PROGRESS OF THE CAUSE.—All great reformations amongst men have sprung from apparently small beginnings, and from agents who at first excited only contempt. The Redeemer and Emancipator of men was despised and rejected, as have been all his most distinguished servants and followers. The world laughed, and then raged, when the Monk of Wittemberg struck the first blow at the then almost omnipotent Pope; and the Court of George III. derided the bold men of the American Colonies who first raised their voices in threats of resistance to the authority of that ill-advised prince. So it has ever been, and so it was less than twenty-five years ago, when a few earnest, far-sighted men in our own country began to warn us against the advancing power of American slavery. One universal shout of derision and execration arose against them from the Bay of Fundy to the Gulf of Mexico.

It is wholesome to recall to memory those days of servility and shame, when the entire north, with a few despised exceptions, bowed the knee to the dark spirit of slavery; when mobs, composed of men of wealth and influence, as well as "lewd fellows of the baser sort," crushed out the right of free discussion by brute force and all manner of outrages; when meetings were disturbed and broken up; when lecturers were pelted with both dangerous and offensive missiles, and conventions of delegates were compelled to seek safety in flight. All these things were done in the north, in the free states. But the spirit which prompted men to suffer shame and loss for the cause of truth and right was a spirit that could not be trampled out or beaten down. It grew, and with it grew the arrogance and audacity of the power which the north was then so anxious to propitiate and appease. Terribly have the northern people suffered for these things. The poisoned chalice which they pressed to the lips of the early Abolitionists has been commended to their own. They have been insolently denied their just share in the direction of governmental policy, despoiled by perfidy and fraud of a vast and beautiful territory, and a portion of their people are now dying before armed ruffians who have been set upon them by the men whom, a few years ago, they delighted to call "our Southern brethren."—Earnestly and faithfully were they warned, years ago, of the inevitable consequences of succumbing and cringing to such a power; and well had it been had they heeded the warning.

But great as the mistake was, and shameful as have been the transactions of the past two years, perhaps they were all needed to let us see what Slavery really is. Many of us imagined that under its dark pall there was hidden a vast amount of bravery, chivalry, honor and generosity; but we now see that it is all of a piece; that they who would exact unrequited labor from a helpless fellow being, are mean enough and wicked enough to do and applaud all that has been done in Kansas and in the Senate Chamber. The eyes of the North are now open and its spirit aroused; and that before which it cringed and cowered for so many years, is detested, scorned and defied. The scale is turned. Haman has begun to fall before Mordecai.—Like the weak and vascillating ruler of one hundred and twenty-seven provinces, the American people are beginning to find out that Liberty is deserving of special honor, although it has been kept sitting at their gate clothed in sack-cloth for the past twenty-five years, while Slavery, like Haman, was reveling in luxury and spoils. But it is all right now. The gallows is prepared, and the victim, we trust, will get his due next fall. "Hang him thereon" will be written on every FREEMAN'S ballot.

The fact is the people of both North and South have been laboring under a mistake as to each others' character. Many among us imagined that the men of the South were terrible fellows, who would break up the confederacy and ruin us all, if we should give them the least offence. Hence we submitted, like whipped spaniels, to the degrading yoke of the fugitive slave law.—On the other hand, the South, seeing how easily they could carry their points by bullying and bravado, came naturally enough to the conclusion that the men of the North were really craven in spirit, and that they might impose upon them to any extent. Hence the bold outrage involved in the Nebraska bill. That measure, however, had the effect of undeceiving both; and subsequent outrages have completely turned the tables. They now see that there is a spirit in the North more terrible than their own, because more calm and deliberate. They feel it, and are quailing before it; and their only hope is in their dough-faced allies of the North. We must try to extinguish them.

Now, suppose we gain the victory over them at the coming election, will it endanger the safety of the Union? Not in the least. The South will at once abate their arrogant claims and pretentions, and be content to abide in peace, with such share in the direction of the government as their numbers entitle them to; and Slavery, the cause of all this trouble and strife, being confined to its present limits, will begin to die a natural death, or be transferred to the torrid regions of Central America, where the African race is sure, sooner or later, to gain the ascendancy over the Anglo Saxon. Therefore all we ought to aim at, at this time, is to arrest its further progress over our present territory.

