THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE OHIO RIVER.—The river has suddenly gone down again, without affording us much benefit. The season is late, and cold weather is setting in. The coal which Pittsburgh has afloat and for which she needs the money, is a necessary of life which is in urgent demand in Cincinnati and Louisville. We suffer for want of the money we have invested in the coal, and they suffer for want of the coal. This is true of various other articles. This state of affairs shows how invaluable the river is—in fact we cannot do without it. But its benefits this season have been lost to us, and we are constantly exposed to the same calamity. What shall be done, to remove this evil? The answer is plain. Improve the river.

A few days ago a Railroad Convention was held in Cleveland, representing two hundred and forty millions of capital. So much has been done to create artificial modes of communication. The Ohio river, if seven feet of water could be secured at all seasons, is capable of doing as much work as all the Railroads represented by such an enormous amount of capital. Five millions of dollars, it is believed, would create a slackwater navigation from this city to Cincinnati a distance of five hundred miles, by dams and locks. How small is the capital required, in comparison with the benefits to be derived!—If we had it this season, it would almost pay for its cost.

Who will move in this matter? We have frequently suggested that it would be proper for the Board of Trade of this city, here at the head of the Ohio, to move in the good work; to set the ball in motion which shall revolutionize the trade of the West, and place Pittsburgh on an elevation, in manufacturing and commercial importance, which no after circumstances could overthrow. We again appeal to our business men to take the initiative. If the work is only started, it will go on.

MR. JOHN MITCHELL, whose innate modesty led him to start a paper as soon as he arrived in the country, to teach us a great many things we did not know, thinks very poorly of the Know Nothing movement. He styles it "the pairiest, meanest, falsest and most ignorant forth of popular delusion which has ever troubled nations;" but he flatters himself that it is not as dangerous as it seems. "The whole system," he says, "from head to foot and from heart to uttermost extremities, is a gross and vile imposture."

We do not quote this to answer it or make it the subject of comment; but merely to say that Mr. Mitchell will find such utterances the surest in contributing to the growth of the Know Nothing feeling. It is the conduct of that portion of our foreign population which has a representation and embodiment in such men as Mitchell which has provoked and aroused the hostility of the native-born citizens. Here is a man who, immediately after planting his foot upon our soil, a Stranger and a Fugitive, establishes a newspaper and rushes, with indecent haste, into our political arena. Before having time even to declare his intention of becoming a "Citizen," he assumes and abuses its rights and privileges, maligning those whom he has not the virtue to imitate, and descending to the lowest depths of degradation to acquire importance. Such a course is ineffably disgusting. If it were an isolated and exceptional case, it might be suffered to pass without exciting tokens of displeasure; but when it is taken into an account that Mr. Mitchell is but one of a numerous class—more bold, unscrupulous and reckless than others, perhaps, but none the less an embodiment of them—the spirit of an intelligent people rises instinctively in rebellion. When foreigners coming among us learn to take the position which becomes them, and seek, by a quiet demeanor, to remedy their necessarily imperfect knowledge of our institutions and become good and useful citizens, they may expect to be treated with a proper measure of regard and confidence; but so long as brawlers and demagogues among them assay to throw themselves into the front rank before they have had time to look around them on our shores, they need not wonder that a spirit of nationality should rise up to rebuke and restrain them.

The Pennsylvanian has an article upon the Tariff which indicates a partial willingness for its revision. After citing the course of the N. Y. Tribune on this subject, and referring to its late articles thereon, our Philadelphia cotemporary adds, in reference to our proposal to take the Tariff out of politics:

"The Pittsburgh Gazette, has also an article upon the subject, but as we do not like the political economy of the Gazette, we cannot endorse its sentiments. Whether the tariff is any longer a party question is immaterial. It was made so by the friends of the Gazette, and we always lamented it. Whenever a favorable moment arrives for the revision of the tariff, we shall endeavor to keep it out of politics, and in this we hope to have the influence of our cotemporaries But this is not the time to undertake the labor, nor is the country in a condition to listen to arguments on either side of the question."

