This condition of affairs is attributable soldy to the unusual stringency of the times. Collec-tors have frequently stated that men of property who have heretofore paid their taxes as soon as damanded have this year been compelled to ask an extension of time. Compared with previous years, this unpaid balance is unusually large. The county assessment is $30,000. On the first of January, 1854, more than two-thirds that amount had been paid in, whereas at the begin-ning of the present year, not one-half had been received by the County Treasurer. Truly, the county may join the prayer of thousands of pri-vate individuals, that "hard times may come again no more."
