PITTSBURGH GAZETTE

From the Knickerbocker.

RAILROAD EXPERIENCES.

I met him in the cars
His face was really full of care,
He had a wife and children dear,
And his purse his errand bare.

He was further more embellished
By a ticket in his hat—

The conductor touched his arm
And awoke him from a nap,
When in answer to the feeling fine
He gave the ticket to the man
And his pocket to the purse
In the yellow lettered cap.

So, intending fair to talk,
We talked out our ware,
With allusions to the scores
That stung the tongue to silence her;
I guessed, his eyes were ill
By a speculative fly.

The border of many men
Were hidden as in ships,
And many bodies lifted
From the waves by fingertips,
While the cars that surely fell
On hearers in a heap,—

All the while the swaying cars
Kept rumbling o'er the rail,
And the frequent whistle sent
Shrill cry of warning to the gale,
And the sisters pattered down
On the grimy floor like hail—

When suddenly a star
And a thrice-cry-pointed hand,
Made the people in alarm
From their seats in confidence jump
Into their feet, the sound to be
Fire, fire, fire in the train.

A spluttering, crackling,
A something reeking twists,
As the heavier cars a lurch
Behind the flying switch,
And a mingling mass of moan
And a mingling mass of groan
Lay writhing in the ditch.

With a palpitating heart
My friend secured to me
The children of his loins
And wife, and then set free
And the two of us were
Of the dolphin whom he died.

I never met rapt content
In mingling with my life,
But my shadow a legal writ,
Being therewith jostled out
By my brother and his wife.

And he writes me the result.
In the quiet way as follows:
Dick Tarpin's wife got twelve
A breach of penal statutes,
And himself got nine months
Of ILLOIS!
