☞Pittsburgh Weekly Gazette.—The extensive circulation of our Weekly Gazette offers to our businessmen a most desirable medium of making their business known. Our circulation is between four and five thousand, reaching almost every merchant, manufacturer and shop-keeper in Western Pennsylvania, and Eastern Ohio.

☞To Advertisers.—Neither the Editorial Rooms nor Printing Establishment of the Daily Gazette, are opened on Sunday. ADVERTISERS who desire their notices to appear in the paper on Monday morning, will please hand them in before 5 o'clock, on Saturday.

FRAUDS UPON EMIGRANTS.—From twenty to thirty Prussian emigrants, came up from Beaver, yesterday morning, on the Accommodation Train. We learn that the destination of these persons was near Harrisburgh, in this State. They had landed at New York, and being unacquainted with the Geography of the country, had been grossly deceived, and shipped to Buffalo, and from thence to Cleveland, and there finding themselves on the wrong track, came on to this city. When they arrived at the Rochester station, at the mouth of the Beaver, worn out with fatigue, and half sick, they were detained by the sickness of a child, which died in the station house, where they remained from Saturday until yesterday morning. They appeared to be a better class of emigrants than usual, and the impositions they had endured excited general indignation among the passengers on the cars. When they arrived in this city, they had travelled about 800 miles, and were then as far from their destination as when they started. What shocking cruelty this is! What shameful inhospitality! Is there no way of punishing such crimes against the first principles of humanity? These Germans are poor, and strangers, and unacquainted with our laws, and will suffer in silence the cruelty and injustice heaped upon them, but their cause will not go unrevenged. Whoever are the guilty parties, whether Railroad agents or emigrant speculators, their sin will find them out.

SALARY OF COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT.—We regret that the Convention of School Directors should have settled upon so low a salary for the services of a County Superintendent. We cannot think that the members could have conceived that $1000 was a fair salary for a competent man. They must have fixed upon the salary with the purpose of preventing the success of the measure altogether, as many of the members of the Convention voted for a low salary with that avowed purpose. Nothing is allowed for expenses, and the Superintendent must keep a horse and bear his own traveling expenses, which (horse-keeping and traveling expenses,) will not amount to less than $400 a year, thus leaving $600 to the person who is to devote his whole time to the cause of education, in which they have a vital interest! Can they expect that educated, experienced and intellectual men, and none other ought to be chosen, will consent to wear out their lives and health for such a mere pittance? If any efficiency is to be given to the system about to be inaugurated among us, a liberal salary should be awarded, and the whole grade of our common school education should be elevated.

We hope this error will be corrected at a future meeting, and the schools of Allegheny county placed on such a foundation that they will be an honor to the community and the glory of the people.

THE STEUBENVILLE RAILROAD.—The Councils of Pittsburgh have passed an ordinance subscribing $300,000 to the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad Company. This, it is said, will be sufficient to secure the completion of the road, the work on which is in a great state of forwardness. We may therefore expect if the Bonds can be negociated on reasonable terms, which is very difficult in the present state of the money market, to witness the completion of the work in the shortest possible time. It is very desirable, in a road constructed principally from the proceeds of the sale of county and city funds, that it should be prosecuted with vigor, in order that it may begin to earn something to pay the interest. If the work is long delayed, the interest account becomes a very formidable item of expense.

THE PHILADELPHIA ELECTION.—The first municipal election of the consolidated city of Philadelphia, containing a population of between four and five hundred thousand souls, as large as many of our States, took place yesterday. On Saturday evening last, the Whigs held their last rally, and laid down the platform on the issue of which they staked their success, as follows:

Resolved, That they have witnessed with the deepest regret, not unmixed with alarm, the passage by the present Congress of what is called the Nebraska-Kansas bill, as, in their judgment, it is calculated, if, indeed, it was not intended to renew a fearful sectional agitation, and to re-open sources of bitterness and strife, which they had hoped were closed forever.

Resolved, That the introduction of this bill at a time when such legislation was wholly uncalled for, and the shameful and indecent manner in which it was forced through the Senate and House of Representatives, in utter violation of the rights of the minority, and in open disregard of the proclaimed will of the people, are outrages upon the dignity of the country, which ought to be visited with the sternest condemnation.

Resolved, That the interference of the President and the members of his Cabinet to procure the passage of this iniquitous measure, by open solicitations and corrupt employment of the patronage of the general government, are eminently disgraceful to the present National Administration.

