ly upsets all the allegations and assumptions of Mr. Wheeler and the Judge. So far from being an abduction, it seems that she was the first to give information of her real condition, and of her anxiety to be free, and it was upon this information, derived from herself, that the subsequent acts were based. As soones she was a prised by Mr. Williamson that, under the laws of Pennsylvania, she was free, she voluntarily left the boat, and only availed herself of outside aid to escape when her master endeavored to restrain her of the liberty to which she was entitled.

It thus seems that Col. Wheeler was perfectly well (aware of the laws of Pennsylvania; that his bringing his alsves here would result in their freedom; and that he was exceedingly fearful that a knowledge of that fact would get to their ears. He can blame none but himself for the result of his foolhardiness.

With these facts thus substantiated, Mr. williamson has a complete justification; and they place both Judge Kans and Col. Wheeler in a most unpleasant predicament, and particularly Judge Kane. With his trumped-up allegations affidavit. She was interrogated with respect to his results that a knowledge of that fact would get to their most unpleasant predicament, and particularly Judge Kane. I have never seen his equal for voracity. A quiet shoal of bony fish or porgies sunning themselves in a still see, will be cut to pieces and devoured by a few dozen blue fish in the twinkling of a fin. These clipper, built active fellows will spring on them, dash about among them back and forth, with tremendous speed, and one blue fish will in thirty seconds have killed and devoured, head, body, scales and tail, six scups, or as many moss-bunkers. Hence they usually drive all other fish from the heighborhood, except the tautog, who lie in holes and recesses of the rocks, and thus escape them.
