The Bribery Cases at Harrisburg.—The Harrisburg correspondent of the North American writes as follows:

"The committee to investigate the charges of bribery meets every evening, for the examination of witnesses, by some of whom there has been very "strong swearing." A number of material witnesses have absented themselves, in the hope of proventing developments, and shielding themselves from diserved disgrace. There is no doubt, however, that something tangible will be obtained, of a character to amaze those quiet citizens who are not familiar with the black byways of legislation."

We have apprehensions that the investigation will result in nothing. We have very little faith in the committee, and do not believe it would be agreeable or safe to some of its members to have this investigation proceed. That gross corruption exists, that bribes have been taken, that a resorts to bribery to carry important measures have been common for two or three years back, is the common belief of the whole public, and it is notorious that the reputation of our Legislature stinks in the nostrils of our sister States, and that its gross corruption has been commented on in the most open manner. Is there no way to free the State from this ineffable disgrace?—Are we to go on from bad to worse, until any bill, public and private, has to be bought through with bribes? Who is there in the State who does not believe that if Simon Cameron is elected to be United States Senator, that it will be by the power of money? If nothing comes of this investigation, we may look for still deeper depravity and more disgusting prostitution, if that is possible.

Kansas.—We have received two numbers of a weekly paper, published at Lawrence, Kansas Territory, entitled "The Kansas Free State," published by Elliott & Miller, at $2 per annum. It is quite a spirited paper, and is mostly occupied with local discussions, affecting the future of that young Republic, in which the Slavery question forms a prominent part. In its prospectus it says, it "will oppose the realization of the Slavery Propaganda, in so aggregating the political power of the Union in the hands of a hereditary Aristocracy as to give to it under Democratic forms the undisputed control of the politics of the Nation, whether that object is sought by imposing the institution of Slavery on the new States of the West by the renewal of the Slave Trade, by the seizure of the domains of other nations, by the aggression on the rights of the Free States, by whatever means it seeks supremacy, as tending to revolutionize our political institutions, or to rupture the bonds of Union."

It discusses the slavery question with freedom and spirit, and manfully calls upon the people of the territory to resist the attempts of the slaveholders in Missouri to overawe and crush out the rising spirit of Liberty. We are sorry to see, however, that it inclines to quarrel with the "Herald of Freedom," a paper published in the same place, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Emigration Society.

We should judge from the evidences presented by this paper, that Kansas is taking rapid strides to greatness, and that it will knock at the door of the next Congress for admission into the Union. Agents have been appointed by the Governor to take the census of the population of the Territory. The census of Lawrence was not quite through with, but it was believed that it would go over 400, only two of which were natives of the town. As far as the census taken had reached, 375 were enumerated—334 natives of the United States, and 41 of foreign countries; of these latter 27 were from England. Males 270, females 105. From Massachusetts, 99; New York, 59; Pennsylvania, 38; Ohio, 25; Iowa, 19; Missouri, 16, and so on; nearly all from free States. Among the occupations there are 47 mechanics, 7 clergymen, 8 physicians, 7 lawyers, 4 editors, 10 printers, 16 carpenters, 83 farmers, etc.

The price current shows provisions to be as cheap, comparatively, as here. Board at the Lawrence House is $3 per week. Flour is $5 per hundred; Beef 5 to 7, per lb; Butter 30 to 35; Eggs 25 cents, etc.

A great emigration is expected this spring.—Persons emigrating are recommended to "start with good wagons and ox teams, and bring with them all the little implements and seeds necessary to go right to farming upon their arrival.—As the individual who takes up a farm claim this spring, can plant and cultivate a great many vegetables that will command a high price in the summer and fall. There is no danger of the market being glutted. Every person who knows anything about farming can make money on a claim from the very day he goes on it."

We would recommend to every lover of freedom who designs to make Kansas his home to hasten his departure as much as possible. The slave power is throughly alarmed, and on the alert. "The Westport, Mo., News," in an appeal to the South to devote Kansas to slavery closes as follows:

"It is now time for the South to rally; to wait no longer with folded arms for 'signs of the times,' but go to work boldly, fearlessly, energetically, and with a fixedness of purpose, to ensure their great end. Southerners, you will baptize in a horsepond, and tar and feather a poor devil who believes he is doing God's service when he persuades a slave to escape, and yet you will look on, supinely when the whole institution is threatened with extermination—and stand by and see with composure a Paradisial garden marked out and dedicated as an asylum for decoyed, stolen and runaway slaves. Bighearted, but feeble-handed, you look on, shedding tears of impotence and self-contempt.

