Republican Declaration of Principles.

ADOPTED BY THE PITTSBURGH CONVENTION.

1. We demand and shall attempt to secure the repeal of all laws which allow the introduction of slavery into territories once consecrated to freedom, and will resist by every constitutional means the existence of slavery in any of the territories of the United States.

2. We will support by every lawful means our brethren in Kansas in their constitutional and manly resistance to the usurped authority of their lawless invaders, and will strive the full weight of our political power in favor of the immediate admission of Kansas to the Union as a free, sovereign, Independent State.

3. Believing that the present national administration has shown itself to be weak and faithless, and that its continuance in power is identified with the progress of the slave power to national supremacy, with the extinction of freedom, from the territory, and with increasing civil discord, it is a leading purpose of our organization to oppose and overthrow it.

THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.—The State ticket nominated by this Convention is as follows:

Canal Commissioner—Geo. Scott, of Columbia.
Asst. General—Jacob Fry, of Montgomery.
Surveyor General—Timothy Ives, of Potter.

Who George Scott is we are unable to answer. He has never been heard of, before, out this way. The others have been, to a very limited extent, but the Convention seems to have thought obscurity no objection to its nominees.

The list of delegates to the National Convention is composed of the following:

The resolutions adopted go the whole figure. They were written by Hon. J. L. DAWSON, but would do much more credit to STRINGFELLOW or ATCHISON than to him. They endorse the administration of Pierce, the fugitive slave law, and the practical operations of the Kansas Nebraska bill; and set up the Constitution, "with the exposition thereof which has been afforded by the practice of democratic administrations," as Pierce's included, as the "highest law" of a citizen's obedience. The following is among the resolutions:

Resolved, That the Democracy of Pennsylvania, following the counsel of some of the wisest statesmen of the North and South, were ready on more than one occasion in the past to extend the Missouri Compromise line to the Pacific, so as to make it the basis of a final settlement of the question of slavery in the Territories: but when this proposition was rejected in 1848, on the ground that it involved an undue concession to the South, by the very men who now clamor for a restoration of the Missouri line, there seemed to be but one wise alternative left, and that was to refer the whole question of slavery in the Territories to the people thereof, to be regulated as they may deem proper; and we therefore cheerfully extend our hearty support to the policy of the government as recognized in the Compromise Measures of 1850, and embodied in the laws organizing the Territories of Kansas and Nebraska.

Now Mr. Dawson knew, as the Convention also knew, and as the whole party knows, that the question of Slavery has not been left to the people of Kansas. They know that under the hideous "laws" which President Pierce's administration (the standard of their "highest law") has proclaimed it his purpose to enforce at the point of the bayonet, the people of Kansas dare not, on pain of imprisonment or death, discuss or express an opinion on Slavery; and they know, too, that the people of Kansas have been overawed and overridden, by armed incursions of borderers, under the countenance of the National Administration, to prevent them from settling the question of Slavery. In the face of such facts as these, the passage of this resolution is an instance of brazen effrontery without a parallel.

THE COMPLETE LETTER WRITER.—The "Americana" have found an epistolary prize in ANDREW JACKSON DONELSON. He writes a letter a day, on an average, and he promises to be very useful to his party, in that way. The following modest effusion of his is just now going the rounds:

PHILADELPHIA, March 2, 1856.

To the editor of the American Organ at Washington:

SIR—I am referred to in many places as the adopted son of Gen. Jackson. Permit me to ask that you will give this note an insertion in your columns, in order that the mistake may be corrected. The adopted son of Gen. Jackson bears his own name, and is now living at the Hermitage. The General was my uncle, and my guardian and friend from my infancy to his death.

The mistake has doubtless originated from the fact, that the General was in the habit of addressing me as his son, and that I was so long and so intimately associated with him.—I was his aid-de-camp from the time I entered the army until he left it, and his Private Secretary throughout his Presidency, a confidential relation which was never interrupted as long as he lived. I am very respectfully, your obedient servant, A. J. DONELSON.

The self-laudation here indulged in is admirable. The wonder is excited in our minds, on reading it, how so great man, and one who was so much thought of by Gen. Jackson, should have consented to run for the insignificant office of Vice President. Mr. Fillmore should exchange places with him.

