The Forgery Case.

The very interesting case, which has been in trial for eleven days, Commonwealth vs. Levertus Thomas, indicted for Forgery, was brought to a conclusion yesterday, by Col. Black for the Commonwealth.

At the opening of the case, we presented the statement made by Mr. Thomas Mellon to the jury, for the prosecution, but the President's and Governor's Message, and other matters, which crowded our columns, prevented us publishing from day to day the testimony elicited.

The case was peculiarly interesting from the age and social position of Mr. Thomas, the defendant. He is seventy-five years of age, is wealthy, and possessed much influence in Washington county where he resides. James McCorkle, the prosecutor, formerly resided in this vicinity, but upon the consummation of a train of circumstances, which the jury decided yesterday to have been planned by the defendant, was obliged to move to this city.

The prosecution endeavored to prove that in 1845, McCorkle was the owner of a valuable farm in Washington county, but burdened with liens to the amount of $3000, most of which were owned by Thomas. That Thomas induced McCorkle to buy a piece of property in Sligo, for which he received a judgment note, upon the condition that he would not enter it up. That ten days after that he did enter it up, preventing the sale of the farm to a man named Brown, and causing McCorkle to be wholly dependant upon him. That Thomas afterwards bought the farm, binding himself to pay all judgments by the sale of it and pay to McCorkle the difference between the price received, and the amount of the judgments. That he willfully represented that the property was sold at a lower sum than it actually was, thus leaving McCorkle in his debt about $400, and that finally he brought a suit on the judgments, when two documents, one a promissory note for $465 and an article of agreement representing the alleged terms upon which Thomas would buy, were produced, both of which were forged. A verdict was obtained, and McCorkle's property swept away.

A former agent of Thomas, a man named Harger, and Mrs. Harger, Mrs. McCorkle, and W. McCorkle, were the principal witnesses.

The defence endeavored to prove the handwriting on these alleged forged documents to be genuine, and called a number of witnesses to impeach the testimony of Harger.

On the tenth day of the trial of this cause, Monday, Messrs. Mellon, for the Commonwealth, Hopkins, Brady and Col. McCandless, for the defence, addressed the jury. Col. Black closed for the Commonwealth, yesterday, in a speech three hours in length. We took full notes, but are obliged to content ourselves with a mere notice.

After reviewing the points in the case, explaining this and impressing that circumstances in his ablest manner, he closed by referring to the appeal for mercy by the defendant's counsel. Though he sympathized with the feelings which actuated the learned counsel, he could not forbear to call the attention of the Jury to the fact that there were other parties in this matter—parties who had been stripped of their all by the avarice of the defendant—who were now lying under the impeachment of perjury, for the facts stated by them in the cause. Let mercy be tempered with Justice.

"There was a homely but old adage, that "it is a long lane that has no turning." The guilty man may travel for years along pleasant ways, overshadowed by green trees, and regaled by the fragrance of sweet flowers. He may pursue his path for years without a single misstep, but for all that he would arrive at a point where these ended, and the rugged road of justice awaited to be entered upon.

Turning to the defendant, he concluded saying—Old man, you have arrived at that point. Not that he said it, but the Almighty. Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?

The eloquent gentlemen held his audience—a very large one, the bar and lobby being crowded in the strictest attention during his long but impressive address.

The Court took a recess until two o'clock.

Afternoon Session

The Court having reassembled, proceeded to charge the jury very learnedly upon the law involved in the case. The charge occupied about half an hour in delivery. At half past two the jury retired—at half past four they returned a verdict.

Amid profound silence the clerk recorded the verdict, and read to the jury as it stood recorded "That the defendant Laverton Thomas, was GUILTY in manner and form as he stood indicted."

The defendant seemed unmoved by this result. The Court then placed him under the custody of Sheriff Patterson, who conducted him to the County Jail.

After the sensation of these events had somewhat subsided, Col. M'Candless moved for a new trial and in arrest of judgment.

It was one of the most pitiful sights we ever beheld in a Court Room, the removal of the old man to the county jail, and even the professional gentlemen present, who may be presumed to have witnessed sufficient of the misery of this world to render them somewhat callous, felt in common with the spectators, that, though the verdict was just, it was sorrowful that the crimes of the prisoner should have brought him to this extremity.

