Great Fire of '45 was celebrated by the ringing cred by Louise commencing to tell me how Mr. Kelly got into her room, but she did'nt go on with it; nobedy took me from the Poor House; told this story to no one; was summoned by a constable to be here; Squire Hagoman didn't sak me anything about this testimony.

At this point the Court took a recess.

APPARNOR RESION.

Henry Edgar sworn—I lived at the Poor House in Nov. lest; now live on the farm adjoining, Mr. Walker told me Mr. K. had recipined and that he had the papers in his pocket to show for it; we met in a blacksmith shop, and I asked him about Mr. K.

on Territories to which it was referred.

Mr. Bayard thought men who were in direct antagonism to the laws of the land had so claim to be heard by petition.

Mr. Mason submitted a resolution resinding the reference to the Committee on Territories.

Mr. Trumbull and Mr. Bayard entered into the general question of Kansas matters.

Mr. Pugh after carefully examining the document, said he belleved it was not the original paper; the signatures are all in the same hand writing, and there are many crasures and interlineations.

writing, and there are many erasures and interlineations.

Mr. Crittenden sald he should vote against the resolution with a view to suppress all designs to distort the Union of this country and the peace of its citisens. This discussion did no good. He wanted to know if the publication in the New York papers was identical with the document presented here, with its erreures and interlineations.

Mr. Seward could not tell, not having comnared the two. He thought such criticisms pared the two. He thought such criticisms were unworthy the great question involved and would more become the cross examination of a