Another letter followed this, addressed to a Baltimore meeting. The burden of it, like the preceding, is Gen. Jackson and himself.—He kindly informs the meeting, however, that he cannot make any more public speeches, else he shall never be able to get home. His whole attention will be given to the writing of letters, commencing with himself, and ending with Gen. Jackson, the intermediate space being filled up with Gen. Jackson and himself.

The opinion, nevertheless, seems to be gaining ground that the relationship involved in being the nephew of Gen. Jackson's wife is too remote to give the possessor of it any claim to the public regard. An exchange describes him as being, not an eagle, but a buzzard dropped from an eagle's nest.

A CALL, signed by seven of the members of the Maryland Legislature, has been issued for an Old Line Whig State Convention, to assemble in Baltimore on the 21st of March. The signers of the call express a belief that the safety of the Union depends upon the reorganization of the Whig party. They will probably find, when the convention meets, that men never before known as whigs will assume the management of the party, and attach it as a bob to the tail of the Fillmore kite.

The Farmers' High School of Pennsylvania.

A new era is arising in agriculture. It is no longer the only subject neglected by the State, although the most important of all others.—High Schools of Agriculture have been established in several States, and others, including our own State, have taken the inciplent steps towards promoting the welfare of this immense interest. We see it stated, also, that a project is entertained of creating a distinct Agricultural Bureau in the Department of the Interior, to be presided over by some able and enlightened master of Agricultural Science, and to mature and establish a system of careful experiment and observation throughout every portion of our country touching the diverse capacities of soil, climate, &c., and the most economic and effective means of increasing Agricultural production.

The Farmers' High School of this State is no longer a prospective boon, something in the distant future to be talked about as a possibility, but it is an actuality, and soon to go into operation. This school was incorporated on the 22d of February, 1855, at the instance of and under the auspices of the State Agricultural Society, and was organized under its charter at Harrisburg on the 14th of June in that year and a site selected in Centre county, on the land of Gen. Irvin.

The trustees are now said to possess land worth $12,000 and $25,000 in money. But they require, besides the various buildings for the accommodation of two hundred students, numerous buildings peculiar to this institution, such as barns, sheds, tool-houses, &c. They have therefore gone before the Legislature, asking a donation of fifty thousand dollars. From the argument which they present in support of their petition we select the following extracts:

"Other and younger States have made appropriations to similar objects. Why should Pennsylvania, with her vast agricultural resources, developed and undeveloped remain inactive?

This institution proposes, by uniting the solid knowledge with daily toil, to impart wisdom to the one and add dignity to the other.

It proposes to remedy an evil which exists at every literary institution in the Commonwealth. That evil is the low repute in which manual labor is held by the student. We have had it in true, farms connected with some of our colleges, upon which those of the students who choose might lessen the expenses of acquiring their education by manual labor. Those who wrought upon the farm were by those who did not labor esteemed poor; and, like the poor man's children, educated at public expense, under the act of April 4, 1809, (5 Smith's Laws, 781,) they became a distinct class, out of from the society of those who, by the very distinction thus created, were led to believe their parents rich. It is thus that manual labor is degrading in the eyes of the youth of our colleges to such an extent that in nine instances out of ten they are graduated with an utter distaste and abhorrence for the pursuits and occupations of their fathers, whether it be sold or in the shop.

Our present school laws placing the children of the poor and the rich upon one common platform, it is esteemed honorable in all to acquire knowledge at the public expense.

"It has been estimated that, after the institution shall have been put in operation, with suitable buildings, four hundred acres of such land as that which has been secured, and free from debt, the necessary expenses of the student, including boarding, washing, and tuition, will not exceed seventy-five dollars per annum.

"It is not proposed to teach the dead languages. If desmed by any essential to a good education they should be acquired prior to the age at which pupils can be admitted into this institution.

"With this exception it is proposed to afford the student, in a four year's course, as complete and thorough an education as can be acquired at our best literary institutions.

"How many farmers can afford, out of the nett profits of the farm, to give their sons a collegiate education at an expense of not less than three hundred dollars a year? How few could not afford it at an expense of seventy-five dollars?

