object they are willing to furnish the appropriate sites and grounds, for the purpose of erecting the necessary buildings with the machinery, the privilege of getting coal, iron ore, fire clay, building stone, &c., &c., all of which they own in great abundance; also, dwellings, mechanic shops and a store, for the accommodation of operatives and others—to excavate a large and commodious race and canal for water power, to furnish convenient and abundant supply of water, and for the necessary roads to and from the works, and to erect the main buildings in which to carry on the contemplated manufacturing operations.

Such grounds, water power, erections, improvements and privileges, they propose to put in as so much capital; and for the same, and the use of their charter, with some capital, knowledge and mechanical experience, will be found ready to join with those who may be willing to supply the machinery, labor, and a portion of the working cash capital. The Company will require a reasonable proportion, to be paid in from time to time, as may be required, but not all at once, for such particular branch or business, as it is their object to put in operation to afford every possible facility to those who identify themselves with this enterprise; and they respectfully refer to such as may apply for the establishment of many other branches of manufacture, which they do not here enumerate, especially those which tend to the more extensive development of the Iron Manufacture, to which their position is surrounded, and their own ground so richly and extensively purveyed, as to invite application and extension of iron manufactures below.

The Company are now engaged in erecting their Rolling and Slitting Mill, and are willing to rent to proficient and responsible parties either or both for a term of years, and upon liberal terms. Their attention is, however, more particularly directed to the establishment and prosecution of the business by themselves, the success of which have been demonstrated, and to which they would add the building of locomotives, cars, omnibusses, and carriages, and the manufacture of machinery of other branches, some of which have been enumerated, as to which they would aid in the building of locomotives, cars, omnibusses, and carriages, and the manufacture of machinery of other branches, some of which have been enumerated, as to which they have the materials from their own ground at hand in great perfection and abundance. The Flouring Mills is capable of making 300 barrels of flour every 24 hours, or 300 bbls of Irish corn meal, upon the most approved plan, for either of which can be brought by canals, railroads and rivers, to the door of the mill.

Post paid letters addressed to the Agent, will receive prompt attention.

Multiplicities and Extensions of Iron Manufactures.

We have within the last few months seen frequent allusions to a new plan, by which mineral coal may be conveyed through the more tedious and expensive stage into and through the pig metal state, as now generally practised in the United States.

This new process appears to be gaining favor rapidly in various parts of our country. It was first tried in the State next New Jersey, then at Cincinnati, then at Cleveland, next in Virginia, and recently now in our immediate vicinity, at Pittsburgh and "Beaver City."

We have visited the premises and witnessed the results. We have seen the mineral coal and the crude ore, after being crushed and ground, and mixed in suitable proportions, put into a popper, like a bag of grain at a country mill, and we have seen it, when sufficiently decomposed, by passing through a hot tube, or chamber, come forth like so much meal or flour, into a puddling oven at the foot of those tubes or chambers, apparently like so much red ochre sand, and without having been melted from that to the form we seen this iron send, by the mere adhesion and aggregation of the particles, and the spontaneous union of those particles, under the manipulations of a practical puddler, when put into a sand mould, into a rolling mill, and into increase with every turn to the size of the largest pumpkin vine.

We have seen this iron pumpkin, or ball of red hot metal, brought immediately under a large hammer, and in less than five minutes it was converted into a beautiful bloom. We have seen the same bloom pass through the rolls, and come forth bar iron, or other iron, as about 1-inch, bar iron, nail rods, &c., and it was of very good.

A superior furnace and puddling oven for the purpose can be erected for less than $1000, and when the price is as now of coal land, with good iron ore in its vicinity, and with a water power that cannot be wanted for grinding, it would require to erect a saw mill or grist mill, have a manufacturing upon his own premises, at the foot of his own coal bank, which shall turn out daily two tons of first quality iron, at a cost of less than two thousand dollars, and for a capital of $1000. The "Beaver Manufacturing Company" have a capital of $500,000. The great object of the Company is to secure the greatest amount of water power and patent right privileges, or so much capital and skill and industry.