THE SEASON AND THE CROPS.—The Louisville Courier of last Saturday says:

"There is a region of country, embracing an area of two or three hundred miles in diameter, of which Louisville occupies nearly its centre, now visited by a drought almost beyond any former parallel, at so early a period in the season. Within the last three weeks we have traveled over the most of this dry section. Some portions of it have been visited with slight showers, which have proved of signal benefit to the wheat, and had greatly improved the appearance of the oats; but in many portions, the oats and hay will prove almost a total failure.

In Switzerland county, Ind., celebrated for its hay, we understand that many meadows are so short, that there will be no attempt made to cut them.

We saw a letter a few days since from a gentleman in Preble county, Ohio, the centre of the great flax-growing region, which states that there has been no rain in that region since the 6th of December, 1855, and that the spring rains are a total failure, and the meadows are entirely dried up, and that flaxseed will not equal a fourth of a crop. Corn, however, even within this dry region, generally is of good color, and has withstood the drouth better than any other crop, and with timely rains now, the yield will be but slightly affected. Potatoes still continue to look in a tolerable thriving condition, but without rain soon the crop will be materially cut short.

The rain of Monday last extended as far west as Cincinnati, and probably reached the suffering districts here named.

We have seen a letter from a miller in Columbiana county, Ohio, which says that the weevil is destroying all the wheat in that section. We have inquired of some of the farmers in this county, and learn that the weevil has also made its appearance in some fields here, but it is probable that the evil is local and partial, instead of general, and that it affords no cause for alarm or basis for speculation.

HON. E. PECK ON THE BLACK DEMOCRACY.—We observe by the Chicago papers that the Hon. Ebenezer Peck, well known throughout the State as a thorough going and conservative Democrat, declines most emphatically to enlist under the black flag of the Slavery Democracy. At Chicago on last Saturday evening, he made a most powerful and triumphant speech against the nullifying and disunion schemes of the Douglas Buchanan party. He declared his determination to fight in the coming contest for Bissell and Hoffman, the People's candidates, who he believed would be elected by a triumphant majority. So it goes. Everywhere throughout the State, the old friends of JACKSON and true Democratic principles are leaving the party of treason, slavery and Calhounism, and enrolling themselves on the side of the Constitution and right. The spirit of '76 is rife in the land.

FILLMORE IN THE SOUTH.—Since the final setting of the personnel of the campaign, by the nomination of Fremont and Dayton, the opponents of the Administration in Maryland, Kentucky and Tennessee are arousing themselves with renewed vigor in the support of Fillmore, and the Whig and American papers give expression to a confident hope of success.

The Old Line Whigs have been holding meetings in Maryland, and a Whig State Convention is called for the second Thursday of July. All the indications show that this Convention will nominate Fillmore. The Baltimore American, the leading Whig organ in the State, is out strongly for Fillmore. Appeals to the old Clay Whigs to rally for the defeat of Buchanan, fill the opposition papers. The following extracts from articles in the Baltimore American are indicative of the feelings of old line Whigs in that quarter:

"Efforts have already been made, and have been partly successful, in giving the impression abroad that the Old Clay Guard of Maryland will sustain the great calumniator of their glorious old standard bearer in the coming election—a libel as black as that with which James Buchanan struck down and defeated the incorruptible and pure patriot, whose memory we all delight to honor, and whose wrongs we should now with a hearty good will, and an enthusiastic determination, come out in our might and our strength to avenge on the head of his greatest and most unprincipled opponent. James Buchanan is the man who wrote and published the infamous letter, which was used by the present Democratic party with such crushing effect against him,—James Buchanan is the man, who of all other men in the country, knew the utter falsity of the charge of "bargain and corruption" which he succeeded in fixing on Henry Clay.

* * * * * * *

"Why should the Whigs of Maryland collectively longer hesitate, when it is well known that at least nine out of ten of them, in Baltimore certainly, have individually fastened their hopes and political fate upon Fillmore as their only choice, and upon the independent Tennesseean who has so frankly adopted his principles, and have the thousands of conservative Democrats in every State of the Union, and all for the same cause—the Union and the Constitution?

