Judge Kane's Decision.—A long opinion of Judge Kane is paraded in the eastern papers upon the new phase of the Passmore Williamson case lately presented. It grew out of an application from Jane Johnson, formerly the slave of Col. Wheeler, to have a petition filed in which she set forth some facts bearing upon the writ under which Williamson is so unrighteously imprisoned.

Judge Kane avails himself of the opportunity offered to go into a lengthy vindication of himself and his course towards Passmore Williamson. He evidently feels the heavy weight of public opinion which is bearing upon him, and being too proud to flinch, would fain justify himself. Hence he parades learned quotations from Vattel and Puffendorf, and black letter law books, and strives to protect his position by a powerful array of authorities. He is probably too blind to see that there never was a petitfogger who could not as well bolster up the wrong with just such a string of legal quotations.

Such a great point of his argument, is, that negro slaves by the laws of Virginia are property; that property by the law of nations has the right of transit over the territory of a friendly power, and that Col. Wheeler had therefore a clear right to take his slaves through Pennsylvania without molestation. In support of this view he makes an artful appeal to the property interest of the country; arguing that if the right of property in slaves, in transitu, may be taken away, the right of property in horses, cattle or other movable wares may also be taken away. The Judge presses this point with all the sophistical aid at his hand; and he dwells upon it so urgently as to show that it is his only refuge.

Now, Judge Kane may be a very learned Judge. He may be well posted up in Vattel and Puffendorf, and possess extraordinary abilities in the way of ransacking law libraries. But he must remember that he occupies a very subordinate position. He is merely a District Judge, with a restricted bailiwick; and however supreme he may be in some little things, it is not given to him to interpret the law of the land authoritatively or enunciate opinions from which there is no appeal. There is a court above him, happily, which is not only more learned and more reliable, but one to whose interpretations he is bound to submit. In matters upon which that supreme arbitrament has passed, he is bound to take the law as it may lay it down, and make it the guide of his action. Whatever opinions he may himself entertain, he has no alternative but to be guided by the opinions of the Supreme Court of the United States, of which he is a mere subordinate or appendage.

And it so happens that this very point upon which Judge Kane hangs so tenaciously has been adjudicated by the Supreme Court. It matters not what authorities he may be able to hunt up to the contrary; the established legal interpretation of the country has been laid down to him and for him, and from it he has no legal escape. The Supreme Court, in the case of Groves vs. Slaughter, reported in 15 Peters, decided that slaves, under the Constitution, were not property, but were to be regarded as persons simply. For Judge Kane's benefit we append the language used:

"If slaves are considered in some of the States as merchandize, that cannot divest them of the leading and controlling quality of persons by which they are designated in the Constitution. The character of property is given them by the local law. This law is respected, and all rights under it are protected by the Federal Authorities; but the Constitution acts upon slaves as persons, and not as property."

This is explicit and decisive. Nothing could be more so. It completely knocks away the foundation from the Judge's learned argument, even admitting, which we do not, that whatever is declared property in one sovereignty has the right of transit through all other sovereignties. The Constitution of the United States is the Supreme law of the land; and that supreme law as interpreted to us by the Supreme Court, regards slaves always and in all cases as persons, and never as property. In the words of Mr. Madison, the framers of the Constitution thought it wrong to admit into that instrument the idea that there could be property in man.

For Judge Kane's further edification we append some extracts from the opinion of Judge McLean, his superior, in the case of Jones vs. Van Zandt:

"The Constitution treats of slaves as persons. The view of Mr. Madison, who thought it wrong to admit in the Constitution the idea that there could be property in man, seems to have been carried out in that instrument. Whether slaves are referred to in it as the basis of representation, or as migrating or being imported, or as fugitives from labor they are spoken of as persons.

"Slavery is local in its character. It depends on the municipal law of the State where it is established. And if a person held in slavery go beyond the jurisdiction where he is so held, and into another sovereignty where slavery is not tolerated, he becomes free."

"The power over slavery belongs to the States respectively. It is local in its character and its effects; and the transfer of slaves cannot be separated from this power."

All this, having come from a court which is set over him, is binding upon Judge Kane, and is directly in the teeth of his late opinion.

The claim set up by Judge Kane that the law of nations gives to the owners of property the right of transit over the territory of a friendly power, is also against the well-settled law of the land, so far as it is sought to be applied to slaves. The law of nations is simply the law of natural right; and that law, if Blackstone, and Mansfield, and the legal fathers generally are to be held as of any authority, is utterly at war with slavery, and does not recognize the right of property in man. Under the law of nations, therefore, there can be no such thing as property in human beings, and hence no right of transit for it.

