The State of the control of the cont

Knosas. The enactments besting that name and that its "acts were illegal, unjust, and oppose the constitution of it." They were never moved upon by an organized invasion from Missouri; and they are not only utterly infamous in themselves, but they are hostile in word and spirit to the Constitution of the United States and the law of Congress organizing the Territory. To speak of such things as "laws" is in itself an outrage. To show their infamous character, we subjoin the follow-their probablication is needed now to stir up the sluggish blood of the North and show the people what it is the President threatens to enforce at the point of the bayonet.

"There are this day located in Kansas some three thousand heads of families and nearly as their judgment means the sense of the mants the sense of the mount of the and the interpolation is the property as the power of Congress over the whole subject is plenary and unlimited, they may accept any constitution, however framed, which in their judgment means the sense of the mants. There are United States functionsries to whom they like wise yield that obedience which the laws require. But, in addition to these, there are nots passed and officors appointed by a body which as sembled last Summer under the style and title of a Territorial Legislature for Kansas, which they know to have been a gigantic and concerted fraud—a Legislature elected by an armed irruption of several thousand Missourians, who took possession of their polls, overawed or superseded the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the election judges, poured in illegal votes by hat-fulls, and thus temporarily subjugated the private secretary.

But little business has been accomplished yet by the Legislature, most of the time having been occasioned in political circles by the with-fully and accomplished yet and the succeeding day entered the subjugated the succeeding day entered the field again. "There are this day located in Kansas some three thousand heads of families and nearly as many single men, of whom at least two-thirds demand Freedom for all and are determined that Kansas shall be a Free State. According to every principle, profession, and pretenses on which the passage of the Nebraska Kansas bill was advocated and carried, the will of this majority ought to be declaive. That it is a majority, even in the apprehension of its enemies, is proved by the fact that they have never dared to tele one election be held in the Territory since the sound of Missourians to yerawe, browbeat and outvote the sound residence of the sound of Conyention as well as to the ropker of the sound of the sou