How can we do otherwise when we have only Buchanan on the one hand and Fremont on the other to go to! Buchanan who has been everything by turns, and nothing longer than suited his own personal interests. A conservative, it is true, at one time, in favor of the Missouri compromise when every body else, North and South, were in favor of it. A filibuster with Soule at Ostend, and now approving and endorsing the infamous repeal of the great healing measure, of which the great pacificator, our illustrious leader, the noble Henry Clay, was the chief promoter. And, Whigs of Maryland, Whigs every where, has he not slandered, or permitted to be slandered, while he pretended to be the friend of that great patriot?"

These indications show indisputably that the strong old line Whig vote of Maryland, added to the American vote will undoubtedly lose that State to Buchanan.

In Kentucky and Tennessee the battle is fought between the Fillmore and Buchanan men with an intensity that we have never seen surpassed in any previous campaign. This shows that the Americans there have not given up the contest, but that they fight with the vigor and ardor which is only inspired by confidence.—Louisiana is also a doubtful State, for the Americans there are determined to wage a vigorous contest.

With Fremont in the North, and Fillmore in the South, Buchanan may find that his election is not quite so secure as the overweening confidence of his friends led him to anticipate. As they claim all the Free States, the Americans of the Slave States can see no reason for sacrificing their American principles for the benefit of their darling peculiar institution. The Buchanan men have treated the Republican movement as a matter of no consequence, as the frantic ebullition of a few harmless fanatics, and have boasted so confidently of their strength in New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and other States, that the sectional fears of the South Americans are lulled to sleep, and as there is no fear of Fremont carrying a single State, according to Democratic showing, and as Fillmore is as good a friend to slavery as Buchanan, they very justly and naturally reason that it is a good time for them to seize the opportunity of Buchanan's well known weakness in the South, and of his numerous troublesome antecedents, to show the American strength. The Clay Whigs, too, have a debt to pay, which with long years of interest added, is a portentous sum, and they are determined to pay it to the uttermost farthing. Such is the state of affairs in the South.

The friends of Fremont have the utmost encouragement to stand firm, and to work hard, and they will not only win a glorious victory but will show the Southern Democrats that the friends of Buchanan have most grievously deceived.

HOW THEY GO.—Our country exchanges are just now coming in with responses to the Philadelphia nominations. We have already mentioned that the Schuylkill Miners' Journal and the Westchester Village Record, both influential papers, and neither heretofore identified with the Republican party, have come out for Fremont and Dayton; and we have now to add that the Delaware County Republican, an old line Whig paper, and the Lancaster Independent Whig, an American paper, have both hoisted the Fremont and Dayton flag. The Delaware Republican says:

"The Republican Convention, held in Philadelphia during the present week, nominated for President John Charles Fremont, of California, and for Vice President, William L. Dayton, of New Jersey. The nomination will receive the undivided support of every true friend of Liberty in the North, and will be responded to in a spirit which will dispel all doubts in the minds of those who may be wavering or distrustful of success. We have had some opportunity, within the past few days, to ascertain the correct sentiment of the people from all parts of the North, East and West, and we can truly say that the Convention has acted wisely and well in consulting on that sentiment, by selecting for our standard bearer one who is fully able to carry it aloft with dignity and honor, who will bear it to victory, and who will never desert it in the hour of trial."

The Lancaster Whig endorses the Philadelphia nominations cordially, goes very heartily into their support, and adds:

"The friends of Mr. Buchanan have sent abroad the boast that will he have six thousand majority in this county! And some of them have the bump of hope so marvelously developed as to credit such presumption here. Instead of six thousand majority for Mr. Buchanan, there will be more than three thousand against him, in this county. Mark this prediction. No one acquainted with public opinion in the county, will put it at less; and the probability is that it will be much more."

The Lewistown (Mifflin Co.) Gazette, heretofore a Fillmore paper, last week took down the Fillmore flag, preparatory to supporting the Philadelphia nominees.