The Constitution and the law of nations being alike hostile to the doctrine of Judge Kane, it follows that all the deductions he has drawn are as worthless as his premises are false.

Pennsylvania can be carried against the Nebraskaites next fall on a Republican platform, and no other. And carried we trust she will be. —N. Y. Tribune.

Right. Pennsylvania is safe for freedom if a hearty and honest union of the Anti-Nebraska forces can be affected. Pennsylvania will be the battle ground on which the next Presidency will be decided. As goes Pennsylvania, so goes the Union. Pennsylvania will decide the question of freedom or slavery in Kansas, and the still more important question of the preponderancy of slavery as the ruling power in the country for many years to come. If Pennsylvania decides for slavery, nothing can stop its onward march. It will so strengthen itself in the succeeding four years that the North cannot resist its sway short of revolution. There is no time to be lost if Pennsylvania is to be harmonized, and secured for the cause of freedom. Happily the opposition have nothing to quarrel about.—The Democracy have secured the Legislature, and the next United States Senator. That bone of contention is removed; and we can see no possible reason why the opposition cannot unite on the principles of the Republican party, which all agree in supporting, and thus march forward to certain victory. Is not this better than to strive after measures at present impossible of attainment, with the certain prospect of defeat?

The result in Allegheny county (Pittsburgh) was received with incredulous surprise when communicated by telegraph.—1,000 majority for the Douglasites in a County known to be decidedly adverse to them. But the full vote by mail dispels the mystery. Here it is:

Canal Commissioner.
Arnold Plumer (Dem.)	10,779
Thos. Nicholson (Fusion)	6,786
Passmore Williamson (Rep.)	2,857
Martin and Cleaver (K. N.'s)	804	8,507
Combined majority against Plumer	1,828

Yet this county elects the whole Democratic ticket and puts Plumer 993 ahead; and so it is with others.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Tribune does not show the whole strength of the opposition to the "Douglasites." At least 1600 old line Whigs and Republicans voted the Democratic ticket for the purpose of defeating the Know Nothings. Last year Bigler's vote, when there was a heavier turn out than this year, was only 5116. This is 1663 votes less than the vote for Plumer this year. If there can be a complete union among the opposition forces, Allegheny county will give 2,500, or 4000 majority against any Nebraska man the Administration party can set up. The Democrats of this county do not claim their success as a victory. They acknowledge that they owe their success to strength not their own, and which they cannot command if the opposition pursue a prudent course.

A Dreadful Murder at Cumberland.

Cumberland, October 16.—Our town has, for the past twenty-four hours, been in the most intense excitement, occasioned by two of the most appalling and unprovoked murders on record, the whole object being, it is supposed, plunder. The victims are Dr. J. P. C. Hadel, formerly Health Officer of Baltimore, but for the last three years a practising physician of this city, and a young man in his office, named Henry Graf. A German pedlar, lately from Pittsburgh, whose name is not known, has been arrested, charged with the murder, and against whom the testimony is so strong that he would almost be lynched, if suspicion could be had of him by the outraged community.

It appears that on Monday evening the body of young Graf was found in the mountains, a short distance from town, bearing evidence of having been killed by a gunshot wound. The body was recognised and brought to town, and on inquiry, it was ascertained that Dr. Hadel was also missing, and inquiry was made of his friends in Baltimore, without obtaining any information in relation to him. In the meantime a German pedlar was arrested on suspicion of murdering Mr. Graf, and on searching him, the watch and chain, pocket-book, and clothing of Dr. Hadel were found in his possession, leaving no doubt as to his having met with the same fate as his unfortunate young friend.

The murderer was arrested at 12 o'clock on Monday night, and the most intense excitement existed until daylight this morning, when a large body of citizens started out to search for the body of Dr. Hadel. The search was continued until about 10 o'clock this morning, when the body was found in the mountains, horribly mutilated. He had been stripped naked, his head cut off from his body, and stabbed, besides the mark of having been shot through the back of the neck. The head is still missing, and it is supposed that the murderer has concealed it in order to prevent the identification of the body.

It appears that the German pedlar who has been arrested on the charge of being the perpetrator of this horrible massacre, is a stranger in Cumberland, and has been boarding at a farmer's house by the name of Steel, near town, for some days past. On Sunday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock this stranger and Steel Doctor were seen going over the bridge in the direction where the latter was murdered, and Mr. and Mrs. Steel say that this man called and got his gun about that hour, and it is believed he enticed the Doctor out by telling him some one was very ill, and shot him through the back of his neck, as his coat, found in the possession of the supposed murderer, had the mark of a bullet through the collar.

