THE EUROPEAN CONTEST.—The most important and pregnant facts contained in the news brought by the Atlantic are, that the prospect of peace is now less than it has been at any time since the commencement of the war; and that Austria is playing a game of fast and loose between the contending parties.

England and France are now irretrievably engaged in a gigantic war from which there is no escape with honor until they have humbled and crippled their proud foe. Their chances of success are very small, indeed, unless Austria can be induced to take side with one party or the other. Russia is nearly invulnerable by the Black sea or the Baltic, and the allies will only wear themselves out in a fruitless contest, unless they can assail her in some more vital point.

Austria is more deeply interested in the contest than the allies themselves. Her very existance depends upon the power of Russia being kept within some reasonable limits. She looks on, therefore, with great complacency while her formidable western and eastern rivals are worrying and weakening each other.

France and England are defending the cause of Austria more than their own, and they ought peremptorily to insist that she take her due share in the contest, or compel her to declare for the Czar. Her neutrality should be permitted no longer. If she will not fight for the deliverance of western Europe from the ambitious designs of the Czar, let her place her neck in the yoke and range herself on the side of Russia. She would be less formidable in that position than she is now. Let France and England rouse the people of Europe against her, march one army into Italy and another into Germany, and proclaim free institutions. Let Hungary and Poland be raised, and the fires of Constitutional Republicanism be fanned to a blaze in Prussia, and the young Emperor of Austria would soon discover his mistake, and the imbecile and drunken old tyrant of Prussia would be compelled to abdicate a throne he disgraces.

The great difficulty in the way of this, is the anomalous position of Louis Napoleon himself. His own hands are not clean from the guilt of usurpation and tyranny. He has, however, displayed talents so extraordinary, and ruled with so much vigor and liberality, that he can safely afford to throw himself on the generosity of the French people, and atone for the past by the benefits he confers upon the people of Europe in the future. He may cause the people measurably to forget the means by which he achieved his greatness by the wise and beneficient use he makes of his power.

It is very certain that the western governments of Europe will be compelled to grant their people liberal institutions, or find themselves descending to a state of dependence on the overshadowing power of the Russian Autocrat. By granting their people an interest in defending their governments and their homes, they may succeed in rolling back the advancing Sclavonic tide; but if they persist in the intolerable absolute rule now practised they must sooner or later fall before their own people, or before the Czar.

We shall be greatly disappointed if we do not hear that the allies have demanded a decided stand on one side or the other from Austria before many weeks pass. If this is not done, we look for nothing but disaster, and a final disgraceful issue to France and England from the contest.

THE LEGISLATURE.—To-day, Heaven be praised, the legislature adjourns, after having providently voted to each of its members the snug little compensation of $500. If the great majority of them had deserved such pay, we should be glad to see them getting it, for the sum named is not too much for a man who properly appreciates the position of a representative; but it goes a little against our grain to see a compensation fit for really good men bestowed upon such a graceless crew.

But let us be thankful, at all events, that this is the last day of the session. The existence of this legislature has been a reproach to the State. Never was such a set of veritable jack-puddings gathered together, and never, we pray, may we see its like again. We have had our laugh, it is true, along with the rest, at the simply ridiculous antics enacted by harlequin legislators; but there has been much more reason afforded for shame and confusion of face.

We hope that the people have had enough of this kind of work, and that hereafter men will be chosen for legislators—honest men, as well as men of mind and with a keen sense of self-respect. There were numbers of this kind of men in both Houses during the past session, and we judge that they predominated in the Senate; but in the House they were the exceptions instead of the rule. The remedy is with the voters; and a little less secresy in the method of the selection of candidates this year, will doubtless tend to an improvement in their character. We shall then have no more mountebanks, to come home and tell us that they are not responsible to the public for their acts.

