It has been charged upon the new American or Know-Nothing party, that they were bound to-gether by caths, or obligations in the nature of eaths, which are unlawful. The proposition of Mr. Lowell seems to be an admission of the truth of this charge. So considered, it is a remarkable, how-proposition. It would be more remarkable, how-ever, if the Legislature should accede to it, and repeal the law because unlety-nine-hundreths of the members had, either ignorantly or advisedly,

This house is as unpretending as the street. Mr. Spicer ilves here. Let us on ter. Mirs Sploer and a family of children from 19 years and under, compose the household. It is said to be a singular family. Mr. Spicer is a singular man. No one ever sees him. The butcher, the miliman, the landlord don't know him. Mrs. Spicer does all the business. Mr. Spicer comes in late; he goes away early in the morning. He is a business man; he has somnoth business that he is never seen in his family. Remain there day and night, and you will never see Mr. Spicer. The daughters become young ladies. They are well educated. They go out into society, but none know their father. Mr. Spicers same is not in the business that he is never seen in his family. Bellevis same is not in the business that he is never seen in his family. Spicer is an engaged to a most worth father. He would be received with overy distinction paid to other ministers, and with more sincerity in it than the distinction paid to the Austrian envoy. Mr. Webster added that M. Kossuth's communications would always be received in a corresponding spirit of friendliness, and should be answered in writing.

When M. Kossuth's communications would always be received in a corresponding spirit of friendliness, and should be answered in writing.

When M. Kossuth's asw Mr. Webster, for the last time, there was a marked change visible in his general spirits, though not towards himself, for that was ever the same, but in respect to political thempting to rerive the question of Foreign polity. I am no longer of use to your cause. The Democratio party will carry the Fresidential election, and then, God knows the rest." This was only a few weeks prior to the great stategman's death. His day of usefulness had indeed found its last period.—N. Y. Times.

Schuyler the Ruined Banker.—A New York letter writer makes the following comment upon the fallent fortunes of the celebrated Robert Schuyler.

I passed the other day the splendid mansion Mr. Bchuyler, whose stupendous frauds are so well known. It was closed and apparently solitary, though his family still residenter. What a contrast a few months has apparently made in that family: Its glory is dim. Crowds no longer assemble in its spacious pariors; the coaches of the splendid and gay do not line the cide-walk; the brilliant lights and the dashing company no longer allure the crowd to herd around the curb stone—all is solitude. But what s lesson does this event teach. Mr. Schuylor had two characters. In business, on change, at his rooms in the Astor, he was known as the high-minded, honorable, successful, pure-minded man, one of whom New York was proud, on whom she delighted to honor. Now come with me into one of the least pretending streets in New York. This house is as unpretending as

STOCK OF WHEAT.—The Winchester Virginian states that, from an estimate made with some care, it would appear that the millers of Frederick co., Va., have now on hand, or expect to have delivered when they are able to recive it, not less that 130,000 bushels of wheat from the crop of last year. This is a larger stock than usual at this period of the year, and is attributable to the low condition of the milling streams.

It is stated that the bridge over noun annual at Dixon, Illinois, one of the most expensive structures on the line of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, has been carried away by a freshet, which has also caused an inundation of the surrounding country. The accident will the

A number of Catholics had money deposited in the Canal Bank, which they have probably lost by the explosion of that institution. Bishop Rapp, in open Church, administered a sharp rebuke to the losers. He told them that they should have given the money to him on deposit, for the use of the Lord, and not entrusted to the hands of heretics. The plous Bishop is fully competent to take charge of all the money and wool of his flock.—Clevs. Leader.

A Good Succession.—A correspondent of the London Morning Chronicle, alluding to the reiterated demands of the "Times" for the recall of Lord Raglan, suggests the propriety of appointing the "Cridies" correspondent of the "Thunderer," Commander in Chief; at the same time urging the measure of elevating him to the