Resolved, That the Hon. Joseph R. Chandler by his open, manly and resolute opposition to the Nebraska bill in all its forms, and at all stages of its progress, has justified the confidence and merited the warmest commendation of his constituents.

Resolved, That as the election of Tuesday next, will be the first that has taken place in any of the large cities of the Union since this stupendous outrage was inflicted on the country, it becomes the people of Philadelphia to give utterance to their opinion in regard to it through the ballot box, and we, therefore, accept and embrace it as an issue to be then passed upon by the voters of this city.

Judge CONRAD, the Whig candidate for Mayor, in reply to some queries addressed him on the subject of the Nebraska bill, said:

"To your queries, therefore, I have to reply that I am opposed to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. I consider the Nebraska movement the guiltiest political movement that darkens our history—guilty in the motives that prompted it—guilty in the measures adopted to secure its passage—and most guilty in its repeal of a sacred national compact in its dissolution of the ties by which Henry Clay and his compatriots had knit the Union, and in the overthrow of the venerable barrier erected by the Fathers of the Republic against the extension over hitherto uncursed territory of the pestilence of slavery. Unsolicited by the people of any section, deprecated by a large majority of the patriotic masses in all the States, it is forced upon the nation by selfish politicians, for the basest purposes, without a plea of necessity, or a prospect of advantage, and in the face of certain and most serious dangers and evils."

The Whigs of Philadelphia have thus taken issue on the Nebraska question openly and boldly, while the Democrats have taken issue as clearly and distinctly for it. The Democracy of Pennsylvania has always been the ally of Slavery.

A Letter from the Hon. James Cooper.

WASHINGTON June 24, 1854.

To the Editors of the Inquirer:

Dear Sir:—I have rarely, if ever, condescended to notice newspaper articles reflecting on my course as a public man; and especially have I been disinclined to do so, when such reflections have been dictated by a disposition to find fault rather than to deal justly and frankly.

I have been led to these remarks by an article in the "Repository and Whig," a paper published in Chambersburg, whose editor has seen fit to indulge in reflections, or rather insinuations, on account of my absence from the Senate when the vote was taken on the Nebraska bill. The editor informs his readers that the enemies of the whig party in Pennsylvania, "are chuckling at my absence, and boasting that I was unwilling to record my vote against the bill;" and then he proceeds to ask, "how is it?"—thus intimating that he is himself in doubt whether my absence was not occasioned by some unworthy and cowardly motive as he alleges is attributed to me by our political opponents.

Was the editor himself either frank or honest in the doubt which he has insinuated to his readers? What has there been in my course, either as a member of the House of Representatives, a member of the Legislature, or as a Senator, to authorize a suspicion that I would dodge (to use a common phrase) any question for fear of meeting a direct responsibility? Can he, or any one else, point out a single instance in my whole legislative or public career to justify the insinuation which he has thrown out? And in relation to the Nebraska bill, there is perhaps scarcely a man of ordinary intelligence in Pennsylvania, except the editor himself, who is not informed of my sentiments in regard to it. I spoke openly and earnestly in opposition to it, denouncing it in its whole scope and tendency in terms as strong as parliamentary courtesy would permit me to use; and the speech has been published by thousands, and can scarcely have escaped the attention of the editor, who was furnished with a copy of it.

When the bill first passed the Senate, it is true, I was absent. I was, at that time, as you are probably aware, lying sick in Philadelphia, unable to leave my bed. The day it passed the House, I was called away from Washington on business, which I could not neglect without a serious sacrifice of the interests of other persons which had been committed to my charge. If the interests of my constituents, or of the country, could have suffered by my absence, it would have been my duty to remain at my post, no matter at what expense to the interests of individuals. But in no contingency was this likely to be the case; and in reference to the measure in question, it was impossible to be so. Its passage was a foregone conclusion; the majority in favor of it was overwhelming and unchangeable, and my sentiments in relation to it had been expressed, and were upon record.

A word as to my absence. Since I have been a member of the Senate, until the present session at least, I have, perhaps, been as seldom absent from my seat, except on account of sickness, as any member of the body. My professional pursuits have been almost wholly abandoned, in order that I might devote myself exclusively to my public duties. I am sensible of many shortcomings, and of how little I have been able to accomplish for my constituents or the country; but no one can justly charge me with inattention to the interests of either; and least of all, am I chargeable with ever having avoided a vote through fear of the responsibility attending it.