THE PARTY OF MANY FACES.—The Know-Nothings of California have imitated their brethren of Louisiana and Maryland, by abolishing the Anti-Catholic feature of the Order. Indeed, this change is spreading so fast, that we should should not wonder to find the Catholic Reviewer Brownson numbered among the heads of the Order, and sitting side by side with Professor Tiffany of Carlisle, in holy fraternity, united together in the noble and christian work of proscribing men on account of the place of their birth, a matter over which they had no control. Brownson has discovered some strong Know-Nothing proclivities, and has written some pretty significant Know-Nothing articles, and since the Anti-Catholic plank is being removed, we do not see why he should not be admitted into the ranks of the new party, and become a man of mark among them. He is certainly as eligible as the Catholics of Maryland, Louisiana and California, and is not a whit more devoted to the interests of the Pope than they.

A FREE COUNTRY.—A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, writing from "Iola, Kansas Territory, April 23d," says:

"The election excitement still prevails all over this country, and is is perhaps well that Governor REEDER has found cause of quarrel with Mr. Commissioner MANYPENNY, which detains him at Easton, Pa. He might otherwise share the fate of Park and Patterson, of Parkville, Mo. It is said that he and his Abolition coadjutors will be dealt with, in future, very summarily. It is found to be best not to temporise with such people. They presume upon any indulgence."

Well, this is cool and pleasant. Here is a governor, chosen by the President because of his endorsement of the principle of the Kansas bill, threatened with assassination if he dares to carry that principle out; and not only so but every anti-slavery man who presumes to think that Kansas is free for him to settle in is to be expelled or murdered. These anti-slavery people, it is found, cannot be got along with it by allowing them their rights. They presume too much upon being indulged with their lawful privileges. Yes, this is a free country. It is free, at least, for blustering slave-drivers, and for editors who think such threats as these proper for endorsement in their columns.

We hope that Gov. Reeder, if he has the soul of a man in him, will not, in view of these insolent menaces, think of resigning his place. Let him return to his post, strong in the consciousness of his integrity, and force the President to the alternative of removing or sustaining him.—There are in Kansas hands willing enough and arms stalwart enough to uphold and defend him, and protect him from the indignities threatened by the miserable rabble over the border; and if the President chooses to remove him, or abandon him and leave him without help in the midst of the howling Vandals who assail him, let the responsibility rest on the President's shoulders. He will not dare, we think, to leave his own appointee unsupported.

THE PUBLIC WORKS.—The bill for the sale of the Main line of the Public Works has now passed both houses, the House having concurred in the amendments of the Senate. The approval of the Governor is, we suppose, a matter about which no doubt can be entertained.

The minimum price was reduced by the Senate to eight millions, and the sliding scale of credits inserted by the House was struck out.—In case the Pennsylvania road becomes the buyers, the tonnage tax is to be released, but the minimum price, in that case, is fixed at nine millions—the additional million being added as a consideration for the release of the tax.

The bill in its present shape is much less objectionable than when it passed the House, and is devoid of many of the features which made it unworthy of support in the first instance. Whether purchasers can be found on the terms fixed in the bill, is a matter to be tested when the time of offering the works for sale comes round.

The bill for abolishing the Board of Canal Commissioners has been defeated. This indicates a purpose to hold on to the other portions of the public works, as well as a conviction of the probability that no sale of the Main Line is likely to be effected.

HEMPFIELD RAILROAD.—The Monongahela Republican complains that the managers of the Hempfield road pay no attention to the eastern end of it, between Washington and that place.—It says that the contractor for the bridge over the Monongahela river at that place, has been kept there for nearly a year beseeching the company to show him where to begin the abutment for the bridge, and to this day has been unable to get any information; and insinuates that there is really no intention to complete the road beyond Washington. We are inclined to think that the Republican is right in its suspicions. The object of Philadelphia, to get a short connection with Wheeling, is as well accomplished by coming through Pittsburgh and using the Chartiers road to Washington, as it would be by diverging at Greensburgh. We urged this view at the time when the project was first brought forward, and it would have been wise in Philadelphia to have acceded to it. She did not do it, however; and probably would not, now, if necessity did not compel the adoption of such a course. Locally, it bears hard upon the Monongahela City people for their hopes and anticipations had been excited to a lively pitch; and it would have been much better for them had their expectations never been roused; but in these days of railroad reverses, necessity forces the abandonment of many projects as much cherished as this one, and postpones in very many instances the realization of advantages long and ardently looked for.