What the political economy of the Gazette has to do with the matter we do not see. We do not ask the Pennsylvanian to endorse it, and are content to let it stand on its own merits. What we ask is that the Tariff question should be taken out of party control, and revised with a due regard to the interests of the country, without reference to parties or political prospects. The political friends of the Gazette never made the Tariff a party question until forced by their opponents to do so. The time was when we stood shoulder to shoulder with such democrats as William Wilkins, Wilson M'Candless, and others as well known as they, in defence of the Protective System, and there we are willing to stand again. The moment, we think, has arrived for that, despite the coolness and misgivings of the Pennsylvanian; and we hope to have its assistance when a movement to that end is inaugurated.

COOLING DOWN.—South Carolina was formerly the abode of the "Fire-Eaters." From thence came exhalations of hot-zeal against the Union, and furious onslaughts upon the North. Threat upon threat emanated therefrom of hostile measures and resistance to acts supposed to be inimical to South Carolina; and "violence, intemperance and precipitation" characterized every word and deed of the doughty men who were her champions. To hear, therefore, the present Governor of that State expatiating on the value of the Union, and exhorting to calmness, and all that, is indeed marvelous. But hear the Governor as he thus talks in his Message delivered on Monday last:

"Events are transpiring in portions of this Confederacy which are well calculated to arrest the attention and excite the vigilance of the Southern people. The results of the late popular elections in certain sections of the Union threaten yet more seriously to disturb the repose, which for a brief period has existed. Those who maintained just and constitutional views of the government policy have been rudely thrown aside, and politicians returned to office who entertain sentiments destructive to the duration of this Union. It is a significant indication of the times, when certain individuals and States have the hardihood to reflect from the Constitution such portions as subserve their own dangerous and disorganizing views, and reject others to which they are opposed; conduct which, if fully carried out, would create the worst sort of despotism. These indications cannot be disregarded by Southern people, and are of the deepest interest to the whole Confederacy.

"The man does not live who can tell the results of a separation of those States; but no people possessing a constitutional government deserves to enjoy its blessings, if they are not prepared ultimately to risk all the consequences of it. But as the chief Magistrate of this Commonwealth, and looking to these issues, the last thing that I would advise would be violence, intemperance, or precipitation. Calm deliberation before action is essentially the best element of success in great movements. As a fundamental proposition, these States had, before the adoption of the Federal Constitution, and have now, constitutional organizations, capable of performing all the functions of independent governments; and have the power, under a cordial understanding, not only to protect themselves effectually, but, by a concert of action, to preserve the Federal Government also: and it would be a noble exercise of it, by exhibiting a perfecting union of feeling, sentiment and interest, to arrest its rapid march towards the licentiousness and anarchy which otherwise surely await it.

Discarding all State and political jealousy, let the rulers and public men of the South unite this great principle of conservatism and preservation, and the Constitution and the Union are safe: without such union, all is lost."

CONGRESS.—This body meets to-day, and the President's Message will probably be delivered at noon. We learn that no copies have been sent out here in advance of the mail, and that we shall have to be content with waiting till it comes to us in due course. As there is no anxiety to see what the President has to say in it there will be no grumbling about the tardiness of its appearance.

The present Congress will terminate on the fourth of next March. It has therefore but a limited period for doing the mischief it is capable of, which is a negative blessing; and as it is incapable of good the country would hail with satisfaction its earlier demise, if that were possible.

Our attentive correspondent "JUNIUS" will keep the readers of the Gazette duly apprised of the schemes, plots, crimes and follies of those who unfortunately have the power to curse us with their unwelcome rule. Let us hope that the fact of their having been tried and found wanting may induce them to show that they are not entirely unmindful of the people whom they misrepresent.

RAILROAD RECEIPTS.—The receipts of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad for the month of November are not yet fully made up, but they have been about fifty thousand dollars more than in the corresponding month of last year.

THE ESCAPED NOVICE.—The Frederick Examiner publishes the following extract from a letter received by a gentleman of Frederick from Miss Bunkley, the Novice who recently escaped from Emmettsburg:

NORFOLK, Nov. 20, 1854.

"——— I have my father's permission to answer the letter you addressed him, requesting a statement of my escape from the Convent. I would remark that I regret exceedingly that so many reports are in circulation, and have thought of making a public statement. With regard to my manner of leaving the convent, the circumstance speaks for itself. Could I have had permission, or had been free to leave when I wished, I would not have had recourse to flight, and that in the middle hour of night.

