Republican Declaration of Principles.

ADOPTED BY THE PITTSBURGH CONVENTION.

1. We demand and shall attempt to secure the repeal of all laws which allow the introduction of slavery into territories once consecrated to freedom, and will resist by all constitutional means the existence of slavery in any territories of the United States.

2. We will support by every lawful means our brethren in Kansas in their constitutional and manly resistance to the usurped authority of their lawless invaders, and will give the full weight of our political power in favor of the immediate admission of Kansas to the Union as a free, sovereign, independent State.

3. Believing that the present national administration has shown itself to be weak and pliable, and that its continuance in power is identified with the progress of the slave power to national supremacy, with the extinction of freedom from the territory, and with increasing civil discord, it is a leading purpose of our organization to oppose and overthrow it.

THE STREETS.—We are glad to learn that our articles on the condition of the streets have met with general approbation; but we shall be better pleased to know that they have aroused our citizens to active exertions to induce amendment. Our efforts will prove abortive unless our strictures are backed up by a resolute determination in favor of reform manifested by those more immediately interested. That lawsolemnly passed are permitted to fall into desuetude, through the opposition, or indifference, or neglect of the citizens, is one of the signs of the times not favorable to our institutions. In this case the laws are eminently proper, and necessary for the welfare, health and comfort of the people, and they are not opposed by any who regard the common decencies of life, and yet men are elected from year to year to carry out the laws, who take a solemn oath to discharge their duties, and are paid therefor, who pay no regard to their obligations. If the citizens of each Ward would form a Club for this purpose, and hold monthly meetings, and divide their Wards into districts, and confide each district to the over sight of some person who lived in it, the reform could be brought about with very little trouble to anybody. We shall refer to this subject from time to time, unless a decided reform is effected, or we are constrained to come to the conclusion that the people do not desire clean streets.

IMPORTANT MOVEMENT.—We see it stated in some of our city papers that the Steubenville and Indiana Railroad Company contemplate a change in the gauge of their road, from 4 feet 8½ inches to 4 feet 10 inches. The former is the Pennsylvania gauge, and the latter the Ohio. The origin of the adoption of the Pennsylvania gauge was the idea of a trunk line, of a uniform gauge, from Philadelphia to the Far West; hence the name given to the road, "Steubenville and Indiana," which, as matters now stand is calculated to deceive those not well posted up in Railroad topography. The terminus of the road is at Newark, Ohio, where it connects with the Ohio Central, which is on the Ohio gauge, and there is no prospect of the Pennsylvania gauge being extended beyond that point. As there must be a break of gauge somewhere, the most convenient point is Pittsburgh, where the Pennsylvania gauge ends, and the Ohio gauge westwardly begins. Here is the great point of transhipment, for rivers, canals and railroads, and here is the natural and convenient point for the break of gauge. The Pittsburgh and Steubenville road will find the Ohio gauge much the most convenient, and to the Steubenville and Indiana road the contemplated change is most important, as when the "circumbendibus" is finished, it will be connected at both ends with roads of the Ohio gauge. If this change is made, when the latter road is finished, which it will probably will be this summer, cattle and freight cars can be sent from the interior and southern counties of Ohio, to Pittsburgh without transhipment.

ILLINOIS POLITICS.—All indications point to the nomination of Murray M'Connell as the Democratic, and Col. W. H. Bissell as the opposite candidate, for Governor. The Springfield Journal has the following regarding the latter gentleman:

The anti-Nebraska opinion through all portions of the State is rapidly settling on Col. Bissell, as the most suitable opposition candidate for the office of Governor of Illinois at the next election. Without regard to other questions, all who are opposed to the national policy of the so-called Democratic party on the subject of slavery, seem to look to him as their standard-bearer in the next Gubernatorial contest, and will fight gallantly and in solid phalanx under so brave and popular a leader. We are gratified to be assured that Col. Bissell, though not solicitous for office, may be prevailed upon to respond to the call which is going up all over the State, and allow himself to be the people's candidate in the approaching struggle.

