AMERICAN SYMPATHY WITH RUSSIA.—The British press seems to take it for granted, judging from the tone of one or two papers in New York, that the sympathies of the American people, in the great contest now waging between the Allies and the Czar, are with Russia, and we observe that some few American papers are endeavoring to account for such sympathy, which they take for a foregone conclusion. Both parties have mistaken the fact. The masses of the American people do not sympathise with Russia—on the contrary there is a general and heartfelt sympathy with the allies, and every success of the Turks and English and French in this contest is received with unequivocal demonstrations of pleasure; and the anxiety to see the colossal power of Russia humbled and curtailed is scarcely less here than in France and England.

There are doubtless certain classes and interests in this country, of Russian tendencies. A portion of the Irish population, without any distinct Russian predilections, are yet desirous to see England humbled, and a portion of our Southern slaveholders may have a natural sympathy with the slaveholders of Russia, but the extent of this Russian feeling is very limited, and has but small influence on the general opinion of the country. The American people have always had a kindly feeling towards France, for the timely aid she rendered us in the War of the Revolution, and although averse to the despotic government of the present Emperor, the sympathies of the people are with the people of France in the present contest. Towards the English people there is a still warmer feeling, growing out of our common origin, institutions, religion, and language. The spirited rivalry which exists between the two nations, in the race of progress in commerce, arts, literature, science, and religious philanthropy, instead of weakening rather increases the attachment professed by each for the other. It would be singular, indeed, if the American people should sympathize with an autocratic and sternly despotic governments and a semi-barbarous people, of a different race, language and religion, in a quarrel brought on by aggression upon a weak and falling power, instead of exhibiting the perfectly natural and warm interest in the manly and chivalric interference of nations of high civilization and of liberal ideas, and, in the case of one of them, of liberal institutions near akin to our own, and which in common with us is the Defender and Promoter of the Protestant Faith—the last and not the least incentive to friendship and sympathy.

THE VOTE FOR SPEAKER.

The following is the closing vote for Speaker, on Saturday, when Banks' vote ran up to 100. We italicise the vote of the Pennsylvania opposition members, by which it will be seen that the body of the delegation on that day very wisely, and as it was very proper they should, abandoned Fuller and went for Banks. Nothing less than this would have satisfied their constituents. Mr. Edie, however, adhered to Fuller, voting in company with rabid Southerners, and so did Millward and Tyson of Philadelphia and Pearce, of the Potter district. Mr. Broom could not find any one fit for his vote short of Alabama. The following is the vote:

The Cleveland Leader has an article on the proposed Republican National Convention in this city, from which we take the following:

"It seems to us that the best way to prepare for a nominating convention, will be, first, to have by the common consent of the Press, and our active friends, an informal gathering of Republicans at Pittsburgh, on the 22d of February. Let all our active friends, in the Free States and Slave States, who can do so, assemble there. A consultation can there be held and a National Committee can be appointed of one from each Free State, and from such Slave States as may have friends of the Republican cause. And through this committee a call can be issued for the holding of a nominating convention, and the opponents of slavery extension in all the States can be invited to unite in chosing delegates."

THE AUSTRIAN CONCORDAT.—Austria remains faithful to her traditions. The worship of darkness is to be strengthened and fostered. Intolerance begins to prevail as stringently the spirit of the age considered, as that which marked the times of Ferdinand or the Rudolps. At this epoch, when Spain and Sardinia are making the utmost efforts to free themselves from the dominant of Rome, Francis Joseph prostrates himself at her feet, dragging down the nation with him. The concordat lately concluded between the Pope and the Austrian Government is proof of this, and is a discreditable recession on the part of the latter Power. It surrenders what had been gained in the partial emancipation of the Austrian nation, as well as of the Court, from Roman preponderance. The work of the Imperial reformer, Joseph I. is undone by it. In fact, the new act restores the Papal power to an extent as great as Hildebrand could have demanded. The most striking points of the concordat in qustion, may be summed up as follows:

Communications between the clergy and the Pope are once more free from any control whatever of the Government, and so are the communications of the Archbishops and Bishops with their dioceses, and with the people. The head of the hierarchy in this respect is made absolute. All public and private schools are put under the supreme superintendence of the Bishops. Only Catholic teachers can be appointed, whatever may be the object of tuition in public schools and gymnasia, and all of them are under clerical superintendence. The Emperor appoints the chief inspectors of all these establishments, but from among individuals nominated by the respective Bishops. They have the right to prescribe irreligious books; and thus the whole human mind through all its extension, is put under the extinguisher of clerical censure. The Bishops have the uncontrolled power to inflict ecclesiastical punishment of every kind and character on all believers who offend the Church. Jurisdiction respecting the punishment which confers "disfavor" or deprives temporal estate is given to the Church. In personal causes of a civil nature, the clergy are to be judged by civil courts, and for criminal offenses they are to be judged by criminal tribunals; but the Bishop to whose diocese the offender belongs is to be immediately informed, and the sentence cannot be executed without the proceedings being made known to him. Priests cannot be condemned to imprisonment is to be changed in a monastery or religious house. Priests may dispose of their personal property by will according to the canonical law. The Church may acquire new possessions, and all Church property is inviolable by the civil power, even by the Emperor himself.

Such is the concordat. It may be said that the country in question is already blessed with immunities and privileges, and will again have a good time of it, but we will be sure with reason and discretion! The wise Francis I. to rule over spiritual subjects may now be realised by his successor. F. F. Trifler.

