The Presidency-Spirit of the Press. Very few presses of character in the North have, as yet, manifested a disposition to support have, as yet, manifested a disposition to support Fillmore. In New York, the Express and the Commercial Advertiser sustain the nomination while the Courier and Enquirer, the Tribune, the Times, and the Evening Post are hostile. The Boston Traveler, which is friendly to the ticket, says that the papers in that region have not yet defined their position. Coldness and apathy every where, and enthusiasm nowhere, is rather ominons. more and Donelson at Philadelphia, and of men equally obsequious to Slavery at Cincinnati, we ought to be able to trimuph on the direct rote of the People. Should the Fillmore diversion New Jersey to the Democratic licket, we must take our chance in the House, where we have so recently carried the Speaker, and where we should start with the vote of thirteen States cer-tain, and a tie in three or four others. I think our chance there would be worth that of both the opposing parties together.

rather ominous. The Boston Courier eays: "The stormy pro-ination of one of the best men in the Union as a candidate for President, but in a house coessen-tially divided against itself the nomination as not sppear to be a natter of much consequence." The Beston Atlas cousiders the nomination as