I claim no merit for my readiness to vote on all questions presenting themselves. It is my nature to make up an opinion right or wrong, and my disposition to express it.

I hope that all such editors, Whigs and Democrats, as think my opinions worth knowing, will give this letter an insertion.

Very truly and respectfully yours,

JAMES COOPER.

We give the above as an act of justice to Mr. Cooper. He has a right to tell his own story, and Pennsylvania Whigs had a right to expect a vote against the Nebraska outrage. Sickness is a proper justification, but the press of private business is no excuse for neglecting the high duties of a United States Senator. The acts of Senators become the history of the country. In future times it will be seen that Pennsylvania, through her Senators, recorded no vote against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise. The reason of the omission will not appear. To dodge a question is equivalent to half a vote for it.—We regret that the voice of the Whigs of Pennsylvania was not represented in the Senate on either occasion of the final vote. For one we cannot excuse the neglect.

From the New York Tribune.

The Brooklyn Riot.

There was a terrible riot in Brooklyn yesterday, during which some forty or fifty persons either witnesses or parties causing it, were very seriously injured. The particulars, as near as our reporters could learn, are as follows:

On the previous Sabbath, one of the street preachers who have been the cause of many disturbances in New York, went to Brooklyn, accompanied by a body guard, and preached in a vacant lot in Smith street. During his discourse, he was several times interrupted by persons who had evidently spent the previous portion of the day where spirituous liquors were easily obtained. Several arrests were the consequence of the disturbance, after which, the guard moved back to New York. On their way down Main street, they were attacked by a body of men—also under alcoholic excitement—and as is stated, forced on board the ferry boat by superior numbers. During the week this occurence was made known, and yesterday the same party strengthened by some three hundred others, crossed the Wall street Ferry and proceeded to the place where the street preaching had taken place when they were in Brooklyn before.

Their great strength caused some apprehension, particularly as a report had been circulated that on Saturday afternoon those sympathizing with the street preacher had telegraphed to their friends in Philadelphia to come and help them, and that fifteen hundred had arrived. The object of all being to burn down St. James Church, situated in Jay street, and used by the Bishop.

Fearing there might be some truth in the story, the Mayor of Brooklyn ordered a section of the 14th Regiment, to be in readiness at the Armory, should their services be required.

The gathering continued to increase in the vicinity of Smith street, but from the prompt and energetic action of Mayor Lambert, aided by the police, the streets were kept clear, and no fight occurred in that vicinity. As soon as the exercises were over those who were there from New York formed into procession, and accompanied by about two thousand of their Brooklyn friends proceeded down Fulton street to Main, and down Maine to the Catherine ferry. They were followed by perhaps five thousand spectators, and proceeded without much disturbance until the head of the line was crossing Front street in Main. At this point there was a party of men, nearly all of whom were intoxicated, and of course as ready for a fight as those in the procession.

One of them used an expression calculated to provoke to hostility those who formed the procession. This, however, was not noticed, but soon after one of the party on the corner cast a stone into the line, and an immediate return of bullets from revolvers was the consequence. One man was shot through the back part of his head, a boy in the neighborhood had a portion of his face carried away, and several others were severely injured. The police commenced work immediately and worked well. They silenced or arrested all within their reach who were engaged in the riot, taking many who were badly cut and bruised to the various Station-houses.

The excitement was now intense. Over two-thousand people had gathered, and fights were going on in several places. Volleys of stones were thrown from the alleyways and sidewalks upon the procession, and those forming it answered invariably by a discharge of their revolvers. The Mayor seemed everywhere present, urging and encouraging the police to do their work, and at length something like order was restored.

It little after eight o'clock the military came down—the riot act was read, and the rioters and spectators dispersed without additional bloodshed; and at 10 o'clock the streets were deserted.

Although many of those who were injured—particularly the man who was shot through the head, and the boy who lost a portion of his face—are in a very dangerous condition. Thereare none dead, so far as our reporter could learn, up to a very late hour.

MORE SLAVE EXCITEMENT.—BOSTON, June 4.—The rumored arrest of another fugitive slave turns out not to be true. The negro was arrested for begging, and it was falsely alleged that he was a fugitive desiring means to escape to Canada.