The Blair County Whig, Beaver Argus and Crawford Journal all put up the Fremont and Dayton flag, and the latter says that 100 guns were fired in Meadville on receipt of the news of Fremont's nomination.

In Massachusetts, the New Bedford Mercury, which last year went for the old line Whig, against the Republican, movement, has come out for Fremont and Dayton. The Worcester Palladium, heretofore a leading democratic print, edited by Hon. J. B. C. Knowlton, a prominent democrat, repudiates the Cincinnati platform and nominee, and adopts the Philadelphia nominations.

The Albany Transcript, heretofore a zealous supporter of Fillmore and Dayton has lowered the flag.

The Milwaukie Daily Wisconsin, formerly a Whig, and subsequently an American paper, has raised the Fremont and Dayton flag.

AN UNHEAVING OF THE MASSES.—The meeting in the Fifth street Market place, last night, was one of those popular demonstrations which indicate great political changes in the public mind. Without the firing of cannon, or the display of fireworks, the PEOPLE gathered by thousands at the appointed hour, until the Market space from one end to the other was densely filled with a body of men, who ratified, not nominally or coldly, but heartily and warmly, the nomination of FREMONT and DAYTON; and a determination was manifested to confirm this ratification at the polls. This meeting, which was gotten up hastily, and without parade, augurs well for the future. The masses of our people have been incensed with the spirit of 1840—yes, more, with the spirit of '76—and this feeling of patriotism will lead us on to a victory that will rescue our glorious country from the rule of demagogues, and restore peace and harmony throughout the land.—The PEOPLE are all right—verily, they are all right.—Ohio Gaz.

☞We now and then come across a Northern Buchanan paper which tries to shirk the great issue of the campaign—the extension or non-extension of Slavery, but we never yet found an honest and candid paper, North or South, or an impartial man but freely admitted the issue and its importance. It is admitted by the Presbyterian Banner and Advocate of this city, in its last issue in an article designed to be strictly impartial. In speaking of the Presidential candidates, it says:

"Messrs. Fillmore and Buchanan are generally well known. They have been long before the public as Statesmen, and stand high in their respective parties; the one as a Whig, the other as a Democrat. Their views on the Slavery question are supposed to harmonize, each favorable to Southern opinions, and tolerant of the extension of the institution, though they are Northern men."

As an exposition of Fremont's opinions on the Slavery question, it gives his letter in which he says he is opposed to Slavery in the abstract and upon principle, and inflexibly opposed to its extension!

Thus the issue is clearly deduced and stated by this impartial religious paper, which says that Buchanan is favorable to Southern views, and tolerant of the extension of Slavery, while Fremont is opposed to it! No honest man can come to any other conclusion, or make any other statement.

MASSACHUSETTS.—Everything is coming right and straight in Massachusetts. A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Boston, says:

"Mr. Walley, the Straight Whig candidate for Governor last year, has declared himself for Fremont, and his example, it is understood, will be followed by most of the influential Whigs and by many Democrats.

"The best feeling exists among the Republicans toward the North Americans, and a very general determination is expressed to concede to them the State Government for the coming year, in consideration of their assistance in electing Fremont. From present appearances there can be little doubt that our political difficulties in Massachusetts can be easily overcome.

"The demand for Sumner's portrait and for his speech on Kansas is prodigious. Beside innumerable extras issued from the newspaper offices, some of our leading book-sellers, among others Jewett & Co., have got out editions in book shape, and at various prices and in various forms. Every other species of literature suffers from the effect of the public excitement, the newspapers being so interesting that there is almost a stagnation in the book trade. The Life of Fremont, however, is likely to prove an exception, from obvious reasons. Ticknor & Fields have it in press in one volume of 350 pages, finely printed and beautifully illustrated.—It will be sold cheap—75 cents a copy; and apart from its political interest, is said to be a very fascinating narrative of daring adventure and heroic exploit. It will be issued in the course of next week."