THE HORTICULTURAL REVIEW, for November and December, though late is welcome. It has been laboring under the difficulty of inadequate support, which accounts for its late appearance but we are glad to see it is not to be given up.—Mr. Ward retires from the publication, but Dr. John A. Warder continues it, and appeals to the lovers of Horticulture for adequate support. It has heretofore been a very useful and instructive publication, and we have no doubt it will continue to meet the wishes of the public. It is published monthly, at three dollars per annum, in advance, by Jno. A. Warder, Cincinnati.

FAIR PLAY AND NO GOUGING.—Three weeks ago we made public the barbarous scheme of the Know Nothing leaders to break down the anti-slavery issue, and pack the Republican State Convention, the inevitable result of which, if succesful, would be to deliver the State to the Nebraska locofocos. Since the appearance of the exposure, vigorous measures have been taken by the more prudent men of the Order, to prevent the consummation of this insane purpose, and for a time it was believed in political circles that the authors had concluded to abandon it and make no further effort to bring out a Nativistic ticket, or to forestall the free action of the Republican Convention. But the snake was only scotched, not killed. A scheme was set on foot to circumvent the People's State Convention, and palm upon it the secret caucus Know Nothing ticket.

There was "method in their madness." A conclave of leaders was secretly summoned to Cincinnati one day last week, and the following ticket is said to have been manufactured, viz:

For Governor—Jacob Brinkerhoff, of Mansfield.

For Lieutenant Governor—Chauncey N. Olds, of Circleville.

For Secretary of State—Wm. T. Bascom, of Columbus.

For Treasurer of State—A. P. Stone, of Columbus.

For Auditor of State—J. C. Wilson.

For Attorney General—R. M. Corwine, Cincinnati.

For Board of Public Works—H. H. Dodd of Toledo.

For Supreme Judges—R. C. Hurd of Mount Vernon; and R. E. Peck, of Portsmouth.

This ticket has been sent in circular form to the Presidents of the Third Degree Councils.

It is not intended that the June Know-Nothing State Council shall nominate the above ticket, or make any nominations at all, but it is expected that the hint will be taken and that the brethren will comport themselves accordingly, and so arrange matters that a majority of the delegates to the Republican State Convention will be Third Degree Union-savers. But we still believe screws will get loose, and there will be a grand smash-up at Columbus, if these Know-Nothing engineers don't keep off the track and let the Republican train alone. How far the candidates above named are ignorant of the trick being played in their behalf, we know not, but a moment's rational reflection must convince them that the less they have to do with the gentlemen that are running Sam into the ground, the better for their own popularity.—Cleveland Leader.

JOURNALISM AND OFFICE.—In the United States there is not a more faithful guardian of public interests than the public Journals; and much as is the freedom of the press abused in our country by libelous and unprincipled sheets, yet it were better that such an evil should be tolerated than that the freedom of the press should be destroyed; for though there are many libelous and unprincipled journals extant, yet their influence is small. In England the newspapers wield a powerful influence, but it is a secondary one. Parliament—not public Journals—governs public sentiment.

Fifteen or twenty years ago Congress ruled public opinion. With such men as Webster, Calhoun, Clay, Wright, and a host of other brilliant minds composing it—that body was the embodiment of public sentiment. Public journals were made subservient to Congressional opinion; their course was influenced, if not controlled, by representatives in Congress; and so far from being independent of Congressional influence, the public press was looked upon as a mere secondary organ—a sort of helpmeet to Congress and Congressmen.