After murdering the Doctor it is supposed he returned to Steel's, as the latter says that he brought his gun back about noon, and immediately started towards Cumberland. He was next seen in the Doctor's office, in Cumberland, by a gentleman who called there to enquire for the Doctor. Young Graf was there with him, and on the gentleman enquiring for the Doctor, he was told by Graf that he was out in the mountains, and had met with an accident, having fallen in the water. It was supposed that the murderer had told Graf this tale and that the Doctor had sent to him to bring him some dry clothes. The murderer and Mr. Graf were seen in the afternoon going in the same direction, Mr. Graf carrying a bundle with him. Steel also says that this man, accompanied by Mr. Graf, came to his house, and the man got his gun again, and they went on up the mountain together. Two other gentlemen also say that they passed them together on the mountain, and five minutes after heard the report of a gun.

The body of Graf was found with a gun shot wound in the back, and he had been beaten over the head, it is supposed, dying in a few moments. The accused returned the gun and the bundle which Graf had with him, to Steel's again, and left them there. His name is unknown.

(SECOND DESPATCH.)

Cumberland, Oct. 16, 3 P. M.—The search for the head of Doctor Hadel has been continued throughout the day, and a party have just arrived, having found the head buried some distance from where the body was found.

It appears that the German arrested was seen in Doctor Hadel's office on Saturday evening.—When arrested there were found in his possession the Doctor's gold watch, his seal ring with his name upon it, together with all his clothing, books, &c. He acknowledges the stealing of the goods from his office on Sunday night, but denies having seen or murdered the Doctor and Mr. Graf. The supposition is that, after having murdered the Doctor, he enticed Mr. Graf out and murdered him also, in order that he might more easily rob the office, as both of them usually slept in the room over the office, Mrs Hadel and her children being absent on a visit to their friends in Baltimore. The accused had in his possession a large number of books and valuables from the office.

A Mr. Dawson, who is here from West Alexander, recognizes the prisoner as an old offender. He says that he was imprisoned at that place for robbing a store, but broke jail and made his escape to Pittsburgh where he stole a horse, and was re-arrested and brought back to West Alexander, and succeed a second time in breaking jail and making his escape. He is now heavily ironed, and every precaution will be taken to prevent his escape from the punishment that his bloody work demands.

The body of Dr. Hadel has been taken charge of by the Odd Fellows and Masons, in the absence of his family, and will be sent down to Baltimore to night, in charge of Mr. Butler, who has been delegated to accompany it.

Pennsylvania Election.—We have still further official returns, to-day, but they come in slowly. Our table contains returns from 39 counties, which give Plumer a little over ten thousand majority. The counties to be heard from will probably reduce this somewhat. McKean gives Nicholson 190 majority; and Potter, Bradford, Tioga and Susquehanna will also give him considerable majorities.

From the Clarion legislative district we have now the full returns. The vote is close, and sums up as follows:

	Clarion.	Jeffer'n.	Armst'g.	Total.

To B. A. Fahnestock & Co.—

Gentlemen—For five years past, I have used B. A Fahnestock's Vermifuge for an anthelmintic in my practice; my attention was first called to it in a case where I had failed to dislodge worms with calomel, quick and new haes. A bottle was obtained and used with desirable effect; since then I have prescribed it for hundreds of patients, and in a large majority of cases with complete success. In one case a single bottle of the medicine brought away from one patient Ninety Eight Worms. I have never known it to do harm, and I am induced to make this statement from an honest conviction that it is the most valuable Vermifuge yet known. Such is my confidence in its "worm-killing" power, that I recommend it to either physicians in this section, and furnish them with the article.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Have you a Diseased Liver?—The question, though startling, is confidently suggestive, when the fact is taken into consideration that diseases of the Liver have become most alarmingly frequent in the United States. Indeed, there are few formidable diseases that are not in some way traceable to a deranged state of that important organ. Many of the complaints usually classed under the head of Consumption, have their origin in the Liver. "Any remedy that would insure regularity and healthful action in the Liver, would be a blessing to mankind" has been the exclamation of thousands. That remedy has been found; it is safe and sure. When a fair trial has been afforded it, it has never been known to fail.

Reader, have you any disease of the Liver, or disease which you believe proceeds from hepatic derangement?—Lose not a moment, but purchase a box of Dr. M'Lane's Pills, and they will restore you to health. It is the only remedy yet discovered, in which implicit confidence may be placed.

P. S. Dr. M'Lane's celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills can both be obtained at any of the respectable Drug Stores in this city.