THE ALLEGHENY WHARF.—By request we published a correction of the statement of the amount paid by Mr. Scott, Master of the Allegheny Wharf, into the treasury, published in the Dispatch. The figures as they appeared, were handed to us, and were intended, we presume, to show the actual state of Mr. Scott's account in refutation of the statement in the Dispatch that some two hundred dollars remained uncollected. We presume we will have to shoulder the "bull" over which our friend of the Dispatch makes merry.

BENCH WARRANT CASE.—On application of W. H. Williams & Co., bankers, a bench warrant was issued yesterday, by Judge Williams of the District Court, upon which Solomon Shetter, blacksmith and forger, Middle alley, Allegheny, was brought before his Honor, the Judge, upon the charge of secreting his goods to defraud his creditors.

Mr. Shetter was sworn and examined at length, by Messrs. Courtney and Leslie, counsel for Messrs. W. H. Williams & Co. E. P. Jones, Esq., appeared for Mr. Shetter.

The Judge withheld his decision in the case.

OFFICERS OF THE HOUSE OF REFUGE.—At the election held on Monday the following named gentlemen were chosen Officers and Managers of the House of Refuge for the ensuing year: President, James Anderson; Vice President, Joseph Painnock; Treasurer, Joshua Hanna; Secretary, B. J. Hanna; Managers, James McCandless; Wm. Eichbaum, George Darsie, L. R. Livingston, George Weyman, J. Schoonmaker, J. T. Logan, G. L. B. Fetterman, R. M'Knight, J. K. Morhead, Allen Kramer, John Herron.

THE ELOPEMENT CASE.—J. D. Mahon, Esq., in the Criminal Court, yesterday moved for the discharge on bail, of a German named Metzgar, confined in jail for assault and battery upon the oath of his wife. He proceeded to state that the wife had thrown her husband into jail in order that she might elope with a man named Haller, which she did on Monday, leaving two children unprotected. Upon consultation the Court granted the motion.

The above facts were published in the Gazette at the time. The heartless wife and mother has made good her escape.

MAN AND WIFE WITH THE MANIA A POTU.—A man named Joseph Logue appeared before Alderman Donaldson, at an early hour yesterday morning, and wished to be sworn as to the amount he had upon turn as "they were after it." His manner soon convinced the magistrate of the cause, and he resolved to conduct him to his (Logue's) house on Mattock's Alley, Fourth Ward. When arrived there, he found the wife in the same condition. The Alderman left the neighbors on watch to present them committing outrages.

THE "CONFIDENCE" GAME.—A "confidence man" attempted to obtain a watch from Mr. J. B. McFadden, jeweller, on Monday, by means of false representations, and nearly succeeded.—Mr. Mc F. called at the Hotel personally, the individual was stopping at, to leave the watch ordered, but while there circumstances induced a suspicion that the young man was a swindler. Mr. McFadden charged him with being one when the latter read of. He was captured in the street, but not having succeeded in his intentions, was allowed to depart unmolested.

THE TUNNELING OF THE CANAL IN ALLEGHENY.—A large force of workmen are engaged, in pursuance of a recent ordinance of the Allegheny Councils, in opening up Lecock street across the Canal, where the branches of the Pipe to the Aqueduct. The canal will be tunneled. This improvement has long been needed by the citizens in the upper part of Allegheny.

ROBBERY OF CHURCH FURNITURE.—A valuable carpet which was recently laid down in the chancil of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Gallatin's township, was stolen on Friday night last.

DIVIDEND DECLARED.—The Managers of the Northern Liberties Bridge Company, have declared a dividend of two dollars and a half per share, to be paid on and after the 10th inst.

DISCHARGED.—The Grand Jury, having completed their labors, announced that fact to the Court, yesterday, whereupon they were discharged.

BOROUGH OF BIRMINGHAM.—By the published account of John McKee, Esq., Treasurer, it appears that the excess of liabilities over the assetts of the borough, amounts to $14,295 22.

COLD WEATHER.—Yesterday was one of the coldest days we have experienced this winter. It interfered very much with politicians.

This interest of the day yesterday centered at the polls, and we are consequently without our usual variety of news.

