again have fallen under the influence of Russian bribes. There can now be little doubt that a vig-orous reconstruction of the army in Asia will take place, and there seems good reason to hope that it may be headed by Omar Pasha, or, at all events by Gen. Guyon. Another result of the rumored defeat is likewise looked upon by many persons with considerable satisfaction. These individuals have feared all along that the Ciar would succumb too soon and be let off with easy terms, and they now see that he may be induced by the stimulas of a victory to commit himeeff deeper and deeper, so as to render his final disci-jine at the hands of combined Europo apparent.
