The Mirricoustr of CARADA Wiss, at their meeting, made two important changes in their church policy. They have consented to extend the period of a minister's residence on a circuit from two to five years; in any case where a request to that effect emanates from a quarterly meeting of a circuit. They have also consented to admit an equal representation of oferical and lay. members at the annual district meeting of the convention.

CUBISTOPHEE NORTH TO THE ETTRICK SHEPusan. -- The following epistle, from the late Pro-fessor Wilson to James Hogg, has been printed in a London publisher's circular. It was evi-dently written in the early part of the century, and before Blackwood's Magazine had commen -My Dear Hogg: I am Bename many and many and any stress and many and the stress and the stress

In little bable Bell ! Her petite form more perfect grew, And in her festives we could trace, In softened curves, her mother's face: Her angel nature ripened too. We thought her lovely when alse came, Bat she was holy, sainty now Around her pale and lofty brow We thought we saw a ring of flame ! I know of "Cons." It is very creditable to our excellent friend, but will not sell any more than the "Lie of Paims," or the "White Doe." The "White Doe" is not in season--venison is not liked in Edinboro". It wants flavor--a good Ettrick wether is preferable. Wordsworth has more of the pogetical character than any living writer; but he is not a man of first rate intellect --his genius oversets him. Southey's "Roder-ick" is not a first rate work; the remorse of Roderick is that of a unchristian devotee, rath-er than that of a dethroned monarch. His bat-tiles are ill-fought. There is no processional march of events in the poem, of a tendency to one great end, like a river increasing in majesty till it reaches the sea. Neither is there national character, Spauish or Moorisb. No sublime im-agory; no profound passion. Southey wrote it, and Southey is a man of talent; but it is his wort poem. Sometimes she said a few strange words Whose meanings lay beyond our reach : God's hand had taken a way the seal Which held the portals of her a speech ! She never was a child to us; We never held her being's key ! We could not teach her holy things : She was Christ's self in purity ! and Southey is a man of talent; but it is his worst poem. Scotts "Field of Waterloo" I have seen. What a poem" -- such bald and nevertheless fine lat" guage, mean imagery, common-place sentiments, and clumsy versification. It is beneath criti-cism. Unless the latter part of the battle be very fine indeed, this poem will injure him. Wordsworth is dished Southey is in purga-tory; Scott is dying; and Byron is married. Herbert has been frozen to death in Scandi-naria, Moore has lost his manihess. Coler-idge is always in a fog. Joanna Ballie is wri-ting a system of cookery. Not much of the sotion of the Board of Di-rectors of the (C & P. railroad, who) met in Cleveland last week, has yet come to the public ear; but from what we have. heard, we are jui-tified in saying that the Company will proceed immediately to the completion of the Wheeling and Bearer Extensions-favorable proposals by a combination of expitalists shundardly able, having been made to them for its early and spee-dy construction. We also learn that our fellow-townsman John S. Weinteeh, Eeq., on secount of ill health, resigned his membership of the Board, and that James Farmer Esq., of Saline-ville, was chosen to fill the vacancy. A fire per cent. divideed, on the past visit controls was declared.-Wellveille (O.) Patriot. From the Jour BABY BELL. The Poem of a Little Life that was but Three BY T. B. ALDRICH.

Have you not heard the Post tell How came the dainty babie Bell Into this world of ours ? The gates of Heaven were left sjar ; With folded hands and dreamy eyes She wandered out of Paradise ! She saw this planet, like a star, Hung in the depths of purple even— Its bridges rouning to and fro, O'er which the white winged scraph's go Bearing the holy Dead to Hearen ! She touched a bridge of flowers—those feet, So light they did not bend the bells Of the celestial asphodels ! They fell like dew upon the flowers ! And all the air grew strongly swest ! And thus came dainty babie Bell Into this world of ours ! She wandered out of Paradise !

She came and brought delicious May! The swallows built beneath the eares; Like sunbeams in and out the leaves, The robins went, the livelong day; The filly swung its noiseless bell. And o're the porch the trembling vine Seemed bursting with its veins of wine O, earth was full of pleasant smell, When came the dainly bable Bell Into this world of ours !

O bable, dainty bable Bell ! How fair she grew from day to day ! What woman nature filed her eyes, What poetry within them lay ! Those deep and tender twilight eyes, Bo fail of meaning pure, and bright Asif she yet stood in the light Of those oped gates of Raradise ! And we loved bable more and more : O never in our hearts before Such holy love was born; We folt we had a link between This real world and that unseen--The land of deathless morn ! And for the love of those dear eyes, For love of her whom God led forth--The mother's beirg censed on carth When bable came from Paradise !-For love of him who smote our lives, O babie, daiuty babie Bell ! For love of him who smote our lives, Accompanying the pitcher wers two goblets ornamented to match, with the in-scription, "Fidelity to temperance, June 19, 1855."-Botton Taigraph. And woke the chords of joy and pain, We said, Sweet Christ !---our hearts bend dow Like violets siter rain ! And now the orchards which were once All white and rosy in their bloom— Filling the crystal heart of air Wirt gentle pulses of perfume,— Were thick with yellow jaicy fruit; The plums were globes of honey rare, And soft-checked peaches blusht and fell !