SOUTHERN EMIGRATION TO KANSAS.—The Kansas correspondent of the New York Times says:

"Emigrants are coming every day from the Northern and Eastern States, and report many more on the way about leaving their homes to settle in Kansas. The emigration of Freemen to this State promises to be very large the present season. But few have yet arrived from the South. A few weeks since 50 arrived from Georgia determined to remain here long enough to make it a Slave State, but four-fifths have already left, gone back, and in a short time they will doubtless report themselves in Georgia as having seen the Kansas elephant as much as they want to."

THE CONCERT TO-NIGHT.—Our readers will not forget the Concert to-night, advertised by Prof. De Ham. The programme has been well selected, and those who ought to know expect the Concert to be a success.

KANSAS AND ARKANSAS.—The Democratic party oppose the admission of Kansas on the ground that her application, not being made by the Territorial authorities, but by an independent Convention of settlers, not previously authorized by Congress, is illegal. Yet it would puzzle them to point out the page of the Statute Book, which renders illegal such a course of proceeding. There is nothing in the Constitution that requires the application to be made through Territorial authorities, or the Convention to be held under the supervision of Congress. There is no law requiring it. There is not even a Congressional usage requiring it, for States have repeatedly been admitted, upon application made in just the way that this is, and with Constitutions framed by Conventions, called, held, and acting precisely like the Kansas Convention. California was. Michigan was. And so, substantially, was Texas.

If we go back only twenty years, we shall find the Democratic Party insisting upon, and carrying out, the very course they now condemn. In 1836 came to Congress the application of Territory lying just adjacent to Kansas, resembling it in name, and forming part of the same Louisiana Purchase. No law had been passed by Congress authorizing a Convention to organize a State. On the contrary, Congress had positively refused to pass such a law. The application was not made by the Territorial authorities. Neverthless the Settlers' Convention framed a Constitution, presented it to Congress, and asked admission. Not a single remonstrance on the score of "illegality" was uttered on the Democratic side of the House.—The subject was referred to a Committee, and in due time its Chairman, Mr. Buchanan, reported a bill, which was passed on the 15th of June, 1836, by Democratic votes, and in now in full force. It is as follows:—

"Whereas, the people of the Territory of Arkansas did, on the 30th day of January, in the present year, by a Convention of delegates called and assembled for that purpose, form for themselves a Constitution and State government, which Constitution and State government, so formed, is Republican; and whereas, the number of inhabitants within the said Territory exceeds 47,700 persons, computed according to the rule prescribed by the Constitution of the United States; and the said Convention have, in their behalf, asked the Congress of the United States to admit the said Territory into the Union as a State, on the same footing as the original States.

Be it enacted, That the State of Arkansas is hereby declared to be admitted into the Federal Union, on the same footing as the original States," &c. &c.

Here are all the qualifications required before admitting Arkansas, distinctly set forth. Which one of them does Kansas lack? Her Convention called and assembled for that purpose, formed themselves a Constitution and State government." The "Constitution and State government so formed is Republican." The "number of inhabitants" is as great, or greater. The "Convention have in their behalf asked admission" into the Union. Everything has been done in this case that was required in that one. Why then must Kansas be rejected under the same circumstances that Arkansas was admitted?

There is only one reason, and the Democracy own it—Arkansas had slaves, and Kansas has none.—Alb. Eve. Jour.

For the Pittsburgh Daily Gazette.

The Condition of Our Streets and Side Walks.

MR. EDITOR.—I was glad to notice in your paper of last Friday a well minded rebuke to our city authorities for their want of decency, for I can use no other term, in allowing the streets to remain in the filthy condition they are in, and I trust you will keep the subject before the public, until they shall be induced to elect more worthy successors that will not fear the comparatively trifling expense of making the city more inviting to strangers.

But few cities have the same natural advantages for business that we have, and I know of no city that is surgounded by the same lovely scenery, or indeed anything approaching it, and there is no good reason why we should not double our population every decade, but that our city is kept in such an uninviting condition that capitalists from other places, who visit us for the purpose of settling and entering into one or more of its manifold branches of industry, are not willing to live here, because they are not accustomed to living in the midst of so much dirt and filth, and so go elsewhere contenting themselves with small gains, and living more like christians.

