Charles's London Cordial Gin.

WITHOUT the necessity of extraordinary publicity, with scarcely an effort on the part of the proprietor, this superb Gin, in the short period which has elapsed since its introduction to the American public, has created a popularity beyond most in the whole list of alcoholic stimulants.

The Certificates of over Five Thousand Physicians in England and the United States, proclaim its transcendant merits.

It is upon the sideboard of the family and the bar of every well-regulated hotel; by the bedside of the sick, as well as the companion of the healthy. Free from deleterious qualities, it is harmless in its adoption. The inebriate cannot make it his drink—it is medicine, and only as such is it used. Its flavor is delicate, and yet highly aromatic, while it tends to create an appetite, and restores a healthful constitution.

To travellers it is indispensably necessary, dispelling the nausea frequently engendered by change of water, and preventing those annoying and dangerous diseases of a bilious character which are the consequence of sea sickness.

Its great reputation is deservedly acquired from its absolute purity, its delicious flavor, differing entirely from every other gin, its great utility as a medicine in cases of dyspepsia, gout, gravel, diseases of the kidneys, and innumerable others of maladies for which as a remedy and preventive it has no equal.

To travellers it is indispensably necessary, dispelling the nausea frequently engendered by change of water, annoyances frequently engendered by change of water, sickness upon the stomach, and the various styles of bilious character which are the consequence of sea sickness.

Beware of imitations. The genuine Charles' London Cordial Gin can be had retail of all respectable druggists and grocers, at all hotels, and wholesale of the sole importers.