Let those who wish to know more of this matter, inquire of the undersigned, who knows all about it.

MEDICAL.

TO THE PUBLIC.
MOST IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT;
RETIREMENT OF PROF. JAMES McCLINTOCK, M. D

From the Philadelphia Medical College.

A NEW ERA IN THE HISTORY OF MEDICINE!

Popular Medicine for the first time sanctioned by the HIGHEST AUTHORITY IN THE PROFESSION!

THE undersigned have the pleasure of informing the public that they have made arrangements with the eminent Professor JAMES McCLINTOCK M. D., of Philadelphia, known for more than a quarter of century past as one of the greatest Practitioners and Teachers of Medicine and Surgery in this country or in Europe, for the purchase of his recipes, and the preparation of a series of FAMILY MEDICINES therefrom, which will be put up in a cheap and popular form, adapted for general use, and suited to the most prevalent diseases. These remedies embrace some of the most valuable discoveries and combinations ever known for the cure of disease. They are the fruits of the most profound investigation, the wild east research, and the utmost concealed experience of one of the first physicians of the age. Each remedy is especially adapted to some particular form of disease, in accordance with the the highest principles of modern medical science. Each of these remedies have been tried, improved, and finally perfected, in the course of a long, active and highly successful practice, not only in Philadelphia, but throughout many distant sections of the country to which his great reputation as a Physician has extended him. Their merits are known and approved of by hundreds of regular physicians who have been his students and seen their beneficial results in Dr. McClintock's own hands, while they were under his charge in the College of Philadelphia, Castle ton, Pittsfield, and elsewhere.

READ THE FOLLOWING CERTIFICATE:

This is to certify that I have placed in the hands of Messrs. A. Cushman & Co., for sale, my recipes of my "Family Medicine," with my full authority to prepare and sell them. Having been for many years engaged as I have been in the habit of recommending and prescribing for many of my patients, and knowing as well as any one the merits of regular physicians, who have used my remedies, I am aware that many of them now practising with distinguished success in their profession, owe their present success and fame to the unprecedented success of the most urgent is, that the demand for my remedies has become so large that I have found private report of their success, as to make their preparation a matter of much care, and I propose to devote my time hereafter exclusively to the manufacture of the following articles, which I offer to the public, confident that the general introduction of my remedies would be in many cases a lasting benefit to mankind, and finally, in securing the co-operation of Mr. Alexander Cushman, who is a thoroughly educated Chemist and practical Apothecary of many years experience, whereby I am enabled to assure the public that they will be prepared in the BEST, PUREST AND most reliable manner possible.

JAMES McCLINTOCK, M. D., Late Professor of Anatomy and Surgery in the Philadelphia Medical College, and Acting Professor of Midwifery, one of the Consulting Physicians of the Philadelphia Hospital, Blockley, late member of the Philadelphia Medical Society, member of the Medico-Chirurgical College of Philadelphia, formerly President and Professor of Anatomy and Surgery in Castleton Medical College, Vermont, and late Professor of Anatomy and Physiology in Berkshire Medical Institution, Pittsfield, Mass. &c., &c., &c.

We need scarcely remind the intelligent public of the great necessity which exists for the introduction of a class of good and reliable popular medicines which may be confidently adopted into family use and depended on at all times in the absence of a physician, as being the legitimate productions of Science, Study and Experience. No argument is needed to prove the immense superiority of such a class of remedies over the disgusting compounds that are daily puffed into notice by ignorant and reckless men, solely for the purpose of enriching themselves at the expense of the lives and health of their fellow beings. We trust confidently to the good sense of the community to support us in this effort to extirpate the great public evil of Quackery by giving a careful perusal to the following list, which embraces the first twelve remedies of the series, and which comprises some of the most valuable ever discovered for the several complaints enumerated. If you or any of your friends are sufferers, see no time in procuring the aid of the first medical authority of the day, by obtaining and giving a trial to such of these medicines as are adapt ed to the case. We call upon every druggist in the first in the list as being most generally demanded, at this season namely, the