But the press is no longer a mere mouth piece for members of Congress; it is fulfilling a higher, a nobler destiny. Congress no longer rules public opinion. The brilliant talent which was in Congress in 1840 is not there now; the giant intellects that for the time being gave our National Congress a character for dignity, brilliancy of talent and forensic eloquence, second to no such other assembly the world ever saw, have nearly all passed away and their places been filled by men too many of whom are poorly calculated for the position they hold. And even had not Congress degenerated in point of talent, it could not lead public opinion at the present day. The influence Congress once wielded has departed from that body, and is now centered in the public journals of the day. Instead of being made subservient to the wishes of the few, they now control the opinions of the many. The elections of our Senators and Representatives is dependent in no slight degree upon the course pursued by the public press. Congress is no longer the infallible body it once was; its acts are either condemned or approved by the public journals; and this condemnation or approval is the voice of the public.

But, while congress has been degenerating, the public press has been constantly improving in tone and talent, and, in a few years, journalism is destined to be the profession in the United States. As it is the organ of the people, the people will have the ablest talent to represent their interests; and such journals only will be supported as are edited with ability, and are faithful to the interests of the people. We repeat, the American press is fulfilling a high and noble destiny; it has a brilliant future before it. In a few years, those who are illiterate and unqualified, will be compelled to resort to something else as a means of maintenance, and American journalism—calling to its support the ablest talent in the country—will be the embodiment of the intellectual wealth of the United States.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

McLane's Vermifuge.—No remedy ever invented has been so successful as the great worm medicine of Dr. M'Lane. All who have used it have been equally astonished and delighted at its wonderful energy and efficacy. To publish all the testimonials in its favor would fill volumes; we must therefore content ourselves with a brief abstract of a few of them.

Japhet C. Allen, of Amboy, gave a dose to a child 6 years old, and it brought away 83 worms. He soon after gave another dose to the same child, which brought away 50 more, making 133 worms in about 12 hours.

Andrew Downing, of Cranbury township, Venango county, gave his child one tea-spoonful, and she passed 177 worms. Next morning, on repetition of the dose, she passed 113 more.

Jonathan Hunghman, of West Union, Park county, Ia writes that he is unable to supply the demand, as the people in his neighborhood say, after a trial of the others that none is equal to Dr. McLane's Vermifuge.

Messrs. D. & J. W. Colton, of Winchester, Ia., happened last spring to get some of this Vermifuge. After selling a few bottles, the demand became so great for it that their stock was soon exhausted. They state that it has produced the best effect wherever used, and is very popular among the people.

☞Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE, and take none else. All other Vermifuges, in comparison, are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's Vermifuge, also his celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in the United States and from the sole proprietors.

A Special Bulletin for the Sick.—Dr. Horse's Invigorating Cordial relieves with wonderful rapidity every disorder incident to the digestive apparatus; restores the appetite; renews the strength; hardens the muscles, braces the nerves, gives elasticity to the spirits, recruits the mental energies, banishes despondency, imparts to the attenuated frame a more robust appearance; allays irritation, calms the disturbed imagination, builds up the shattered constitution; and may be taken without fear by the feeblest maiden, wife or mother, as it is composed solely of the juices of rare Oriental herbs, potent only to invigorate, exhilarate and restore.

If the system has become relaxed by improper indulgences, the Cordial will infuse a more vigorous vitality into every organ. The lassitude resulting from late hours or too close application to labor of any kind, is quickly removed by its action, and ladies engaged in sedentary occupations, and subject to inconveniences therefrom, will find it a safe and healthy stimulant. Where the circulation of the blood is sluggish, or any of the functions of the body are suspended or imperfectly performed, it will restore the natural action and communicate permanent energy to the secretive and distributive organs.

Those who are bowed down by physical debility, and so feeble as to despair of ever recovering the vigor and vim of manhood, are invited to give this wonderful invigorant a trial. It embodies the elements of their restoration.—Before they have consumed the first bottle, they will be conscious of its beneficial effects. Every nerve, every muscle, every debilitated portion of their frames, and hope, soon to be realised in their thorough recovery, will spring up in their hearts.

