Anti-Slavery party; on the basis of Anti-Slavery resolutions adopted by the Conventions which We are glad this subject is agitated, both in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. It is high time for tax payers in both cities to look at the connominated them. In accepting these nomina-tions Messrs. Muss and Guv tacitly indorsed dition of their financial affairs with a resolute determination to understand, and to provide those resolutions; and that their constituents may sce what sentiments were contained in the platremedies for difficulties looming up in the future. As the first stop in the path of reform, there should be an unfilnching determination to make 'no more debts---to incur no more llabilities for form which these men assumed to represent, we give the principal resolutions, as follows:

Recolord, That we will maintain and defend. the true purposes of our national compact. We will have no more compromises with Slavery.-We will recognise no law that alias and sustains Slavery. We will resist the introduction of Slavany purpose whatever. Without this all other measures will prove abortive. WHAT OTHERS THINK .- The Buffalo Comme

I mention these only as incidents of the times I mention these only as incidents of the times, and as pointing to the probabilities of a proxi-mate union of the Free Soil Democrats and the anti-Slavery Whigs. Nor does this belief lose strength when one sees a man so eminent and so distinguished as L4. Governor Patterson lead the preparations for furing, as it seems by the notice of recent proceedings in Chartungue County he has done. Fuse is a good and expressive word; it is the thing that leads to combastille, and and service a head in political navi-gation, he mistikes. We are in for a storm and the compass is set by the North Star-and to Key West."

We hail these indications with pleasure. As chances are still somewhat in favor of a veto. against the secret order which has to be met in the field, the old organizations are separately powerless. They must be content to forego the old routine, temporarily, if not permanently.