The bond holders of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Co. representing nearly a million of dollars held a meeting to-day and adopted a resolution appointing a Committee to represent their interests before the Legislature of Maryland, in order to procure the management of the Canal divested of State control or for the sale of said works on terms securing to bond holders payment of their claims, a coupon on every bond and a tax of ½ per cent was assessed to defray expenses. WASHINGTON City, Jan. 8.—It being generally understood that the Democratic caucus last evening resolved to stick together by their platform and nominees and when the House meets to-morrow to vote against all motions for a recess or adjournment until a Speaker is elected, the session of to-morrow is looked forward to as fraught with important results. It is hoped that the Speaker will be chosen before the close of the week.

COMMITTEE OF ARBITRATION, FOR JANUARY
GEO. W. CASE, V. P.—W. DAWSON, W. S. LAVELY, THOMAS BELL, E. P. SHRIVER.

REVIEW OF THE PITTSBURGH MARKET.

For the Week ending January 8, 1856.

Business is dull, the rivers being altogether closed.—Transactions are almost exclusively confined to the wants of the country and retail home trade. The manufacturing trade is, however, fully employed, the mills and factories being all busy, and the warehouses accumulating stock for an active spring trade.

There is a moderate but not pressing demand for money and the banks are able to meet all demands upon them from first class borrowers. Currency rules at ¼@¾ discount, and eastern Exchange is plenty at par for sight drafts.

Prices of produce remain unchanged very generally, but the settled cold weather tends to stiffen the views of holders of flour. Pork has declined to 5, nat. at Cincinnati, a fall of 1¾ since the opening of the season. There is also a little more activity in the demand for other articles, at 13½ for dipped Candles. 14½ for Mould and 26 for Davis A Co's. Adamantine Candles. Common Rosin Soap, 5; prime do. 6¾; Sawyer's Toilet do. 10.

CHEESE—supply moderate, and demand confined to the wants of the local and country trade; sales to the retail trade at 10, and large lots held at 9¾.

DRIED FRUIT—sales of Peaches in lots to the trade and to go out of market at $1,50. Apples are held at $1.00 ₩ bus, with very little demand.

FEED—sales at mill at 75 cts per 00 lbs for Bran, 60 for Shorts, 70 for shipstuff and 75 for Finished middlings.

FISH—holders of Mackerel No. 3, large, are firm at $10 @$10,50, to the retail and country trade. Codfish are steady sales at 5, by the bbl. Gibbed Herring are firm at $5,50; Lake Fish are steady—White 10,00@10,50 ₩ bbl. Trout $9,@$9,50; bbls White $5,00@$5,25, do Trout $4,75@$5,00.

FLOUR—very little has been done, beyond occasional sales of small lots made from Pennsylvania wheat, on wharf and from wagon, at $7,62½@$7,75, for superfine and extra, and for several days past there have been no transactions from first hands. From store, extra and extra family flour, made from selected wheat, has been selling at very low last rates at $8,00@$8,25.

GRAIN—Wheat is a shade firmer; sales of 5000 bus Tennessee Red (prime) to arrive, at $1,05, and 250 bus do from store at same; sales at mill of Pa. Wheat within the range of $1,40@$1,55. Rye is in regular demand at 80 and more than made up by increased shipments from Boston.

ASHES—no change; Pearls are held firmly at 8@8½; and Pots at 6¼, four mos; Eels Ash steady at 3½@3¾, time.

APPLES—dull; a few sales of Pippins from store at $1,00 ₩ bbl which is the ruling rate for choice varieties.

BACON—there is a moderate supply of new Bacon on the market, but very little demand; sales in small lots at 9¾ for Shoulders, 10@10½ for Sides and 11@11¼ for plain Hams.

BEANS—very few coming in; from first hands $1,60@ $1,75 could be obtained for small white, and from store $1,75@$2,00.

BUTTER & EGGS—very little doing in either. Prime roll butter is quoted at 20@21, and inferior do at 15@18. Eggs are held at 14@16. Eggs are but little inquired for, and we repeat our former quotations, 16@18.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—very little arriving, and no sales reported from first hands; from store, there are occasional sales in sacks at $2,25 ₩ 100 lbs.

BROOMS—the market appears to be well supplied; from store sales are making of common at $1,75 and good to choice at $1,50@$2,00 ₩ dozen.

BUCKWHEATSUES—sales as usual at New Brighton, of Buck cut at $1,50 ₩ doz. Larger cuts $5,50; Small do. $4,00; Keisers $3,00. From store, Buckets $2,25; Large Tubs $7,50 Small do. $7,00.