SIGNIFICANT.—We published, yesterday, the proceedings of the National American Club on Saturday night. This Club was organized some time since, and has been one of the most effective agents of the K. N. Party in the city. It numbered some 2,000 members, made up from the various City Councils, and has been under the active leadership of its President, Mr. Van Riper. On Saturday night—after the nomination of Fremont by the Republicans and Americans, Mr. Van Riper, exercising a power expressly conferred upon him by the Constitution of the Club, announced his purpose to abandon Fillmore and support Fremont, and appealed to the Club to sustain him, or not—as they might see fit. He was unanimously sustained. This is a movement of a good deal of significance. It shows conclusively enough that the intelligent portion of the American Party see clearly that with Fillmore has no chance whatever of being elected, and that his being a candidate can serve no other purpose than to divide and weaken the opposition to the present Administration: and it also shows that the great mass of that party feel that the paramount issue of the canvass is the question of extending Slavery.

We have no doubt that, as the campaign progresses, this action of the National Club will be extensively imitated. Every day will draw off many from the Fillmore ranks, who see no worthy object to be accomplished by adhering to a candidate whose chances are hopeless, and whose name is used only for factious ends. We should not be very much surprised if Mr. Fillmore himself should eventually come to the same conclusion. When he has been in the country a little longer, he will be a good deal wiser.—N. Y. Times.

INSOLENCE OF A SOUTHERNER STRUCK DOWN.—An incident occurred on Saturday in one of the cars of the New Jersey Railroad, by which the overbearance and insolence of a Southern gentleman was strikingly rebuked by a gentleman from New York. A gentleman from Maryland, in company with two ladies, in Depot at Jersey City, took in the cars, accidentally spilled some on a gentleman from New York, sitting near, which the latter quietly brushed off, but in so doing accidently struck his hand against one of the ladies, for which he immediately apologized.

The Southerner, however, became much enraged, and threatened to thrash him; the reply was that the result might be the reverse, when the Southerner retorted by striking the other in the face, for which he was promptly knocked down, landing at full length at some distance off in the car. When he arose, the New York gentleman handed him his card, saying he could find him at any time. The Southerner finding he was getting the worst of it, offered to apologize privately, which the other refused, demanding an apology before the whole car load, which was done. The New York gentleman then advised him to be more careful next time he attempted to impose upon a Northerner with his Southern insolence.—Newark Daily Adv.

A STEAMER FROM THE MISSISSIPPI TO LAKE MICHIGAN.—The Green Bay Advocate of the 19th inst., announces the completion of the Fox River improvement and the passage of the steamer Aquilla from the Mississippi river to lake Michigan. This is a great event in the history of the North-west, and one which will inaugurate a new and a great era in lake and river commerce. All along the shore of the river the Aquilla was greated with cheers by the assembled people.—Hands of music, salutes of cannon and banners and mottoes, greeted her arrival at every village and city. The citizens of Green Bay held a grand festival in honor of the occasion. Addresses were made, a procession formed, and an impromptu ball given in the evening. We regret that the crowded state of our columns prevents a more extended and complete account of the event which has created so great a sensation in the hearts of the people thirtherward.—Chicago Tribune.

REPORTED EXPEDITION FROM GUATEMALA AGAINST WALKER.—Hon. John L. Morling, U. S. Minister for Guatemala, arrived at New Orleans in bad health last week. Mr. Morling is on a visit to his friends in Nashville, but will first proceed to Washington to report to the government concerning his mission. He reports that on the 23d of May, when he left, the government of Guatemala had ordered its army of two thousand men to invade Nicaragua. The purpose of making war upon Walker. This would seem to confirm a previous rumor of the same kind.

MR. FILLMORE slipped into New York rather quietly on Sunday night, though some popular manifestation of welcome was made by his friends, to let the affair down easily. A great effort will be made to get him to resign, in order to increase Fremont's chances. Mr. Fillmore says nothing but the wish of those who gave him the nomination will prompt him to withdraw his name. It has been "placed before the public by his friends, and there it will remain, regardless of consequences, unless they shall desire its withdrawal." The going over to Fremont of the Fillmore Club in New York looks as if his friends' desire tends that way.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Evening Post writes that the determination of the Hon. Lot Morrill, of Maine, not to support Buchanan, is rather a hard thing for the Democrats. He has always been reckoned as one of the staunchest of hunkers, and a leader of the fusion of 1855, he was chosen President of the Maine Senate last January, by hunker whig and democratic votes. He was a candidate of the hunkers for United States Senator against Mr. Fessenden, two years ago. No one can call such a man an abolition fanatic or pretend that his motives are of an interested character.