☞Purchasers will please be careful to ask for and take none but Dr. M'Lanes Vermifuge and Liver Pills. There are other Vermifuges and Pills now before the public, but all comparatively worthless

A Gentleman living on Squirrel Hill says:—"My wife has been sorely afflicted with Dyspepsia for the last year. During this time, she had used so many medicines, which seemed to aggravate rather than remove the disease, that we almost despaired of, her recovering. Living in the country, she enjoyed all the advantages of pure air and exercise, yet each day she seemed to be more enfeebled. With some difficulty I persuaded her to take your Holland Bitters, which I am happy to state has completely cured her."

Liver Disease.—Carter's Spanish Mixture as a remedy for liver diseases, and the number of favorable cures connected with a disorganized state of that organ, is unrivalled.

Hundreds of certificates, from the highest sources of personal influence in the city of Richmond, Va., might be given here, if they were found in his possession. We have only room to refer to the extraordinary cure of Samuel M. Drinker, Esq., of the firm of Drinker & Morris, Booksellers, Richmond, Va., who was cured by two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, after he was suffering from disease of liver. He says its action on the blood is wonderful, better than all the medicine he had ever taken, and cheerfully recommends it to all. See advertisement.

The Greatest Medical Discovery OF THE AGE.

Mr. Kennedy, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a running sore mouth

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm in the head or body.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ear and blotches among the hair.

Two to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rheumatism.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst cases of scrofula

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing in the pastures, and along our roadsides, should contain in the juice of its stem, virtue yet is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start There are no ifs nor ands, buts or ba's about it emitting pur pimples, scrofula, or running sores, it will expel the last tint of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know its effects in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures that were ever performed. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, scrawny sickly children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by this medicine.

To those who are subject to a sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief to catarrh and distressing cough. Some who have been constive for years, have taken and been benefited by it. When we say it will do it, it work quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular real jings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it. On the contrary, when that feeling is gone you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that man ever listened to. A change of diet is not necessary—eat the best you can get. I have likewise an herb, which, when steamed in sweet oil, dissolves scrofulous swelling of the throat and under the ears. Price 50 cents. Price of the Medical Discovery $1 per bottle.

Directions for Use.—Adult, one table-spoonful per day. Children over eight years, dessert spoonful; children from five to eight years, a tea spoonful. As no direction can be made applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Mr. Kennedy gives personal attendance in bad cases of scrofula.

From the Home Journal, New York.—"So much is ever acquired so rapid celebrity and universal popularity as Lyon's Kathairon. The virtues of this remedy are so fully set forth in the circular notice of it, to be seen in our newspaper advertising, that there is hardly any room left for us to speak of it. In most cases we may add that a long train of hopeless ills to which humanity is heir, there is now presented a healing tongue, a remedy based upon the only foundation of an incontestible wreckmount of existence, are Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters. JUST PUBLISHED,

THE OLD HOMESTEAD,

BY MRS. ANN S. STEPHENS,

Author of "Fashion and Famine,"

In one large 12mo. volume. Price $1.25.

A New Book by the author of "Fashion and Fame," which attained, in three months, a sale of Forty Thousand copies, and which was republished in Leipsic, St. Petersburgh, Vienna, and in literary editions in London, is a matter well calculated to excite more than ordinary interest.

The Old Homestead, while not so startling and intense in its character as Fashion and Famine, is, if anything, of more thrilling interest, and equals with greater force to the sympathies of the reader. The story opens in the City of New York, where there are many scenes of pathos, suffering, and tragic power; but as the book progresses, the reader is carried to the quiet and beautiful scenes around the Old Homestead among the Catskills to the Hudson, where we are presented with some of the most delightful and graphic rural pictures ever given to an American book. Mrs. Stephens displays, in this book, a humor that little less than that of Dickens, and a dramatic force, grasp of thought, power of expression, and vividness of description, of which she is peculiarly the master—superior, we think, to any of her cotemporaries.

From the New York Day Book.

We have no hesitation in pronouncing this book superior in pathetic interest, descriptive power, and earnest Christian sound vigor, to the lady's recently published.

From the Boston Post.

As a literary work it is far superior to Fashion and Famine. Rather more pathetic and intensely interesting.

From the Boston Olive Branch.

Many of the scenes are laid in the humble walks of life, and all the characters, with one descriptive powers are brought to bear upon them. The comfortless room, where the girl-mother waits for her darling father; they meet in his last death hour, and part forever; the simple but beautiful description of Christmas Eve; the long night of Rebecca's solemn burial, with only those two lonely children for mourners; and the exquisite picture of Ida at the Old Homestead, all show the tenderness of the woman, combined with the skill of the artist.

From the N. Y. Express.

The moral of this work is invigorating, and no person can rise from its perusal without being made, in the end, a better man or woman.
