PITTSBURGH GAZETTE

A CONTRAST.—Near the end of his days, the licentious Byron wrote the following lines:—

"My days are in the yellow leaf,
The flowers and fruit of love are gone;
The worm, the canker, and the grief
Are mine alone."

Near the end of his days Paul, the aged, wrote to a young minister whom he greatly loved as follows:—"I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith, and henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of life, which the righteous Judge shall give me at that day." Is there not a difference between him that serveth God and him that serveth him not? All experience, as well as conscience, answers Yea!

Apples are very fine this year and apple jelly is—we speak from actual knowledge—very delicious. Our lady readers who are aware of that fact will thank us for giving them the following recipe for making it: Take apples of the best quality and good flavor, (not sweet) cut them in quarters or slices, and stew them till soft, then strain out the juice, being very careful not to let any of the pulp pass through the strainer. Boil it to the consistency of molasses, then weigh it and add as many pounds of crushed sugar, stirring it constantly until the sugar is dissolved. Add one ounce of extract of lemon to every twenty pounds of jelly, and when cold, set it away in jars. It will keep good for years. Those who have not made jelly in this way, will do well to try it. They will find it superior to currant jelly.