I escaped through a window near the Chapel fronting the avenue, where there is no enclosure, and ran or rather flew down the avenue, as the moon was shining so brightly that I feared being discovered by the watchman who nightly traverses the grounds around the building. When half way down the avenue, I heard a noise, and soon discovered that the man who sleeps in a small house at the gate was up, and had raised the window to see who was passing. I hid myself and he did not perceive me, but he continued watching at the window until 4 o'clock, when the stage for Frederick passed, and I was unable to reach the stage, or even pass the gate until he withdrew, which was soon after the stage passed.

I feared to go to Emmettsburg, for many reasons. I walked in the opposite direction as far as St. Lazare's, when I became alarmed and entered a side gate on the road, and remained until the Angelus rung, which was six o'clock. I then continued my journey on a road I never before traveled, and reached Creagerstown about nine o'clock, where I met friends who protected me until the arrival of my father.

THE DEMOCRACY NOT A UNIT IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The whole country has heard of the election of the single Democratic member of the Massachusetts Legislature. Various, and wholly reckless of expense, were the expressions of satisfaction on the part of the Democracy at the result. In that State, Squibs and fireworks, bell-ringing and cannon testified to the general joy. "Mr. Brown, of Tolland," (that was his name,) was in a fair way to become historic. In truth, his appearance alone marked an era in the annals of the Bay State, which, had it been properly improved, would have received no impression. The Democratic party exulted in him as a hen chuckles over its one chicken. Fancy, then, their feelings when it was discovered that their representative and support in the halls of legislation is a Know Nothing, and that he was elected as such over the regular Democratic nominee. It must be admitted that if the Democracy is not "in unit," it is at least "conveniently small."—N. Y. Ev. Post.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The Journal of Commerce does not favor the Sandwich islands.—"The fact (it says) that they are not in possession of a strong Power, and that they are open to the ships of all nations on terms of equality, should satisfy the people of the United States in our judgment that is precisely the relation they should occupy to the commerce of the world It would be the duty of the United States to protest against the acquisition of this group by any other nation, as it is the interest of other nations to prevent its acquisition by us. Those islands are as necessary to the commerce of other communities as they are to our commerce. The selfishness which seeks to obtain them for our exclusive purpose may cost more than we suppose. If the option of taking them for nothing, in preference to allowing them to remain as they are, were offered to the country, we believe that the true interest of the United States would not be consulted by refusing to receive them; but to pay $300,000 per annum to the King as long as he lived, and a like sum to his successor as long as he lived, for two volcanoes and a hundred thousand natives, would be the extreme of folly, especially as, if we attempt to hold them exclusively, we might purchase a contest with the other Powers of the world."

All Boston is in a fret about its water. The Atlas says that Cochituate is now nothing but a weak decoction of sardines; whilst, on the contrary, an analysis of the water shows the presence of a smaller proportion of foreign matter than in 1845, and no trace of fishy or city substance. The water drawn from the surface of the lake is found to be purer than that from thirty feet below the surface. The papers are filled with communications scolding about the pickerel flavor of the water and crying aloud for a remedy. They say that there is danger of a general epidemic unless the water is improved. The Springfield Republican suggests that it is all an invention of the enemy to render the Maine Law unpopular.

THE GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK.—The official vote is published in the Albany Argus gives the following result:

| | |
|---|---|
| For Myron H. Clark | 156,770 |
| Horatio Seymour | 156,455 |
| Daniel Ullman | 122,154 |
| Green C. Bronson | 34,002 |

Mr. Clark's plurality over Gov. Seymour is 315, and he is elected. The united vote of Messrs. Ullman and Bronson, it will be seen, falls several hundred votes below the poll of either of the leading candidates.

RAILROAD CONVENTION.—Distinguished men representing some twenty railroads in the Northern States are assembled in convention in this city. We understand the objects of the convention to be—the entire abolition of the "dead head" system, of runners, and as far as practicable, of agents; reduction of speed; and increase of fare and freight.

We understand that the passenger fare, from Cleveland to New York is to be raised to $15 and freight in like proportion. There are abuses in railroad matters which need correction.—but we imagine that the present movement will not result beneficially to the interest of the roads. If this is so, it smacks too much of a grand railroad monopoly doing away with healthy competition, to meet with favor from the public. —Cleveland Herald.

