SUICIDE.—The body of an elderly lady, name unknown, was found in the Ohio river, Reserve township, a short distance below Philips' Oil cloth Factory, yesterday morning about nine o'clock. Coroner Lowry was sent for, and proceeded to hold an inquest.

A lad aged sixteen years testified that about eight o'clock an elderly woman, dressed similarly to the deceased, in every appearance, left the road to the river, which he showed to her. She proceeded in the direction pointed out, which was by a street just above the oil cloth factory.

Several workmen employed at the factory, testified to having seen a body in the river; they procured a boat, procured the skiff, and rescued the body which they brought to shore. It was yet warm. These were all the facts relative to the case elicited. The jury found a verdict of death by drowning, though they entertained no doubt that deceased committed suicide.

The deceased was a genteel looking old lady, aged between fifty and sixty years. Her clothing was good and new. She wore black silk gloves, a black straw bonnet trimmed in crape, of good quality, a wig of dark brown, (her own hair was a dark iron gray,) a black shawl edged with a heavy black silk fringe, a white handkerchief around the neck under the shawl; dark alpaca dress, with white spots, and olive green quilted petticoat. Her under garments were of the finest linen, and neatly made.

Nothing else than the facts stated for the information of the relatives of the unfortunate woman. The body has been taken to Ligget's Furniture Warehouse, where it will remain until this afternoon.

MELANCHOLY CASUALTY.—Mr. R. J. Porter, coal merchant, of Allegheny city, came to his death on Saturday by drowning, in the Monongahela river, at the "Six Mile Ferry," ...are, with his engineer, was engaged in ...ting the keel of a barge, ...ing on the outside of several other boats. Having occasion to go on shore for a pole, or he was returning, he stepped along the roof of one of the inside boats, he fell in the river, and was immediately drawn under the boat by the motion of the water.

On his not returning, his partner, Mr. Hughes, proceeded in search of him, but not finding him, his suspicions of the real cause were raised. A number of persons in the neighborhood immediately began to drag the river, which they continued until twelve o'clock on Sunday, when his body was found about two hundred and fifty feet from the barge.

His body was conveyed to his residence in Allegheny, where Coroner Lowry held an inquest upon it. Mr. Porter was about thirty-six years of age, and leaves a wife to lament his untimely fate.

HORRIBLE RUMOR.—A rumor reached the city yesterday that a matricide had been committed by a man named Jones, aged forty years, in Franklin township, about six miles from Perrysville, on last Thursday. His mother it is said he slayed in a fit of rage, and it is rumored that he inflicted a great number wounds. He has barricaded his house, and stands sentry with a loaded musket to keep himself out of the hands of justice.

Constables and Mayor Adams and one or two of the police started to the scene of the murder yesterday afternoon, and they will probably secure him.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A man named Bell, well known as the proprietor of an infamous assignation house on Pennsylvania Avenue, dropped dead about one o'clock yesterday morning. Coroner Lowry was aroused and held an inquest upon him. The jury rendered a verdict of death by apoplexy.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—Alderman M'Master yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Peter Bond, charged by Michael Milmore, with assault and battery.

Esquire Espy, held an inquest upon the body, and the jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death by excessive use of ardent spirits.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

For the week ending Sunday: quotations at the Stock Boards show more than usual activity, and a slight rise in all the leading stocks. But there is no firmness in the money market, and the rates in the street and at the Banks is easy. Market is dull. Money can be had readily at 10@5 per cent, payable on demand, but business paper is negotiated with difficulty at 10 per cent., per month.

At Boston the market is more stringent than our own. The Eastern Banks are preparing for the new requirements of the publication of weekly statements, as is done here. Heretofore they have been made annually and published some six months after date.

At Philadelphia there is also reported a greater demand for money, and a more stringent market. Over drafts and failures are reported in that city this week.

At New York the money market is quite tight. Credits are too extended, and there has been much carelessness in sales to jobbers and country dealers.

The pressure in the Money Market noticed in our last weekly report, still continues, and so far as we can see, there is little prospect of any immediate relief. The tightness of money has undoubtedly been felt in the interior, and the stringency in the street is from the fact that the Banks are unable to meet the demand at these points. The notes have been doing a very heavy business for some time past.—[Balt. American Saturday.
