FIRE.—The police are still actively engaged in the search for the murderer of O'Leary. They were on Boyd Hill all Monday night, and visited every place in Allegheny, where it was in the least suspected he might be concealed. The impression among the police is that he is still about the city. The instructions thrown out on Monday night by a member of the Common Council when the resolutions to offer a reward for the apprehension of the murderer was before that body, was totally unfounded, the whole body of police, regular and independent, of both cities, having since Saturday morning been busily engaged in scouring the country, at their own expense.

The Commissioners refuse to offer a reward, and the officers are expected to pay money out of their own pocket, with a small prospect of being repaid if Lutz is arrested.

DISTINGUISHED ARRIVAL.—Honorable George Bancroft, Brants Meyer and Rev. John T. Mardurdey evening, and took rooms at the Monongahela House. Their object is to visit the portions of country of historical interest connected with Braddock's route West, and his defeat. We understand that the distinguished visitors have been in frequent consultation with Neville B. Craig, Esq., and Judge Breckenridge, than whom none are more familiar with the history of this section of country, or more capable of imparting valuable information.

TO-DAY Van Amburgh's Great Menagerie and Circus will arrive in the city and commence exhibiting in front of the American Hotel, on Penn street. This is the first instance in this city where a Circus and Menagerie have both been exhibited for a single price of admission. The exhibition will remain for four days, and during that time is will be visited by thousands of people. In the Menagerie, one principal attraction is the entering of the cages filled with Lions and Tigers, by Prof. Langworthy, who has acquired a surprising control over these ferocious monsters. The Circus company is composed of excellent performers.

PUNY IN MANCHESTER.—A fight occurred in Manchester on Monday night, in which a man named Jacob Grelst was stabbed in the arm. The wound is not dangerous.

PROCEEDINGS OF SELECT COUNCIL.—Council met upon special call.

Rail Road Co., until the maturity of said bonds."

The father of the lad had an interview with him at the Mayor's office, when Donnelly said the accounts published in the papers were correct; that the horse was frightened by a locomotive, and ran off, just as the lad ran before the vehicle. The prisoner was released, as the sad affair was evidently the result of accident.

REVIEW OF THE PITTSBURGH MARKET.

For the Week ending July 1, 1856.

Business during the week has been quite dull, except in the Bacon line, and a little activity in Groceries. The river is low, though still navigable for small boats but the amount of freight coming forward is rather small.

The break in the second dam of the Monongahela having been closed, navigation on that stream has been resumed.

The first of July being a busy season in the way of settling accounts and meeting notes falling due, there has been a brisk demand for money, and the banks find their discount lines pretty full. The demand is likely to be only temporary, however.

The weather for the past two weeks has been quite seasonable and brought forward the spring crops amazingly. The Corn and the Oats now look much better than they did, and the growing Wheat has partaken equally of the benefit.

There is, however, a feeling of alarm among the farmers growing out of the detection of weevil in the Wheat—Letters from eastern Ohio all speak despondingly on account of the discovery. The presence of this destructive insect is quite general throughout that region; and we have reports from several neighborhoods in this quarter to the same purport. The views of those who hold Wheat have been stiffened in consequence, but it is to be hoped that the ravages are more apparent than real. The weevil sometimes attacks the borders of a field, without penetrating to its centre; and all the specimens so far shown have been taken from the edges.

The late frosts in the beginning of this month injured all the wheat that was then headed out. There was, fortunately, not much early wheat sown; but what there was of it was either destroyed or seriously injured.

The alarm about weevil has had its effect on the market, and, in connection with the news from Europe, has effected a slight advance in figures. The supply here is quite light, holders generally hanging back for higher prices, and the condition of the river is such that supplies cannot be got from below at present prices. The general impression is, however, that there is just little real ground for the concern generally manifested.

During the past week considerable excitement prevailed in the provision market, owing to the presence of orders and purchasers from the east. The sales embrace 90,000 lbs both Shoulders, and about 200,000 lbs Bacon, at outside rates for shipment east. A great deal more would have been taken if it could have been had; but stocks were become pretty low, and holders indisposed to deal largely, preferring to retain sufficient supplies for Summer consumption, especially as prices are more likely to advance than decline. The excitement extended also to lard, of which about 800 bbls changed hands, being the bulk of what was in market. Lard Oil also changed hands to the extent of 200 bbls, at a slight advance.

The imports other than Dry Goods, for the week at New York were light, and the Dry Goods are a trifle less than for the same week last year, being $4,215,874 against $3,259,054. The aggregate for the week is:

	1855.	1856.
Dry Goods,	$1,043,810	$1,215,874
General Merchandize,	2,259,054	2,321,874
Total,	$3,611,224	$3,537,949

The exports of the week were $1,224,220, against $935,614. The exports of specie for the week ending Saturday, and for the year 1856, thus far, were as follows:

Total for the week,	$2,493,745 53
Previously reported,	12,792,163 44
	$15,244,918 97
Total, 1856,

ASHES—the season for Pearl's is over, and they are very dull; one sale since our last at 8, four mos. Pots are nominal at 8¼. Soda ash steady at 3¾, for ordinary.

BEANS—none in market; a prime article of small white would bring $2.00.

BUTTER & EGG—very little Butter offering, and prices are nominal at 12@13. Eggs are in regular demand and are selling at 12½@13. Receipts by the canals and R. R. supply at 12@13, the tendency being to the outside figure.

BACON—the sales since our last report have been heavy, embracing 50 hhds Sides at 8¾@9 for Shoulders, 10¼@10¾ for sugar cured Hams; 40,000 lbs Sides at 8¾, and 100 hhds and 10¼@10¾ for Hams; 40,000 lbs Sides at 8¾, and pay for cash; 30,000 lbs Shoulders and Hams, at 8¾, and 10½, and 30,000 lbs Sides at 10¾—all to go east. Besides these sales, the local demand has been large, and the sales altogether amount to 400,000 lbs. The market is now pretty well cleaned out, and the specimens so far shown have been taken from the edges.