We understand, says the Atlanta Intelligencer, that Mr. John Glenn, of this city, Agent of the Georgia Railroad Company, on Friday last presented fifteen hundred dollars of the bills of the Cherokee Insurance Bank, at Dalton, at the counter of the Bank for redemption, but was met by the information that there were no funds to redeem the notes. The Bank has but very recently commenced operations, and we presume the amount of circulation it has been able to obtain for its notes is quite limited.

SAD STATE OF AFFAIRS.—Chicago has been infested with a gang of juvenile robbers. These boys, it appears, are the orphan children of persons who had died during the summer of cholera. They were regularly organized, had their chief, their signal, rendezvous, &c., and appeared to have followed the profession of robbery with a sang froid which indicated an entire indifference to all principles of right or wrong.

☞ The following communication has been sent to us with a request for its insertion.—The writer was in town some days ago and called on us to express his unbounded gratification for the great benefit he had received from the treatment which Dr. Fitch employs in consumptive cases. Dr. Fitch has now been among us for some time, and has been consulted by a great number of invalids suffering with diseases of the lungs, and in very many cases with marked benefit. Dr. Fitch is still here, and those concerned have still an opportunity of proving his skill:

CUYAHOGA FALLS, OHIO.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

The letters which have recently appeared in your paper in regard to Dr. C. M. Fitch's success in the treatment of diseases of the Lungs, have suggested to me to make known through the medium of your widely circulated journal, the following facts which I feel must be of deep interest to a large proportion of our community, proving as they do, the curability of one of the most obstinate and harrassing forms of Pulmonary Disease. I had been for more than eighteen months laboring under a severe Asthma, or rather what was apparently a severe Asthma and Bronchitis combined.

For more than a year it had been impossible for me to lay a whole night in my bed, so distressing was the feeling of suffocation produced, while much of the time the secretion from my lungs was so profuse that I raised four and sometimes five spittoons full of mucus in the course of twelve hours. Many nights my friends watched with me, thinking I must die from suffocation, and three times I was actually pronounced dead.

Our Physicians around here—and I consulted the most skilful men in Summit county—said I must die: and Professor Hosmer, whom I also consulted, gave me up, saying that although I might obtain partial and temporary relief, recovery was impossible. From nothing which I had used could I gain more than partial relief. I took large quantities of opium and morphine, but without avail; the secretion could not be controlled. I was in this condition when Dr. Calvin M. Fitch, of New York, commenced a course of Lectures at Cleveland, and shortly afterwards visited Akron. I had seen the effects of his treatment in the case of the child of a friend, who, under Dr. Fitch's treatment, had been greatly benefitted, and was at the time of my first visit much improved. Though I had been pronounced an incurable disease of the Lungs; and I lost no opportunity in consulting him. His prescriptions have effected more than either friends or physicians considered possible. It is six weeks since I commenced his treatment, and I am now and have been for four weeks past able to lie down and sleep all night with perfect ease and comfort. I am better and feel stronger—much stronger than I had for eighteen months past. Our physicians consider it almost a miracle, and have been recommending Dr. Fitch's treatment in all diseases of the lungs.

I have recently taken a severe cold and it affects me scarcely more than it would have done when I was in perfect health. Dr. Rice, one of our oldest and best physicians, tells me that this cold before I consulted Dr. Fitch would have inevitably caused my death. I heard him recommend a patient who asked his advice about consulting Dr. C. M. Fitch, to do so by all means, and he gave the following reasons: "Dr. Fitch's success shows that he understands his department most thoroughly, and it is natural that he should, for he gives his sole attention to diseases of the throat and lungs, and examines from five to twenty patients every day he lives, while we perhaps see scarcely half a dozen cases in the course of a year. We have fevers and every form of acute diseases to engross and distract our attention, and Dr. Fitch has nothing to do but to study and test the effect of remedies in one particular class of diseases. I advise you by all means to consult him." Several of our physicians speak in the same terms; for, not only in my own case but in many others in this vicinity has Dr. C. M. Fitch effected wonders. A friend and neighbor of mine, who at the time Dr. Fitch visited Akron was confined to his bed and whom in consequence Dr. Fitch visited personally, informs me that he has gained nineteen pounds since commencing Dr. Fitch's treatment. Another case in our place—Mr. French, has gained very rapidly. These facts will be attested by almost every respectable inhabitant of our place, for they have been well known and have attracted much attention.

