PITTSBURGH GAZETTE

RED CAMOMILE TO DESTROY INSECTS.—The Journal of Agriculture de Bayeux states that a powder made from the flowers of the red camomile (Pyrethrum carneum) kills, as odor as strong and penetrating that it kills all the insects and all the vermin, &c., which smell, now so certain a sign of destruction. It has been found that an Alsatian merchant traveling in the south of Asia observed that the inhabitans sprinkled themselves with a powder to prevent the sting of insects.—He found that the powder was nothing else than that made from the flowers of the red camomile. The plant is quite hardy, and is now cultivated to a great extent in Southern Russia. In "Prince Demidoff's" time 25,000 lbs. of powder were annually made for exhaustion by the Russian Empire. Baron Folkershaun has published a pamphlet on the cultivation of red camomile. He says: "This powder preserves you from fleas and bugs; it kills flies, gnats, maggots, lice, and even the worms which are produced in the wounds of our domestic animals." He hopes it will be tried on insects injurious to vegetature, and, adds, that if experiments demonstrate the efficacy of the powder in this respect, each person could cultivate in the corner of his garden plants enough to kill the insects, &c. which ravage his field.

CHILSON'S PATENT AIR WARMING AND VENTILATING FURNACE.

THE subscribers offer for the consideration of the public, the most perfect and economical Warming and Ventilating Buildings, combining in itself all the desirable properties of the perfect Heating apparatus, insuring perfect comfort, without any of the disagreeable sensations or sources of annoyance, in heated rooms usually experienced. The occupants of a room or building experience all the comfort arising from a warm atmosphere, they are free in the enjoyment of good health and health sustaining air, not constantly heated by being subjected to the drying, parching heat of its power to sustain life being impaired by coming in contact with an ever heated surface.

These results have been produced, by constructing the furnace in such a manner that the heat is diffused at a low temperature, which is the only way to warm buildings now known to the public. In producing this result, another object of great importance is attained in the saving of economy; the heat-absorbing as well as radiating surface is so great, that a much smaller fire is required to heat the same space before they are driven off into the chimney, thereby greatly reducing the consumption of fuel. This is the case over the whole surface of the brick flue, for the fuel cannot come in contact with the iron, preventing the over heating of the iron, and consequent waste of the furnace.

The plans of the Furnace are so constructed as to afford room for making a tight cast and slay joint, preventing the escape of gas, and a great deal more annoying to the tenants, and so injurious to the health and furniture.

The air to be warmed is taken directly from the outside of the building in all cases, thus insuring a supply of pure, wholesome air to the apartments. It is also designed to perform the office of ventilation, and to accomplish this object, a register is placed in the room, communicating with the chimney flue, which is so constructed as to create a current sufficient to carry off the impurities which are the result of insensible discharges from the lungs and skin, and which if allowed to remain will prove highly injurious to the health and furniture.

By this property they do as much good in preventing the escape of the noxious gases which they are making everywhere.

Lever Complaint, Jaundice and all Bilious Affections arise from derangements of the digestive organs, or some obstructions of the liver. Torpidity and congestion will soon become manifest—either symptom is sufficient to indicate the health, and the constitution is frequently undermined before any serious change in the system is observed. Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nausea, Pain in the Side, &c., are the results of a disordered liver, and if the Pills freely and frequently, to keep the bowels open. The proprietor would remark that he has been for years a resident of the New England Manufactories, in which he has had a good opportunity of observing the effects of Patent Medicines, Gaiters and Shoes, made out of the Dead Waters of Newfoundland and the use of Mercurial Pills, and he would say to the readers of this, who wish to get good custom made work, he manufactures and keeps constantly on hand, at his manufactory, No. 76 Fourth Street, Gaiters and Brogans, Boy's and Youth's Brogans, Ladies' Gaiters and Shoes, of the best material and workmanship.

In reference to the prices he need say nothing more, than that he is going to sell as cheap as any other like establishment.

Thankful for the liberal patronage heretofore received he solicits further favors, and from his long experience in business he feels confident that he is able to give general satisfaction. JAMES HOBBS,