"Freemen of the South, pioneers of the West, these are the times that try men's souls.' This is the twelfth hour of the night—birds of darkness are on the wing—the day will soon dawn—the battle will soon commence. Arouse and fight a good fight; let the eagle of victory perch upon your banner! Steady men! Forward!"

A meeting was lately held at Douglass, a town on the Kansas river, about five miles from Lawrence, at which a committee of thirteen was appointed to draft resolutions. To show their spirit, we copy the following:

"That in our opinion the labor of white slaves is not adapted to these latitudes; they are weakly, degenerate, and have not the constitution of blacks, who alone are capable of producing the staples of this country. That the institution of white slavery is a retrograde in the history of the world, incompatible to the genius of the American people, and to the feelings of all white men, and should not be tolerated or countenanced by republican citizens."

That while we are a law-abiding people, we are determined not to be overrun and crushed by the lawless usurpations of the "avalanche" of serfs which the Aid Society threaten to pour upon this Territory during the next Spring's emigration. Power and Justice are not always with numbers. One freeman is equal to a legion of slaves.

That the citizens of the South and West, and good men, come whence they may, are invited to make homes in this beautiful country. To them our hearts yearn, and our hands open; to them we pledge security in their slaves, and in their property. We are able, and will, at all times, hold this Territory free from the blasting influences of white serfdom."

The denomination "white slaves" is intended to apply to those emigrants from the free States, sent out by the Emigrant Aid Societies. A large emigration is expected this spring from New England and New York, every voter of which will be dead against slavery. Hence the wrath of the inhabitants of the well-named town of Douglass.

We look upon the struggle with most intense interest. Its final decision will have a lasting effect upon the future of our National Union, and even its very existence may hang upon the character of the emigration to Kansas. If Kansas applies to Congress for admission as a free State, she will be admitted without difficulty; if as a slave State, there will take place a struggle the like of which has never been seen in this nation.

A Live Fence.—It has been estimated that the fences of a country cost more than its houses. Wooden fences are not only very costly, but soon decay, and need frequent repairs. Stone and brick fences are too dear, and the attention of farmers has been turned to live fences as a substitute. In this section the attempt has not been very successful, but in the West where timber is scarce, live fences, or hedges, are coming into quite general use. The osage orange is the favorite, and promises to supersede all other modes of fencing.

We learn from the Louisville Journal that quite an extensive business is now carried on by several companies in the Western States in planting and training these hedges for a stipulated price per rod or mile. McGrew, Leas, &Co., of Ohio, have under contract with different farmers in that State 85 miles of hedge, now one and two years old. They have also contracts in Illinois for setting, the coming spring, 225 miles of hedge, the largest portion of which is to be planted along the line of the Illinois railroad.—The prices paid for furnishing and setting the plants, and training the hedge to maturity, are from 75 cents to $1,25 per rod, according to terms of payment, or from 30 to 40 cents per rod for furnishing and setting the plants, the owner completing the cultivation and training.—This is much cheaper than the wooden fencing. The live fence is permanent and beautiful—the wood fence is unsightly and soon decays. It takes about four years in the West for an Osage Orange Hedge to grow large and strong enough to turn stock. After that it becomes better every year, and nothing can pass through it. A hedge on the farm of Mr. James McGrew, of Montgomery county, Ohio, has been set about four years, and is so compact and broad at the ground, that neither fowls nor pigs can pass it, and so high that the most unruly animal would not attempt to jump it. Professor Turner, of Illinois, in an article on Hedges, says:

On this place of 160 acres, requiring, as I have stated, four miles of fence as put it in perfect order, I calculate that I am saving, in cash, at least $200 per annum, in all coming time, by using hedges rather than rails, aside entirely from the additional comfort, security and beauty of the hedge.

As regards comfort, I can only say that I now write with my eye resting upon a hedge about four years old, between my garden and fruit lot, and the most public street in this county, through which thousands of mules and wild Missouri steers, hogs, sheep, &c. are driven every year, and all the stock of this village, of all sorts, run at large. (And Pharaoh of old knew what a starved cow was.) In this hedge is a small wicker gate, opening into the street, with an osage crab over it to prevent climbing. When necessary this gate is kept locked. In this lot which is within the corporation limits, and contains some four acres, we have had through the season the greatest abundance of strawberries, gooseberries, currants, peaches, pears of the finest varieties, grapes, raspberries, plums, cherries, blackberries, melons, &c., and if any person has been inside of the lot without leave, it is certain they did not got over the hedge; or if any boy has taken a plum or a berry we do not know it.

The Roman Catholic Goddess.—Our readers will find on our first page the chief portion of the Bull of Pius IX, dogmatically declaring the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary. The document in the conception of every Protestant reader is blasphemous, and we hesitated somewhat about publishing it on that account, but we had no other way of exhibiting to our readers the fearful depths to which that nominally Christian Church has fallen. Its zealous votaries, from the Pope downwards, worship the creature more than the Creator, and that this judgment is just, we appeal to their own language.