BREAD MEETINGS.—Among the items by the last steamer was one announcing the holding of meetings throughout England concerning the high price of bread. We extract the following account from the London Times of Nov. 20:

"Three open air meetings were held on Sunday in South Staffordshire and the neighborhood of Birmingham upon the subject of the high price of bread. Two of these meetings were in the morning; one at Spon-lane, Staffordshire, and the other at Deritend-pool, near Birmingham.—At the former 10,000 people were present, and it was resolved to send a deputation to the Queen to represent the alleged grievances of the people in the matter of dear bread. At Deritend-pool about 1,000 persons were present, and several speeches were made by operatives. The afternoon meeting took place at Hockley Pool, near Birgmingham, and was attended by 1,200 persons. Here the proceedings were mixed up with the people's charter and the writings of Mr. Urquhart. A Mr. G. White read a memorial to the Queen which had been agreed to in the morning at the Spon-lane meeting. It was to the effect that the people of South Staffordshire were suffering great privations in consequence of the high price of food; and it prayed her Majesty to issue an order prohibiting exportation of grain, and to establish public granaries, and check undue speculation in corn. Mr. White stated that he had written to her Majesty's Private Secretary, asking when it would be convenient to receive the deputation, and that he had received an answer to the effect that memorials to the Queen should be presented through the Secretary of State for the Home Department.—The Speaker proceeded to say that the memorial had been the result of a solemn vote from a respectable meeting at Spon-Lane and that if the Queen would not accept it from the people, they would depute two members of Parliament to present it, and that it should not be sent to Sir George Grey to burn in the fire. He then asked if the meeting wished the memorial to be presented to the Queen in that way, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular results, but you must not be alarmed—they always dimp pear in from four days to a week. There is never a relapse. On the contrary, when that feeling is one you will find yourself like a new person. Indeed some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that man ever its heard to. No change of diet is ever necessary—eat the best you can get. It invigorates both, which, when summed in sweet oil, dissolves nervous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price 50 cents. Price of the Medical Discovery $1 per bottle.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adult, one tablespoonful per day. Children over eight years, dessert spoonful. Children from five to eight years, teaspoonful. As no direction can be made applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., July 4th, 1855.

To R. A. Fahnestock & Co.—

GENTLEMEN—Having sold your valuable Vermifuge for some time, and having seen it used for many years, we would recommend it to all who are in want of a medicine for all cases of worms. In no instance have we ever seen any evil results following its administration, but always it answered the purpose for which it was intended, and been entirely satisfactory.

Believing that everything that has been set forth in regard to its virtues is strictly in accordance with our observations not only as practitioners, but as men of business, we would unhesitatingly say to all who want a medicine that it is the best Vermifuge now in use, and that its virtues are best known when tried.

The Greatest Medical Discovery OF THE AGE.

Mr. Kennedy, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cure every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within the twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a morning sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples of the face.

Two to three bottles will cure the system of blues.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor of the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ear and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and ulcerating ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rheumatism.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing in the pastures, and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start to the surface in sores, itch, blotches, or he's about it exiting some cause and not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I knew its effects in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, worthless children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in nausea and dizziness. Some who have been costive for years, have taken and been regulated by it. Where the body is sound, it will do no injury, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular results, but you must not be alarmed—they always dimp pear in from four days to a week. There is never a relapse. On the contrary, when that feeling is one you will find yourself like a new person. Indeed some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that man ever its heard to. BURNED TO DEATH.—The Cleveland Plain Dealer of Monday says:

"Mrs. Mary Ann Hall, wife of Mr. Thomas Hall, residing on Ohio street, was burned to death on Saturday evening last, in the following manner: She was sitting in a rocking chair, with her feet resting on the hearth, when her clothes caught fire from the grate. She was discovered by her husband, who was in the room at the time, and who immediately ran to her assistance, but before he could reach her she was enveloped in flames. He succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before she was so badly burned that she died in a few hours afterwards."

MARRIED—On Tuesday 11th inst. by Rev. T. B. Lyman, D. D, Rev. Edward G. Ross, Esq. of Ashtabula, O. to MARTHA, only daughter of John D, Davis, Esq.

DIED—On Monday morning, at 7 o'clock, Mr. JOHN CHAMBERS, from the effects of a fall by him on Saturday. SPECIAL NOTICES.

Derangement of the Liver is one of the most common, as well as the most formidable of diseases known to American physicians. It had for years attracted the closest attention of the medical faculty in all parts of the United States, and yet up to the time of the discovery of Dr. M'Lane's great specific, it was almost beyond the reach of medical skill. Thousands had perished without even a hope of relief, and although thousands may yet be destined to feel the direful effects of this most complicated disease, it is now, thanks to the research of Dr M'Lane, almost completely brought within the scope of medical control. The proprietors of the Liver Pills are confident that they offer a remedy which has been fully tested by time, and which has never failed of success when fairly tested.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, and take none else. There are other Pills, purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public. Dr. M'Lane's Liver Pills, also his celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in the United States, and Canada.

H. P. HELMBOLDT, Chemist, No. 253 Chestnut st., Phila.,—Dear Sir: It is with much pleasure I recommend to the afflicted your valuable Fluid Extracts. I have prescribed them in the various complaints for which they are recommended, and have found them equally efficacious.—They are the most active preparations of the kind that ever came under my notice. Very respectfully yours, Nelson's Ambrotypes.

The Ambrotype is decidedly the most pleasing, beautiful and durable style of Portrait ever known to the art. Their tone is left velvety and harper, signs in a degree never obtained by the old process. Being taken on glass, they are exceedingly brilliant and yet unlike the daguerreotype, they are perfectly distinct in any angle. Little children are obtained not only more beautifully but in almost inappreciable point of time by the Ambrotype. By no other process can pictures be made so pert ally beautiful. We respectfully request our friends and the public generally to call and examine specimens at the Ambrotype Rooms. Remember the place, NELSON'S GALLERY, old Post Office Building, Third street, near Market.