SLAVE EXCITEMENT IN THE EAST.—MANCHESTER, N. H., June 3.—All the Church bells were tolled an hour yesterday, when the result of the Boston slave case was known.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We are gratified to announce to our READERS A CATHARTIC PILL, (of which see advertisement in our columns,) from that justly celebrated Physician and Chemist, Dr. J. C. AYER. His Cherry Pectoral, everywhere known as the best remedy ever offered to the afflicted, and now medicine is more universally taken than a teaspoonful, the public will be glad to hear of one from such a trustworthy source. We happen to know, and can assure them, that this article has intrinsic merits, fully equal to any compound that has ever appeared before the people, and consequently is well worthy a trial whenever such a medicine becomes necessary.—Racine Com. Adv. 11d&wT

Derangement of the Liver, is one of the most common, as well as the most formidable of diseases known to American physicians. It had for years attract the attention of the medical faculty in all parts of the United States, and yet up to the time of the discovery of Dr. M'Lane's great Specific, it was almost beyond the reach of medical skill. Thousands had perished without even a hope of relief, and although thousands may yet be destined to feel the direful effects of this most complicated disease, it is now, thanks to the research of Dr. M'Lane, most completely brought within the scope of medical control. The properties of the Liver Pills feel confident that they offer a remedy which has been fully tested by time, and which has never failed of success when fairly tried.

Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, and take no other. There are other Pills, purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public; also, his Celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in the United States; also, for sale by the sole proprietors, FLEMING BROTHERS, Pittsburgh. Successors to J. Kidd & Co., 60 Wood st.

This is the right kind of Democracy, which goes for the rights of the people, the masses, instead of sacrificing every thing for southern aristocracy—the slave-breeders. There are many Democrats throughout the country, and some in Pennsylvania, who will imitate the noble Democracy of Macoupin.

☞ The Cincinnati Gazette, in a table of the population of cities, puts Cincinnati down at 175,000, and Pittsburgh at 50,000! At the census of 1850, Cincinnati had 115,000, and Pittsburgh and immediate suburbs 86,000. We suppose the true population of Cincinnati now to be about 160,000, and Pittsburgh about 110,000. Cincinnati is a growing and prosperous city, and we do not wish to underrate her greatness and importance. We must protest, however, against the injustice to Pittsburgh, in nearly every tabular report published. This shows the necessity of a consolidated government for the city and environs.

DR. DUFF—J. L. Davison, Market street, has laid on our table a Mezzographed portrait of Dr. Duff. The numerous admirers of this distinguished man will be pleased to obtain so good a likeness.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

THE LIFE OF ARCHIBALD ALEXANDER, D. D., First Professor in the Theological Seminary at Princeton, New Jersey: By James W. Alexander, D. D. New York, Charles Scribner, 700 pages octavo.

Few men of a past, or passing age, are better known in the religious world, than Dr. ALEXANDER, of Princeton. While possessing the respect and homage of all good men, for his virtues, eminent abilities and rare acquirements, he was peculiarly venerated and loved by the members of the Christian denomination to which he was attached, and in which his official duties enabled him to exert so potent an influence for good.—Filling a Professor's chair in the leading Theological school of the Presbyterian Church, for nearly forty years, with distinguished ability, he was in a position to make a broad and lasting impression upon the whole Church. This impression still exists and will continue, as an everliving memorial of the influence of sincere piety, ardent zeal, and expansive benevolence.—The life of this distinguished man has been given to the public by his son, and he has discharged the pleasing but most difficult task for one holding so tender a relation, with a tact and impartiality which does him great credit. The departed Christian teacher and minister, has been truly blessed in his children. The history of such a man as Dr. Alexander, is, to some considerable extent, the history of the church during his active labors. The reader will find in this volume much interesting information about past times, and will find his memory refreshed, and his interest quickened as to church events, now nearly forgotten; but the charm of the book is the pleasing narrative it gives of the early struggles, disappointments, labors, and final triumphant success of one who is so much venerated. We see that the third thousand of the book has already been published, and more thousands will no doubt be rapidly called for. For sale by J. S. Davison, 65 Market street.

FREAKS OF LIGHTNING.—A house near Vicksburg, (Miss.,) was struck by lightning on the 9th instant, and pretty much demolished. A loaded gun was fired off and broken to pieces, a keg of powder had two hoops knocked off it, but did not explode. Six persons were sleeping in the house, none of whom were injured by the stroke.

