The President seat in, signed, the Texas creditors bill.

Messrs. Pearce and Bayard thought it better to defeat the appropriation bill, than to pass it in its present form.

Mr. Benjamin objected to the bill, alleging that in making the scale for the reduction of the Tariff undue advantage had been given to man afacturers.

Mr. Hunter said that as this measure was carried by votes in the House from all sections of the country, the tariff modification, though not perfect, was as good as could be desired.

Mr. James remarked to Mr. Hunter that many members of the House voted for the bill with an understanding that it would not be amended by the Senate.

Mr. Hunter said he did not know how that might be. He saw by the list of names, how ever, that several Pennsylvanians voted for it. Mr. Bayard opposed the tariff provision in the Month tell may be senate.

Mr. Bayard opposed the tariff provision in the Month tell would not be appropriation bill, and did not like to be thus composed to the riff provision in the sappropriation bill, and did not like to be thus composed to the riff provision in the Mr. Seward said be believed that by submitting to this fiss "sepecies" of legislation we give the House a precedent to force upon the country in submitting to this fiss "sepecies" of legislation we give the House a precedent to force upon the country and many many many many to the reconstruction of the Tariff to a simple revenue standard. I am a Free trade man, but I cannot vote for such a measure shis. Mr. Clayton objected to the bill because of its moorporation of a modification of the Tariff.

Mr. Hunter said he disliked such incorporations, and would not advocate such a measure to strike, and would not advocate such a measure to strike, and would not advocate such a measure to strike and would not advocate such a measure upon and the Tariff portions. Horrer and the strike an
