Reading Matter on such page of this paper

A letter received yesterday from Canton, Ohio, informs us that a man calling himself Henry G. Miller has been there soliciting subscriptions an advertisements for this paper. We deem it prop er to say that we have not, at this time, any travelling agents in the field, and that Mr. Henry G. Miller is both unknown to us and unauthorized to do anything for us. The country is overrun with this class of self-appointe agents, and too much caution cannot be exercis seainst them.

We give up our first page, to-day, to the de bate in the Senate on a bill supplementary to the Fugitive Slave Law and designed to make it more infamous. In this debate there was th usual insolence and browbeating on the part of Mr. Douglass and his co-laborers; but there was, as an offset, a more bold and defiant ton in the speeches and conduct of the few who had the nerve and backbone to maintain the right of their constituents. Messrs. Seward, Sumne and Wade behaved nobly. Mr. Wilson, the new and wade behaved noby. Mr. wilson, the new lot depiring the case course of eight and such cases, and transfering them to the U. S. the divisions, but there was a sad lack of man. District and Circuit Courts. : Mr. Sunner, Mr. liness in his speeches and too atrong an anxiety to explain his position to the satisfaction of his Southern brethren. His admission that he was not elected as the representative of the anti-slavery sentiment of his State is not a pleasant one of such men has not yet arrived. This bill was to put on the record, but it is a suggestive o and will doubtless prompt in many minds be a doubt as to his orthodoxy and an inclination keep a steady watch upon his career.

The hill which gave rise to so fierce a strugg in the Senate, is as follows: n the senate, is as follows:

Be it enacted, je., That if a smit be commenced ir pending in any State or court against any oficer of the United States or other person, for or or penning in any state or court against any orfreer of the United States or other person, for or on account of any act done under any law of the United States, or under color thereof, or for or on account of any right, authority, claim, or title set up by such officer or other person, under any law of the United States, and the defendant shall, at the first term of such State court after the passage of this act, or at the first term of such State court after such suit shall be commenced, file a petition for the removal of the cause for trial into the next circuit court to be held in the district where the suit is pending, or, if there be no circuit court in such district, then to the district court invested with the powers of a circuit court; next to be held in said district, and offer good and sufficient surety for his entering in such court, on the first day of its session, copies of said process against him, and also for his there appearing and entering special bail in the cause, if special bail was originally requisite therein, it shall then be the duty of the State court to accept the surety and proceed no further are therein, it shall then be the duty of the State court to accept the surety and proceed no further in the cause; and any ball that may have been taken shall be discharged, and the sald copies being entered as aforesaid in such court of the United States, the cause shall there proceed in the same manner as if it had been brought there by original process; and any attachment of the goods or estate of the defendant by the original process shall held the goods on extra mention.

The object of this law is apparent. It is to prevent the State Courts from trying any United States officer for a breach of State laws. If an officer of the National Government, in attempting to execute the Fugitive law, should maltres arrest a slave at Wilkesbarre, is a sufficient i have. The United States Courts, if we are t as an index, will inflict no punishment on thos name of the Fugitive law. The bill sets State Sovereignty at defiance. It is a direct interference with the authority of the States within their own limits, and it sets aside the power and jurisdiction of State tribunals with as much coolness as if it were a trifling power in matters over which the States have s right to exercise exclusive jurisdiction, and no only asurps their privileges, but deprives them of one of their cherished means of self-defense. The State which cannot enjoy the privilege of enforcing its own laws within its own domain, in all cases, is but a pitiful instance of "Sover-eignty."

F. 4.

This constant inclination to concentrate power in the hands of the Federal Government and weaken the reserved rights of the States is one of the most dangerous tendencies of the times If the States do not soon awake to an apprecis tion of their danger, they will find that they have been shorn of their locks while reposing in the lap of the Southern Delilah.

Will the bill pass the House? We fear it will, although the correspondents of the Boltimes Sun seems to think otherwise. "X" says, " loubt whether a majority could be obtained for it in the House, even if Congress were to remain a month longer in session;" and "lon" says "In the House it is probably to meet with a determined opposition. It is even said that if brought up, the anti-Nebraska men will make it the absorbing question for the rest of the session, and Correspondence of the Dally Pittsburgh Gazette.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 23, 1854. The Senate is to-day engaged in the genial work of strengthening the Fugitive Slave Law, by passing an act prescribing additional and extrame penalties for resisting or obstructing federal officers in the discharge of their duties and for depriving the State Courts of cognizance of y yigor, but it is evident enough that their opposition will be entirely unavailing. The hour of such men has not yet arrived. This bill was concocted in the Committee on the Judiciary of the House, and Mr. Parker, of Indians, Seymour, of Ct., of whom the free States have the right to expect better things, consented to it, and even urge its adoption. The back-bone of the House is so utterly broken and creahed that I presume the bill will be concurred in by that body. It will hasten the period when the legislature of every free State will prohibit by offect all penalties whatever is contrary to the spirit of Repubcaniam and States' rights as defined by its own Constitution and Laws. God speed the day!

In the general discussion under the five minute rule, which followed the introduction of the tariff amendment, Mr. Howe delivered an eloquent vindication of Pennsylvania in connec-tion with the tariffs of 1846 and 1842, and in reply to a taunt from Mr. Banks of Massachusetts. Mr. Howe showed conclusively that by a magnamions adherence to the principle of pro-tection in 1842 and 1846, Pennsylvania sacrifoed her interests for the protection of Massachusetts and New England Manufacturers. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. THE MOST SUCCESSFUL AMERICAN

BOOK: RUTH HALL,

A Domestic Tale of the Present Time.

BY PANNY FERN.

400pp. Home. Gloth. Price $1,25.

It has been reservat to this distinguished authoress to achieve what may, under the dirementances, be regarded as the most brilliant reaccess ever obtained by an American writer of action. "EUTH HALL," her first continuous story, though during no interest of popularity from connection with any of those vaxed questions which agitate the public mind, has, in the two months since its first appearance, agreetly larger sale than any other American tate the public mind, has, in the two months since its first appearance, greatly larger sale than any other Amerit can work of folios whatever, within the same; period.—This extraordinary fact is, of itself, abundant evidence of the absorbing interest and graphic power of this remarkable work. We have in our possession several hundred reviews of "MUTH HALL", which have already appeared in the principal newspapers and periodicals. Nearly all of these pronounce it emphatically a work of genius; many predicting for it the largest sale of any American book, and develing whole columns to its eulogium, while we have yet seen but a very few (not swelve in all) which dony its singular faceination. "HUTH HALL" is for rais by Booknellers generally, Published by affi-wd2twe MASON BROS, 32 Park Row, New York.