We want an infusion of this class of population very much indeed, and to gain it we should be willing to hold out the same inducements in pleasant side walks and clean streets that are to be found elsewhere. It is true our city is one of work shops in a great measure, and the clouds of smoke that hang over it cannot be got rid of by any means that we can think of at present—so one thing at a time—but I trust the day is not far distant when the people will insist that the clouds of smoke now vomited from their stacks shall be consumed.

I have heard the remark frequently made by some of our most intelligent business men, and as their belief, that no western city is increasing in wealth year by year so rapidly as our own, and if this be so, how foolish it is to fear the judicious expenditure of a few thousand dollars on our streets, that would add so much to the comfort of its people.

The writers' business calls him from home frequently, and when he sees the comfortable appearance other cities present and contrasts them with his own, he is ready to write bitter things against the custodians of its welfare. I am surprised that property holders do not look closer into this matter, as I am sure they would find that by making the city more inviting to its population they would soon see an enhanced value to their property, and pocket increased rents, and an increase of business in every department would make us all better off and feel more comfortable at the end of every future year.

I am a renter myself, and for one am willing to pay an increased rent if our city fathers will but make liberal appropriations and see that the Street Commissioners shall do their whole duty in the honest and judicious expenditure of the same; and by the way, whilst upon the subject of Street Commissioners, let me say that we must elevate that office to a greater degree of respectability, by electing men of intelligence and refined tatses, who will not be willing to see the streets and side walks made the receptacle of all the filth and garbage that every lazy, dirty family may think proper to deposit upon them. We have laws upon this subject—let them be enforced against all violators. Lest the present Street commissioners may think I slander them, let me assure them that I know them neither by sight or name, and therefore I cannot have any unkind feeling towards them, personally. There is a law, also, I believe, to make property-holders keep their side walks in proper repair. If there is, let the Street Commissioners look to it, that it be properly enforced against all, without fear, favor or affection, and that speedily.

If these things are neglected this year, I trust the public will arise in their majesty and insulted dignity, and elect a reform ticket next year that will carry out with intelligent liberality, improvements that will add to the decency and respectability of our city.

I trust that all our papers will take this matter up, and ring it in the ears of those having authority, until such a reform is brought about that no reasonable complaint can be made by any one.

T.

THE PERILS OF KANSAS TRAVEL.—We yesterday received a call from our friend Samuel Taylor, of New York city, who has been spending some time in Kansas. He went out there with pro-slavery proclivities—so he says—but the treatment which he received at the hands of the border ruffians on his way home has changed his views, and he now discovers the importance of securing that country to freedom. He was mistaken for one in his life, for a great man, and the rewards of greatness, with the dinners, stances, came very near being the death of him. He tells his own story something after this manner. He took the steamer Omaha at Leavenworth for St. Louis. It happened that Governor Robinson and Gen. Lane had taken passage on the same boat, on their way to Washington. The trip went along very well until the boat reached Brunswick, Missouri, when the spies who now infest the steamers, to scent out the Abolitionists as they call them, discovered that Gov. Robinson was on board, but kept the fact sufficiently to themselves—so he says—but the fact of Kansas was there, was communicated on shore, when a party headed by a son of the Governor of Missouri, boarded the boat and made search for him. Soon after, Mr. Taylor was pointed out to them as the Governor, he bearing some slight personal resemblance to him. This was sufficient—he was seized and dragged on shore—in spite of his protestations that he was no Governor. There he found in waiting for him a rope and other implements belonging to the Court of Judge Lynch. The rabble which had collected on shore demanded that he should be hung at once as a d—d Abolitionist, and preparations for such an accomplishment seemed to be going on with more rapidity than was pleasant to our friend who desired to see his friends in the Empire State once more. He produced papers to prove his identity. The first was a letter from Hon. Thos. Corwin of Ohio. This was sufficient.—Corwin was an Abolitionist, and so was he. He ought to be hung for knowing Tom Corwin. Finally he produced a paper from Robert J. Walker; and some Western Governor, and that seemed to satisfy the Missourians that they had got "the wrong pig by the ear" this time. He was permitted to return on board, thankful for a longer lease of life and glad when the boat shoved off and was once more under way.