"Experiments in the introduction of new seeds, grains, roots, modes of culture, farm implements, &c. are generally of too troublesome and expensive to be often tried or fully tested by the individual farmer.

"The cautious farmer will wait the result of experiments and tests constantly going on at the institution, and introduce upon his farm only such seeds, grains, plants, and roots, and such modes of cultivation as experience has shown to be adapted to his soil and climate, and such machines and implements of husbandry as have stood the test of actual trial.

"The Farmers' High School of Pennsylvania is emphatically a State institution. The Governor and Secretary of the Commonwealth are the President of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society are ex officio members of the Board of Trustees. Three of the nine remaining members of the board are to be elected annually by the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society, and three representatives from each county agricultural society in the Commonwealth."

We hope the Legislature will not hesitate to grant the sum required for so noble a purpose. Millions have been squandered for purposes which were at first of but doubtful utility, and which experience has proved to be a foolish waste of money. Let us have a few thousand to promote an avocation in which a large part of our citizens make a living, and which is the source of the wealth and prosperity of the Commonwealth.

THE ALLEGHENY CITY COUNCILS on Thursday night passed the following resolutions, in Select Council, yeas 7, nays 4, and in the Common Council without opposition.

Resolved, By the Select and Common Councils of the city of Allegheny, in behalf of the citizens thereof as an integral part of the county of Alleghany, that we do earnestly remonstrate to the Honorable Legislature of the State, against the passage of any law authorizing the County Commissioners to issue or guarantee any bonds for any Railroad purposes whatever, whereby the property of our citizens may become liable in any way for the payment of principal or in interests any contingency whatever.

Resolved, That we approve highly of the bill introduced into the Senate, to restrain any city, county, borough, or township, from issuing any bonds, or guaranteeing the loan of any money to any corporation or association.

Resolved, That a certified copy of the above resolutions be transmitted to the Representatives from this county in the Legislature.

THE MISSING STEAMER PACIFIC.—The Pacific left Liverpool on the 23d of January last, and has not been heard of since. The lapse of six weeks has made many begin to fear the worst of her fate, but those who are best informed in marine matters still cherish the belief that she is safe, and will yet return to port.

The Pacific had forty-five passengers, of whom, about fifteen had taken passage in the first cabin, and the rest in the second cabin. The following is said to be a correct list of all:

J. Figuriat, Mr. Wilson, H. C. Shilden, Mr. Lieden, A. W. Atwater, W. McDougal, Mr. Panchet and lady, G.N. Cutter, R. K. Haight, H. Geis, Mr. Steere, L. Barbour, lady and child, H. Dutilh, James Glen, A. Erving and lady, Mr. Kershaw, Mr. Ridgway, A. F. Carter, Mr. Hept, Mr. O'Reilly, Mr. Charlsworth, Mr. Charriaud, W. B. Symmons and lady, Wm. Topliog, S. B. Barridge, lady and child, Miss Jordan, Wm. Peel Reilley, H. Trimmer, Misses Heck, R. Espie, Mr. Lappa, G. Jordan, W. Whittaker, Mr. Codoss, Mr. Dorisano, Mr. Wilson, A. Moore, Le Grand Smith.

Augustus Erving, Esq., is United States Secretary of Legation to St. Petersburg, and he resides in Hartford, Conn. He is accompanied by his wife.

Mr. A. K. Carter was in England as the agent of Woodworth's planing and spoke making machines, Newark, N. J.

Le Grand Smith is well known as a theatrical and musical agent, and had gone to England to engage a company of actors for Mr. Marshall, the lessee of the Broadway theatre.

Mr. Bidgway is one of the firm of Howland & Irving, owners of one of our lines of Liverpool packets.

Mr. R. K. Haight, the proprietor of the St. Nicholas Hotel, is also among the passengers.

LATEST FROM KANSAS.—We cut the following from the St. Louis Democrat of Tuesday:

To the Editors of the Missouri Democrat:

LAWRENCE, Kansas, Feb. 20, 1856.