M'CORD & CO. would most respectfully invite the attention of Ladies to their large and complete stock of FANCY FURS, now opening, comprising in part, Sable, Stone Martin, Fitch, Lynx, Carmine, Siberian Squirrel, Rock Martin, Genett, Coney and Swan's Down; Muffs Victorines, Polasair Cuffs, Boas, &c., corner Wood and Fifth streets.

If you are sick, the probability is that the root of your suffering is in the stomach. From a weak stomach proceed dyspepsia, languor, oppression in the diaphragm, jaundice, headache, nausea, bodily weakness, dimness of sight, heartburn, costiveness, dysentery, and a legion of other tormenting diseases. Indigestion produces bilious blood, and therefore destroys the strength and vigor of the system. To restore the tone of the stomach, and enable it to throw off and dismiss forever all these tormenting and dangerous complaints, nothing is necessary but a persevering use of Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia. There is no mistake, no failure in their sanative effect.

Indigestion and Liver Complaint Cured
BY KIER'S PETROLEUM.—Read the following letter from Rev. O. Dickerson, a Missionary in Oregon:

MT. SALEM, Linn—Dear Sir:—Myself and wife having been greatly benefited by the use of your PETROLEUM, I wish to have you send me a box of two or three dozen bottles. I am the Corresponding Agent for the Mission Board, several of my people are affected with indigestion and a disordered liver, the cause of myself and wife, before taking your PETROLEUM. I still think it is the best medicine I use.—two or three each—about a year and a half ago, and both have never enjoyed health for years as we have since that time. I had not taken a single bottle when my friends began to call for it. My stomach which so distresses the dyspeptic was relieved, and I have not had a minute's pain since. My wife was also relieved from a chronic disease of the liver, which she had for years standing, by the use of your Petroleum.

NATURE EQUALED BY ART!
For ages the fixtures endeavored in vain
The hair, without scorching the fibre, to stain—
Tried this nostrum and that, but in changing the hue
They withered the hair past all art to renew.
You may burn your gray tresses a black or a brown,
But Nature the cauterized tint will disown;
And, her juices dried up, you will soon be appalled
By finding your ill treated cranium bald.
Long years, as we've said, the craft struggled in vain
A dye without cauterizer lime, to obtain—
A fluid innocuous—that, placed on the head,
To a brown or a black would transform gray to red,
Many times 'twas proclaimed that the end was achieved:
But the wise shook their head, thought the foolish believed,
And in spite of advertisement, placard and puff,
Of each humbug the public full soon had enough.
At length, 'twas but lately, "Eureka!" they cried;
The want so long felt had at length been supplied.
A dye was announced, that, in changing the hue,
The hair did not scorch—the announcement was true.
In an instant, o'er locks silvered, sandy or red,
Was a black or a brown the most exquisite, shed—
The fibres were nourished instead of destroyed;
The pores of the scalp with no pigments were cloyed:
No odor unpleasant the liquid gave out;
The color was never one moment in doubt;
No chameleon changes to purple and green
Ne'er rendered the ladies "not fit to be seen"—
Instanter, the tint that you asked for was there,
Like the darkness that follows the lightning's glare.
What a triumph was this! how the tidings went forth
To the East, to the West, thro' the South and the North,
Until Science and Fashion with common acclaim
On their fablets inscribed the discoverer's name,
And declared that no nostrum the place could supply
Of their own Cristadoro's Hair Dye!

Shoulder Braces and Chest Expanders.

"Be particular in procuring the kind mentioned, as many of the Braces sold are humbugs."

[From the Pittsburgh Daily Dispatch, Feb. 24, 1853.]

AN EXCELLENT ARTICLE.—Persons who have acquired a stooping position, by following a sedentary occupation will experience great relief by the use of the "Washington Suspender Brace," made and sold by Dr. KEYSER, corner of Wood street and Virgin alley. It answers for a brace and suspenders, the weight of the pantaloons is so placed as to constantly tend to bring the shoulders to their natural position, and expand the chest. We purchased one some time ago, and have been so pleased with it that we unsolicited gave it a "puff" gratis.

Women, hundreds of whom are seasonally injured by the weight of enormous "skirts," should also procure these braces. Be particular in procuring the kind mentioned, as many of the brace sold are humbugs.

Sold wholesale and retail at the Drug Store of George H. Keyser, No. 140, corner Wood st. and Virgin alley.