This is but one of the innumerrble instances that occur on the route between the free States and Kansas, where personal rights are outraged by a lawless mob. The Slave Propagandists can travel with their slaves and their arms unmolested, but a free man has no guarantee of protection from insult and perhaps death, from the moment he steps on board a Mississippi steamer until he reaches his point of destination. The Missourians have determined if possible, to force slavery into Kansas at all hazzards, and the administration has determined to aid the a ttempt.—Chicago Tribune.

THE RUSH FOR IOWA.—Travelers have already commenced pouring in on us by car loads—many to settle among us—and others to push their way still further West. Our numerous hotels are constantly full to overflowing, and but for the admirable and most extensive arrangements of the Western Stage Company, our resources seem equal to any emergency, and whose endless number of coaches carry off those constantly occurring avalanches of travel, we should soon be overrun beyond all power of accommodation in the eating and sleeping line on any part of the Western country. The immigration has already commenced, and pioneer teams were crossed over on the ferries, these were followed by a still larger number yesterday These people must be good at guessing, as they struck the Father of Floods just as the ice had made room for the passage of boats. They are all in full time for the spring crops, and every body will wish them good luck and a prosperous voyage.—Burlington Gazette.

KANSAS SUBSCRIPTION.—Hon. John Townsend, a State Senator of South Carolina, has remitted to the Kansas Association of Charleston five hundred dollars. He offers that if fifty gentlemen in the State will each subscribe five hundred dollars, he will add another five hundred.

SOMEBODY has said, and a great many persons put faith in the saying, that "We ought always to believe less than we are told." This may be a safe maxim for general use, but when a woman intrusts you, in confidence of course, with her age, you may always believe a great deal more than you are told.

BOSTON FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK.—This institution, whose second annual report is before us, has been as prosperous the last as during the previous year. The whole number of depositors is 9,805, and the total deposits $654,-782 45. This is an average to each depositor of $57 60.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Mrs Hannen, No. 600 Fourth st., says of Dr. McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE, prepared by FLEMING BROS, of Pittsburgh.

NEW YORK, May 15, 1852.

☞ A child of mine showing symptoms of worms, I gave it a Bottle of Dr. McLane's Celebrated Vermifuge, which brought away a batch of worms, numbering, I should judge, about thirty. The child was very sick during the operation, but is now well and hearty.

MRS. TUPP, No. 18 Avenue D, writes under date of August 15, 1852, and says she had been troubled with worms for more than a year, and that she took one bottle of Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge, prepared by Fleming Bros. which brought away from her over three hundred worms, big and little. She now believes herself to be entirely free from disease.

MRS. EUGENE, a German woman, residing at 204 Sly ington street, says that after using one vial of M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge, she passed two large tape worms.

The above certificates are all from parties well known in that city. If there are any who doubt, they have the names and addresses, and can satisfy themselves by personal inquiry.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE, and take none else. All other Vermifuges, in comparison, are worthless. Dr M'Lane's Vermifuge, also his celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all respectable Drug Stores in the United States, and Canada.

Nelson's Ambrotypes.

The Ambrotype is decidedly the most pleasing, beautiful and durable style of portrait yet known to the art. Their tone is left velvety and harmonious in a degree never obtained by the old process. Pictures taken in glass, they are exceedingly brilliant and yet natural, presenting to the spectator the very counterpart of the sitter, whether light, medium or dark complexioned. Even children are pictured not only more beautifully but in almost inappreciable point of time by the Ambrotype. By no other process can pictures be made so perfectly beautiful. We respectfully request our friends and the public generally to call and examine specimens and rates for themselves. Remember the place.