I address this to you, as I learn that Dr. Calvin Fitch is at present in your city, and it may be the means of directing some unfortunate sufferer like myself to obtaining the means of relief.

Very truly, yours, LEWIS CRANE.

Derangement of the Liver, is one of the most common, as well as the most formidable of diseases known to American physicians. It has for years attracted the most attention of the medical faculty in all parts of the United States, and yet up to the time of the discovery of Dr. M'Lane's great Specific, it was almost invariably pronounced a fatal disease. Thousands have perished without even a hope of relief, and although thousands may yet be destined to feel the direful effects of this most complicated disease, it is now, thanks to the discovery of Dr. M'Lane, almost completely brought within the scope of medical control. The proprietors of the Liver Pills feel confident that they offer a remedy which has been fully tested by time and which has never failed in a single instance to cure.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE and take none else. All other Vermifuges, in comparison, are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge and Celebrated Liver Pills; can now be had of all respectable Drug Stores in the United States and from the sole proprietors,

Frostwort or Rock Rose, for the Cure of Scrofulous Diseases—NEW HAVEN, January 1st, 1852 —My son Charles has been afflicted with inflammation of the hip joint. At the age of 5 he was first attacked, to inflammation increased until the hip was very badly diseased, and the joint seriously affected his leg drawn up so that it was impossible to straighten it; a professor of surgery gave it as his decided opinion that the leg would never heal, and that the young man would never walk again. The disease increased so rapidly that, for two and a half years he only walked with a crutch, and the efforts to exercise the limb was attended with great pain, so that he could not sleep. I watched him so attentively that for five months I did not have one full night's rest. He had been treated by distinguished medical practitioners by bleeding, blistering, &c., he had also been before the Medical Clinique of Yale College. The remedies they recommended were most faithfully tried but without avail.—This was his disease and dreadful condition eighteen months since when he commenced taking Myers' Rock Rose. One bottle was but partly taken when he was much better, continuing until three bottles had been taken, when a cure was entirely completed, now he is in excellent health. This is the testimony of and can be corroborated by addressing Mrs. Catharine M'Gill, 91 Wallace st., New Haven, Conn., or can be fully substantiated by hundreds of witnesses, or by addressing a line to Rev. To Persons who are Stoop Shouldered—Shoulder Braces.

DR. LANE, author of the Chambersburg Transcript, under date of sept. 18, 1854, in speaking of these Braces, says—"Our friend, Dr. GEO. H. KEYSER, 'submitted to our inspection a very fine specimen of the "Washington Suspender Brace," manufactured and sold by him at the corner of Wood st. and Virgin alley, Pittsburgh. It serves admirably the purposes for which it is intended, is light and easy, and altogether free from the objections attached to the many other Braces in general use. It is an excellent suspender, while at the same time, it preserves the shoulders in a healthful position, without at all restraining the natural movements of the body. The Dr. will send them by mail, free of postage, to any part of the Union.

[From the Pittsburgh Daily Dispatch, Feb. 26, 1852.]

☞ CHEST EXPANDERS—SHOULDER BRACES—AN EXCELLENT ARTICLE.—Persons who have acquired a stooping position, by following a sedentary occupation, will experience great relief by the use of the "Washington Suspender Brace," made and sold by Dr. KEYSER, corner of Wood st. and Virgin alley. It answers for a brace and suspenders, the weight of pantaloons is so placed as to continually tend to bring the shoulders to their natural position, and expand the chest. We purchased one some time ago, and have been so pleased with it, that we unsolicited give it a "puff," gratis.

Women, hundreds of whom are annually injured by the weight of their sloopong 'skirts' should also procure these braces. Be particular in procuring the kind mentioned, as many of the braces sold are humbugs.

N. B.—I also keep every variety of Trusses, Supporters, Body Braces, Pile Pipes, Elastic Stockings, Suspensory Bandages, &c. GEO. H. KEYSER, 140 Wood st.