THE FREMONT BANNER.—"I see," says a correspondent of the Boston Atlas, "that in Pennsylvania the Buchanan men are forming 'Wheatland Clubs,' (Wheatland is the name of Buchanan's seat,) with banners bearing as a device a Sheaf of Wheat. I beg to suggest that the banner inscribed with the name of John Charles Fremont should have for its device a Threshing Machine. That sheaf of wheat is destined to be threshed, and the wheat to be gathered into another garner than that of border ruffians."

Pennsylvania surely ought to go for Fremont and Dayton, for no less than five of her noblest sons are now under Lecompte's indictment for High Treason, and may expect to be hung on the Cincinnati platform; if it gets established next November, viz:—Gov. Reeder of Easton, Judge Smith of Butler county, George W. Brown of Crawford county, Gaius Jenkins of Wayne county, Geo. W. Deitzler of Schuylkill county.—Boston Chronicle.

THE Providence Post sneeringly calls Col. Fremont a bear-hunter. The Post will find before next November that he is a buck hunter also.—Boston Atlas.

Sick Headache Cured—We know that this heading will attract the attention of many, and the eyes of not a few will peruse an article that offers to point out to them a remedy for this prevalent disease. "Evans' Dr's Medical Discovery" is warranted to cure this malady by the use of one bottle. Now, reader, do not doubt this statement as I suffer on all that the advocates of the Disease say is true. Let all that the advocates of the Discovery ask if that you will give it a fair trial, will know that the verdict will be in its favor. But many other diseases are cured with certainty, humors of every kind, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, &c., and it is with a heart full of sympathy for the afflicted that we present to them "Evansdy's Medical Discovery."

A Great Medicine for Females.—Hundreds of testimonials have been forwarded and sold, purporting to be specific in the various diseases and derangements to which the delicate form of woman render her subject.—The result of all these testimonials has been to impest unnecessary acidity to the nervous system, and false vigor to the stomach; but this relief has been succeeded by a depression and prostration greater than before; and the repeated attempts of invalids to build themselves up by these false remedies, have finally ended in destroying what little vital organization was left. But in using Sperling's Holland Bitters," you will find no such disastrous results. It is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave. Under its use the nerves receive and muscle receive new strength and vigor, appetite and sleep return, and finally, perfect health. See advertisement in another column. je23:4dwT

Dr. Keyser's Shoulder Braces—From Pittsburgh Dispatch, April 10th, 1856.—For more than 3 years past we have constantly worn the Washington Sus pender Brace, manufactured by Dr. Geo. H. Keyser, of No. 140 Wood st., in this city, and would heartily recommend it to all who are compelled to follow a sedentary occupation. As we have before remarked, in calling attention to its merits, it answers for a brace and suspenders, the weight of the pantaloons being so placed as to continually tend to bring the shoulders to their natural position and expand the chest. Woman, hundreds of whom are annually injured by the weight of enormous "skirts," should also procure these braces. So particular is procuring the kind mentioned, as many of the brace sold are humbug. Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

There never has been a discovery made in Materia Medica, whereby pain can be so quickly allayed, and where parts in a high state of inflammation can be so rapidly reduced to their natural state, nor where wounds and sores can be so thoroughly and rapidly healed, and decayed parts restored without either scar or defect, than with DALLY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR.

In cuts, wounds, sprains and bruises—casualties to which children are constantly subject—the action of the genuine Dalley's Pain Extractor, is ever the same How much pain and suffering may not thus be prevented!—Moreover, life itself is often dependent upon having at hand the Genuine Dalley Extractor, and for particulars of which I respectfully refer to my printed pamphlets, for the truth of which I hold myself responsible.

☞All orders should be addressed to C. V. Clickener & Co., 61 Barclay st., New York.