Night before last, Sam Latins, who assumes to act as "Sheriff of Douglas County" when Jones is absent, proceeded to Hickory Point with about 20 men, to arrest Mr. Brasson, (who was rescued from Jones' custody on the 26th of November last.) But some free State men, neighbors of Mr. B., got wind of the intended arrest about 5 o'clock yesterday morning. They rallied immediately at the house of Mr. B., and prevented by their presence the contemplated arrest. Latins with his troops came to the conclusion that it was best under the circumstances for them to quietly retire, without having accomplished their object. Mr. Brasson came into this city yesterday, where he now is. No one is yet advised whether or not Latins will call upon his friends to come upon Lawrence, and demolish the city, if Brasson is not given up.

Coleman, the murderer of Dow, was in town a few days since, and purchased a shot gun at one of the stores. It is rumored that he was one of Latins' posse night before last.

Yours in haste, L. F. P.

These remedies the passage of any law authorizing the County Commissioners to issue or guarantee any bonds for any Railroad purposes whatever, whereby the property of our citizens may become liable in any way for the payment of principal or in interests any contingency whatever.

Resolved, That we approve highly of the bill introduced into the Senate, to restrain any city, county, borough, or township, from issuing any bonds, or guaranteeing the loan of any money to any corporation or association.

Resolved, That a certified copy of the above resolutions be transmitted to the Representatives from this county in the Legislature.

THE MISSING STEAMER PACIFIC.—The Pacific left Liverpool on the 23d of January last, and has not been heard of since. The lapse of six weeks has made many begin to fear the worst of her fate, but those who are best informed in marine matters still cherish the belief that she is safe, and will yet return to port.

The Pacific had forty-five passengers, of whom, about fifteen had taken passage in the first cabin, and the rest in the second cabin. The following is said to be a correct list of all:

J. Figuriat, Mr. Wilson, H. C. Shilden, Mr. Lieden, A. W. Atwater, W. McDougal, Mr. Panchet and lady, G.N. Cutter, R. K. Haight, H. Geis, Mr. Steere, L. Barbour, lady and child, H. Dutilh, James Glen, A. Erving and lady, Mr. Kershaw, Mr. Ridgway, A. F. Carter, Mr. Hept, Mr. O'Reilly, Mr. Charlsworth, Mr. Charriaud, W. B. Symmons and lady, Wm. Topliog, S. B. Barridge, lady and child, Miss Jordan, Wm. Peel Reilley, H. Trimmer, Misses Heck, R. Espie, Mr. Lappa, G. Jordan, W. Whittaker, Mr. Codoss, Mr. Dorisano, Mr. Wilson, A. Moore, Le Grand Smith.

Augustus Erving, Esq., is United States Secretary of Legation to St. Petersburg, and he resides in Hartford, Conn. He is accompanied by his wife.

Mr. A. K. Carter was in England as the agent of Woodworth's planing and spoke making machines, Newark, N. J.

Le Grand Smith is well known as a theatrical and musical agent, and had gone to England to engage a company of actors for Mr. Marshall, the lessee of the Broadway theatre.

Mr. Bidgway is one of the firm of Howland & Irving, owners of one of our lines of Liverpool packets.

Mr. R. K. Haight, the proprietor of the St. Nicholas Hotel, is also among the passengers.

LATEST FROM KANSAS.—We cut the following from the St. Louis Democrat of Tuesday:

To the Editors of the Missouri Democrat:

LAWRENCE, Kansas, Feb. 20, 1856.

Night before last, Sam Latins, who assumes to act as "Sheriff of Douglas County" when Jones is absent, proceeded to Hickory Point with about 20 men, to arrest Mr. Brasson, (who was rescued from Jones' custody on the 26th of November last.) But some free State men, neighbors of Mr. B., got wind of the intended arrest about 5 o'clock yesterday morning. They rallied immediately at the house of Mr. B., and prevented by their presence the contemplated arrest. Latins with his troops came to the conclusion that it was best under the circumstances for them to quietly retire, without having accomplished their object. Mr. Brasson came into this city yesterday, where he now is. No one is yet advised whether or not Latins will call upon his friends to come upon Lawrence, and demolish the city, if Brasson is not given up.

Coleman, the murderer of Dow, was in town a few days since, and purchased a shot gun at one of the stores. It is rumored that he was one of Latins' posse night before last.

Yours in haste, L. F. P.
