Mr Errett, chairman of the Resolution Committee, reported the following:

Resolved, That whatever may have been the difference of opinion which have heretofore divided the great political parties of this Republic, there is now but one great issue which the men of the free North are called upon to meet. That is, whether the majority principle shall be supreme for all time by the people to administer of that majority which rules and claims the right to rule the destinies of this nation upon the basis of a favored property, for whose security such rule is openly claimed to be essential.

That while we recognize as the fact that the slave States possess the entire and exclusive management of their domestic concerns, we cannot consent to the further extension, by mere construction, or a principle which derogates from the just right of every Northern man, by degrading him in the social scale, and takes away from the whole population of the Free States the power and influence to which their numbers, intelligence and resources fairly entitle them in the councils of this confederacy.

That it is neither in accordance with the spirit of our race and lineage, nor consistent with the principles on which our Government is founded that twenty millions of free white men shall be controlled in their legislation or reduced to a condition of comparative serfdom, either by the slave himself or by his three hundred and fifty thousand masters and Representatives.

That in the judgment of this Convention, there can be no peace to the Union and no guaranty for its stability until a great wrong is redressed by the re-establishment of the rule of the majority, and lost with the great yearly increase in the preponderance of the Free States in numbers and power, material and intellectual, the monstrous and unreasonable yoke which presses upon us will continue to grow more and more intolerable, until, in the end, if not ejected by the unanimous consent of the nation, the country will right itself by a convulsion as appalling, and regarding the continuous encroachment and insufferable arrogance of the slave power as fraught inevitably with ruin to itself through a revolution and bloody remedy, which can be avoided only either by moderation on the one hand, or a firm and reasonable resistance on the other, we now declare, for the sake of the Union itself, whose existence is thus endangered with all the high hopes which it inspired, our determination and unalterable hostility to the admission of any additional Slave States into the Confederacy.

That hearkening to no further suggestion of compromises with men whom concessions will not satisfy and who are shown to keep no faith, we are resolved from this day forward to stand upon the principle that the provision of the Constitution which makes of the slaveholder a privileged class in this Government, cannot upon any sound rule of construction be construed to apply to states erected out of any Territories subsequently acquired

That the hollowness of the pretence of popular sovereignty resorted to for the purpose of covering or excusing the shameless perfidy involved in the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, is made transparent by the organized conspiracy of the slave holders of Missouri, backed by the public opinion of the whole South, to prevent by fraud, and violence the legitimate expression of the free will of the people of Kansas in the formation of their own government

That the means resorted to for the suppression of that will—the armed invasion of the ballot-box—the enactment of monstrous laws by a ruffian horde of marauders from a slave State, to strangle free thought and free speech —the murder of innocent settlers—the sacking and burning of their towns and citizens under command and employment of the whole force of the General Government in sustaining and defending an outrageous usurpation, and the resort to the bludgeon to restrain and punish the honest utterance of an indignant protest in the very sanctuary of the Federal Capitol—all admonish us that while our hearts bleed for the wrongs of the proscribed and subjugated emigrant, his battle is our own, and that if we could continue free we must look at once to our weapons and see that our powder is dry.

That the system of menace, intimidation and violence, the summary logic of this new chivalry which parries argument by blows and proves its valor upon unarmed and unsuspecting men, which, now fully inaugurated at the seat of government as the process by which the free North is to be "subdued," meeting, as it has done, the almost undivided approbation, and bringing no echo of condemnation whatever from the Press and the Representatives of the Slave States, is a summons louder than the fire guns at Sumpter to every freeman of the North without distinction of party to gird on his armor at once and fall into line with his brethren, with the same unanimity which is sure to prevail throughout the ranks of Slavery.

That we accordingly fling our banner to the winds as members of the great Republican party, with the determination to do or die, if necessary, in the defence of the great principles which it represents—to follow it, if it shall be borne through open sunshine and through storm, and never to pull it down until the great purpose for which we have united is fully consummated and proclaim acknowledged.

Resolved, That the murderous, cowardly and brutal attack upon Charles Sumner was, in the first instance, the act of a ruffian, aided by fellows in infamy; but now, from the approval and endorsement of the Southern "Democratic" press, and the apologetic affirmance of the act by the Northern "Democratic" press, has assumed a portentous importance, involving the manhood of Northern men, and the right of free speech to the halls of Congress.

Resolved, That those who stood by abetting or refusing to interfere, "for fear their motives might be misconstrued," are, alike with the assailant, entitled to the scorn and denunciation of all honorable men—while that Senator has our warmest sympathy.

The report of the Committee was accepted.—The resolutions were amended as printed above, and after some discussion, adopted.

On motion, adjourned.

GENERAL A. E Synod of North America.—June 4 h.—Mr. R. D. Harper was elected as the general Clerk for the Home Mission, for the purpose of collecting information with regard to men and means, and disseminating the same.

The Committee on Claims and Accounts presented their report, which was accepted.

Mr D. F. Reed moved the adoption of the preamble and resolutions on the evils of Slavery, which were adopted by the Associate Synod.

Mr George D. Archibald moved to lay them on the table.

Mr. Miller thought that they should let the world know where they stood on this question; he heartily approved the resolutions submitted; he was a Southern man with Northern principles, had been raised in sight of the overseer's lash—not under it, however—and considered Slavery a great National sin. He was accused of preaching politics; he did not do so, but he thought that it was the duty of ministers to denounce a Government's evil as well as any other evil.

Mr. Taggart rose to speak, but was requested by the chair to let the question be taken, as the members were impatient.

Mr. Taggart did not hold himself accountable for the members' impatience. (Laughter.) He was in favor of the resolutions, as his friend Mr. Miller, from the South, was.

Mr. Nevin, Drs. Forsythe and Kerr, and several other members called on the mover to withdraw the resolutions, which at length he did, at the request of the seconder, though he stated he believed every word contained in them.

The choice of a Missionary to go to Damascus, was referred to the Board of Agency, with power to act.

James Hanna requested Synod not to re-elect him Treasurer, and the thanks of Synod were voted him for his services heretofore.

On motion of Mr. Miller, Mr. Robert Dunlap was unanimously chosen Treasurer of General Synod.

After the transaction of some unimportant business, the Synod adjourned finally, with prayer by Rev. Andrews, of Washington, Pennsylvania.

On motion the various Committees were requested to meet on next Wednesday in the Society's room, to appoint Judges. Public notice to be given in the papers.

Sudden Deaths.—Coroner Alexander, last night held an inquest upon the body of a man named John Weah, who took sick on Penn-st., and was carried into Alderman Parkinson's office, where he died in about twenty minutes.—The jury found that the deceased came to his death from congestion of the lungs and excessive drinking of cold water. He was a laboring man, and had been but about ten days from Ireland.

—Immediately after holding the above inquest, the jury proceeded to the house of a colored man named Butler, on Fountain-st., where a Pennsylvania German, named John Jacobs, had died after a few hours illness. The San Francisco Price Current says it never knew a time when there was so much gold dust in the country as now, (the 1st of April,) reckoning in the thousand counties and the deposits at the various assay office, at the same time, could not have been under eight hundred thousand.

The great bulk of gold reaching town is consigned to merchants in the interior, and they are drawing heavily on their regular proportion. We still hear complaints here from the country does not pay up, although it is difficult to collect to Los Angeles the traders there will, it that do not do so at present.

The supply of money to day has shown increased abundance, and some call loans have been made as low as 6 @ 8 per cent. The current rate, however, is 7 @ 9 cent. Rates are free but few, and borrowers —day have found less difficulty in supplying their wants than for months past.