The Cordial is put up, highly concentrated, in pint bot tles. Price $2 per bottle, two for $3, six for $12.

As a Spring and Summer Medicine, Carter's Spanish Mixture stands preeminent above all others. Its singularly efficacious action on the blood; its strengthening and vivifying qualities; its tonic action on the Liver; its tendency to drive all humors to the surface, thereby cleansing the system according to Nature's own prescription; its harmless, and at the same time extraordinary good effects, and the number of cures testified to by many of the most respectable citizens of Richmond, Va., and elsewhere, must be conclusive evidence that there is no humbug about it. The trial of a single bottle will satisfy the most skeptical of its benefits. See advertisement in another column. ap30 1md&wT

Best Known when Tried.—These gentlemen take pleasure in testifying in regard to B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, because two of the firm have used it in their private practice as physicians for a number of years, and they have known it, by observation, to be good

New Albany, July 4th, 1853.

Messrs. B. A. Fahnestock & Co:

GENTLEMEN:—Having sold your valuable Vermifuge for some time, and having used it used for many years, we would recommend it to all as a safe and efficient remedy for all cases of worms. We have tried every one, or nearly any evil results following its administration, but we have as it answered the purposes for which it was intended, and been entirely satisfactory.

Believing that everything that has been set forth in regard to its virtues is strictly in accordance with our observations, not only as practitioners, but as men of business, we would unhesitatingly say to all who read this, that it is the best, safest, surest, and in fact the only Vermifuge we have known when tried.

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye.

As red clouds darken in the twilight,
And blacken over heaven like a night
So CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE turneth

When its assaulted at the sight of human presence;
But as quick CRISTADORO will darken the flesh,
With his Dye of all dyes most efficient and rare!

Another Instance of the efficacy of Boerhave's Holland Bitters:

MR. M. PENDEXTER, of the Union Office, says—Some weeks since being seriously affected with pain and uneasiness at the stomach, heat of appetite, and, at times strong symptoms of dyspepsia, I was induced to try your Holland Bitters, and I feel it but an act of justice to the article, as well as for the good of those who may be affected with like derangement of the stomach, to state, that the use of one bottle of this medicine has given me a degree of comfort, having freed the stomach from all sense of depression, and removed every symptom of dyspepsia. I would also remark, that two children of my family, who were afflicted in a similar manner with myself, were entirely relieved by the use of a single bottle of each.

The Stomach prepares the elements of the bile and the blood; and if it does the work feebly and imperfectly, liver disease is the certain result. As soon therefore, as any affection of the liver is perceived, we may be sure that the digestive organs are out of order. The first thing to be done, is to administer a specific which will act directly upon the stomach—the mainspring of the animal machinery. For this purpose we can recommend Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson & Co., Philadelphia. Acting as an alterative and a tonic, it strengthens the digestion, changes the condition of the blood and thereby gives regularity to the bowels. See advertisement. ap15-2wd&wT

The Greatest Medical Discovery OF THE AGE.

Mr. Kennedy, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cure every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificate, of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a running sore mouth

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples of the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing in the pastures, and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start There are no ifs nor ands, buts or ha's about it suiting some cases and not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know its effects in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I leave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, worm looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief to catarrh and dizziness. Some who have been notified of consumption, and broken and been regulated by it. Where the body is sound, it work quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular reel ings, but no pain must be incurred—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it. On the contrary, when that feeling is gone you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that man ever listened to. No case of diet is ever necessary—eat the best you can get. I have likewise an herb, which, when simmered in sweet oil, dissolves Scrofulous swelling of the neck and under the ears. Price 50 cents. Price of the Medical Discovery $1 per bottle.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adult, one table-spoonful per day. Children over eight years, dessert spoonful: children from five to eight years, tea-spoonful. As no direction can be made applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Mr. KENNEDY gives personal attendance in bad cases of scrofula.

Sold, wholesale and retail, at Dr. KEYSER'S, 140 Wood treet, corner of Virgin alley. 6ddawT
