3. That the Court in their charge express themselves so strongly in reference to, and adverse to, the alibi proved by the witnesses produced by Thomas Stowart and James Wesley duced by Thomas Stowart and James Wealey Bradley, that laymen, not familiar with legal terms, were forced to disregard evidence, which should have been left to the calm consideration of the jury.

4. That the question of identity being one of the most difficult for the determination of a jury, the Court in their charge to the jury assume that the identity of defendants was conclusively proved by the testimony of Mehaffy and Cooley, although it was shown on trial that the night was one of the darkest of the year, and that it was impossible to recognize an individual, even at the distance of a few feet.

5. The verdict was against the evidence.

"AUGUS HOLES, NINE P. M .- THE CATHEDRAL "AUGUR HOLES, NINE P. 31.—INE CATHERRAY, MINDIGHT."—Lovers of the Mysterious, attend and give ear! Yesterlay morning, great wonderment was caused throughout the two cities by a mysterious inscription chalked upon houses,
fences, doors and bridges, as follows:

"Augur Holes, 9 P. M." "Avoue Holes, yr. a.
But the popular excitement was greatly increased by the general circulation of bits of paper on one bolical and cabalustic announcement, and on the other these words—

"TRE CATHEDRAL, MIDNIOHT."
Whether the whole affair was intended to bore the public we cannot say, but such mysteries certainly augur no good.
What does it all mean? Are the Sag Nicht about?
