The suicide of Mr. John Sadleir still occupies general attention. The extent of his delinquen cles is still unknown, and probably will never be divulged since those whose fortunes are most seriously compromised will naturally make every endeavor to conceal losses which would phose their own solvency in question. It is certain, however, that the estimates of his frauds have not erred greatly on the side of exaggeration, and that they probably range from £500,000 to £800,000. He was chairman of the London and County Bank, Deputy Chairman of the East Kont Railway, Principal founder of the Tippe persay Joint Stock Bank, &c. The two former establishments sustain no losses by him of any moment but of the other two one has been nearly and the other quite rained. The Boyal Swelth Bulley and the other quite rained.