The break up of the ice in the river at Wheeling was attended with considerable injury. The Adelia, a Pittsburgh and Zanesville boat, was sunk. Her larboard guard is at the water's edge and the larboard engine covered with ice. We learn she is insured $5,000 in Zanesville.

The Monongahela Belle was thrown high and dry on the beach. The J. H. Done, Stephen Bayard, Falls City, and City of Wheeling were also thrown up on shore, but it was supposed would be got off.

The Intelligencer of Monday says that every boat at the wharf but one, including the Virginia, was thrown up on the beach, and we learn by despatches from there yesterday that the Persia (loaded for this port,) was thrown up where it will require a heavy rise to float her off. As the Persia escaped the effects of the first gorge, we presume that there must have been a second one experienced on Monday.

For Minnesota, Direct.—The steamer Falls City is advertised in our paper to depart for Minnesota, direct, on the opening of navigation. Persons who contemplate going that way will find this an excellent opportunity. The boat is new, substantial, and built expressly for that trade.

We refer our merchants and business men to the card of Dudley Stone & Co., of Louisville, Ky., in to-day's paper. This house is desirous of forming business connections with this city, both in the commission line and as shippers.—See advertisement.

We are indebted to Mr. W. F. Jordan, of Australia, for a late copy of a Melbourne paper.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of the Daily Pittsburgh Gazette.

Washington City, Feb. 18, 1854.

The veto message on the French Spoliation Bill is an elaborate argument against the validity of the claims which possesses the same interest and merit as any respectable Congressional speech on the same side of the question. Granting that Gen. Pierce has the right to defeat the will of Congress, deliberately expressed by opposing to it his own will and judgment on a question of expediency, no fault can be found with the message. The frequent exercise of this power will produce very important discussions in the country as to its true limits. If the pretensions now advanced by Pierce be sustained, it is manifest that the office and occupation of Congress are gone.

The House did not determine on Saturday when they would take up the subject, but they will probably take up and reject the bill to-day. The symptoms are that a good many of the Democrats will "cave in," and will acknowledge their subordination to the executive by refraining from voting. The majority for the bill will be less than on its passage.

The cogitations of the President on the resolution for the promotion of Gen. Scott have ended in its approval. The President wished to veto it, but it is supposed lacked the nerve. Beside a few thousand dollars a year as increased pay it will confer upon Gen. Scott a large sum in hand as extra back pay, but not larger than he deserves and has earned by brilliant and inestimable services to the country.

The Pacific railroad bill as revived in the Senate is a third flash in the pan. There is no use in picking that flint. The bill will not be passed even by that body, which is so ready to do anything to bolster up the chances of Dr. Gwin in California. The House has taken up a position of indifference on both the questions of the Senatorship in California and the railroad, which it will maintain with invincible resolution.

The internal improvement bills are undoubtedly all lost. The House has sent all those received from the Senate to its Committee on Commerce, which has strangled them, and the Senate's Committee has, with gross inconsistency and partiality put all the bills for separate works on the lakes, introduced by Judge Wade and others, into one bill, so as to bring them within the scope of the objections recapitulated in the late veto.

The bill for granting a credit on railroad iron of three years, was probably disabled in the Senate on Saturday by amendments, which distort and swell it to more than dropsical proportions.

The Collins line of steamers was yesterday sustained in the House by a large majority, which settles the matter, as the Senate has always been favorably disposed towards it. The contract has now been made absolute at the full annual pay of $858,000 per annum, and the right of terminating the extra pay at six months notice has been relinquished. The Company is required to go on without delay and build another ship, and must complete it within two years.

I am happy to state that reliable information has been received that all troubles with Spain are upon the point of being settled. That government consents to pay the indemnities demanded in the case of the Black Warrior and other injuries and depredations committed by the Cuban officials, of which we justly complain.—As we have abandoned all unfair designs and piratical schemes against Cuba, this will terminate all difficulties. The Spanish Minister here assures this Government that Spain is fully prepared to give us satisfaction on the above points, and to do all in her power to restore the good understanding with the United States. - Ex-Senator Dodge sets out in the course of next month with instructions to press these demands to a speedy conclusion.

The stories about another descent on Cuba, are undoubtedly fabrications. Quitman has quit filibustering and betaken himself to an honest occupation. Numerous propositions have been made to Col. Kinney to divert his adventurous patriots from their first design to an invasion of Cuba, but without result, for the very obvious and sufficient reason that his expedition has exploded and scattered. There has been a terrible stampede among the filibusters as there generally is after the loudest outbreak of brag and gasconade.

