the specie." The Convention is fully represented, and the year assembly is animated by one spirit, that of inextinguishable repuguance to the domination and extension of the slave power. It is felt and expressed on all hands, that we are in augurating a new era, and organizing a new party which shall hereafter control the government and policy of this country. There is a far more than an ordinary amount of talent, elequence, wisdom, and character in the Convention, and all are animated by a spirit of harmony, union, and unfaltering perseverance.

This morning the Pennsylvania delegatio held a meeting for consultation, and agreed to not think, however, that his chances for the nominstion are as good, at this moment, as those of Fremont. There is, however, a disposition to pro to union, and to conciliate all the opponent of the administration. I am glad to see the North American newspa per taking strong Republican ground, and I have o doubt it will support the nomines of the Convention. I have got to discover that strong Buchange feeling that was boasted of at Cincinnain this city. I should not be surprised to see all the daily press here except the Pennsyvanian and the Ledger supporting the Republican ticket, I believe this will be the case.