Junius.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have'nt tried it as the wonderful medicine of the day, as that a common weed growing in the pastures, and along old stone walls should cure every humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start! There are no ifs nor ands, hums or ha's about it; selling some cases and not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know its effects in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief to catarrh and distress. Some who have been costive for years, have taken and been regulated by it. Where the body is sound, it work quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it. On the contrary, when that feeling is gone you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that man ever listened to. No change of diet is ever necessary—eat the best you can get. I have likewise an herb, which, when simmered in sweet oil, dissolves Scrofulous swelling of the neck and under the ears. Price 50 cents.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adult, one table-spoonful per day. Children over eight years, dessert spoonful; children from five to eight years, tea-spoonful. As no direction can be made applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Mr. KENNEDY gives personal attendance in bad cases of scrofula.

A Special Bulletin for the Sick.—Dr. Morse's Invigorating Cordial relieves with wonderful rapidity every disorder incident to the digestive apparatus; restores the appetite; restores the strength; hardens the muscles, invigorates the nerves, gives elasticity to the spirits, recruits the mental energies, banishes despondency, imparts to the attenuated frame a more robust appearance, allays irritation, calms the disturbed imagination, builds up the shattered constitution; and may be taken without fear by the feeblest maiden, wife or mother, as it is composed solely of the juices of rare Oriental herbs, potent only to invigorate, exhilarate and restore.

If the system has become enfeebled by improper indulgences, the Cordial will infuse a more vigorous vitality into every organ. The lassitude resulting from late hours or excessive application to labor of any kind, is quickly removed by its action, and ladies engaged in sedentary occupations, such as, to inconvenience therefrom, will find it a safe and healthy stimulant. Where the circulation of the blood is sluggish, or any of the functions of the body are suspended or imperfectly performed, it will restore the natural secretions and communicate permanent energy to the secretive and distributive organs.

Those who are bowed down by physical debility, and so feeble as to despair of ever recovering the vigor and mien of manhood, are invited to give this wonderful invigorant a trial. It embodies the elements of their restoration.

Before they have consumed the first bottle, they will be conscious that the recuperative principle is at work in every debilitated portion of their frames, and hope, soon to be realized in their thorough recovery, will spring up in their hearts.

The Cordial is put up, highly concentrated, in pint bottles. Price $3 per bottle, two for $5, six for $12.

Mr. Kennedy, of Roxbury, has discovered

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have'nt tried it as the wonderful medicine of the day, as that a common weed growing in the pastures, and along old stone walls should cure every humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start! There are no ifs nor ands, hums or ha's about it; selling some cases and not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know its effects in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief to catarrh and distress. Some who have been costive for years, have taken and been regulated by it. Where the body is sound, it work quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it. On the contrary, when that feeling is gone you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that man ever listened to. No change of diet is ever necessary—eat the best you can get. I have likewise an herb, which, when simmered in sweet oil, dissolves Scrofulous swelling of the neck and under the ears. Price 50 cents.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adult, one table-spoonful per day. Children over eight years, dessert spoonful; children from five to eight years, tea-spoonful. As no direction can be made applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Morse's Invigorating Cordial relieves with wonderful rapidity every disorder incident to the digestive apparatus; restores the appetite; restores the strength; hardens the muscles, invigorates the nerves, gives elasticity to the spirits, recruits the mental energies, banishes despondency, imparts to the attenuated frame a more robust appearance, allays irritation, calms the disturbed imagination, builds up the shattered constitution; and may be taken without fear by the feeblest maiden, wife or mother, as it is composed solely of the juices of rare Oriental herbs, potent only to invigorate, exhilarate and restore.

If the system has become enfeebled by improper indulgences, the Cordial will infuse a more vigorous vitality into every organ. The lassitude resulting from late hours or excessive application to labor of any kind, is quickly removed by its action, and ladies engaged in sedentary occupations, such as, to inconvenience therefrom, will find it a safe and healthy stimulant. Where the circulation of the blood is sluggish, or any of the functions of the body are suspended or imperfectly performed, it will restore the natural secretions and communicate permanent energy to the secretive and distributive organs.

Those who are bowed down by physical debility, and so feeble as to despair of ever recovering the vigor and mien of manhood, are invited to give this wonderful invigorant a trial. It embodies the elements of their restoration.

Before they have consumed the first bottle, they will be conscious that the recuperative principle is at work in every debilitated portion of their frames, and hope, soon to be realized in their thorough recovery, will spring up in their hearts.

The Cordial is put up, highly concentrated, in pint bottles. Price $3 per bottle, two for $5, six for $12.
