THE CAMPAIGN GAZETTE.—Subscribers for our weekly for the campaign, are coming in quite briskly, but not as fast as they ought to do, considering the crisis and the importance of the cause. Many places have, as yet, done nothing, where much could be done, if any enterprising person would take hold of it. As a specimen of what can be done with but little effort we may mention, that a friend of the cause in a village in this county, undertook to raise a club of twenty, but he soon run it up to eighty, and promises to make out the round hundred. If all our readers will bestir themselves, they can send us in ten thousand campaign subscribers in a week. In order to encourage others to make the effort, we will extend the time to which they can be sent to the 9th of August. Send on the campaign subscribers.

IT APPEARS from the Post of yesterday that Mr. Snowden, the telegraphic reporter, is responsible for the editorial articles in that sheet concerning Senator Wilson and the falsehood uttered there about his preferences for Vice President.

It is well enough that this fact should be made known, and that the public should know upon whom the responsibility of that fabrication rests, since even the shameless individual who nominally edits that paper shrinks from assuming it.

Having traced home the falsehood to its proper source, we are content to let it remain there.—The telegraphic reporter, caught in the dirty trick of prostituting the wires to political purposes, endeavors to fall back upon a private individual as his authority; but that individual having declined to furnish the desired certificate, the reporter is left without a foundation for his story. It is to be hoped that the scorn visited upon him in consequence of the exposure made in this case, will be sufficient to deter him from any repetition of such an offence. When he has to depend upon a certificate as his backing, let him be sure that he has it before making calculations upon it. He has been used, in this instance, by political tricksters to serve a purpose, and now is left to work his way out of the difficulty as he best may.

THE following dispatch has been sent from here to the eastern and western press:

PITTSBURGH, July 19.—The report that Senator Wilson, of Mass., expressed a preference for Johnston for the Vice Presidency, over Dayton, originated with Nathaniel P. Sawyer, a prominent political friend of Johnston, who accompanied Governor Johnston to the meeting, where he met Mr. Wilson. Mr. Sawyer still states positively, that Wilson so expressed himself to him and others in a carriage on the way to the meeting.

We presume the gentleman named here is the "Mr. Sawyer" whose certificate to the allegations above set forth was promised in the Post, but was not forthcoming. After failing to obtain such a certificate, we must say that it savors of dishonesty to send his name abroad as authority for a statement which he refused to certify at home.

We are assured, upon good authority, that one of the gentlemen who were in the carriage with Gen. Wilson says that no such conversation took place; and we understand, moreover, that Mr. Sawyer denies having authorized any allegation to that effect. The telegraph reporter admits his inability to bring forward any proof; and the responsibility of the whole affair therefore rests upon him.

FREMONT MEETING IN TEMPERANCEVILLE.—We are requested to state that a meeting will be held in the old Cumberland Church, in Temperanceville, on Saturday evening next, the 26th inst., for the purpose of forming a Fremont and Dayton Club. Several speakers are expected to be present. We hope the friends of Freedom will turn out to a man. We are glad to learn that the Fremont feeling is warm, amounting to enthusiasm, in that place and vicinity, and the promise is made of a large majority for Fremont and Freedom in November.

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER.—Our old friend, John M'Grew, Esq., of Allegheny, called yesterday and paid his fifty-sixth year's subscription to the Pittsburgh Gazette. He says he intends to pay for it while he lives. Long may he live to enjoy a ripe and respected old age. We have some subscribers who have taken the paper over sixty years, and one person is still in receipt of it who has read it from its foundation, in 1786.

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE.—The number for August, of this excellent Monthly, is welcome to our table. In neatness of typography and printing, and beauty of illustrations, it is not excelled by any of its cotemporaries. While it is entirely removed from that light and trashy literature which form the basis of so many periodicals, it is not heavy and dry. It combines instruction with amusement; Christian morals with science and literature. Sold by J. L. Read, Fourth street.

For the Pittsburgh Gazette.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Will you insert in your paper the following from the American Freeman, published at New Castle and Mercer:

"DR. R. D. GILLIAM.—We have heard this gentleman's name mentioned in connection with the nomination for State Senator in Allegheny county, and the high estimation in which we hold him induces us to express the hope that he will not only be nominated but elected to this responsible office. Brought up in the Democratic school, so long as that party maintained the principles of Jefferson, he ardently supported it, but when it turned its back on these, and became the mere creature of the slave power, he abjured it, and gave his time and talents to advance the great interests of Freedom."

Dr. GARRAN is a candidate for the nomination for State Senator, and we think no better man can be selected for that position.

July 23 1856. UNITE DR. CLAIR.

RUNAWAY SLAVES.—A couple of negroes belonging to Mr. Jas. W. Reynolds, of Boone county, Ky., made their exit from that gentleman's plantation on Friday night. Mr. R. followed them on Saturday, as soon as he discovered their flight, and traced them to Covington, where all further track of the fugitives was lost. They started from home with a couple of horses belonging to their master, both of which were found tied to a fence about two miles back of Covington.—Cin. Com.

AMERICAN BIBLE UNION—PAINFUL REVELATIONS.—"The American Bible Union," is the title of a voluntary Association of professing Christians, principally of the Baptist denomination, for the purpose of securing a new and better translation of the Holy Scriptures. On this ples, it split off originally from the Baptist Bible Society, and it has been in existence for several years, and great promise has frequently been made of the important work which it was performing for the benefit of the Christian public. Except within the Baptist denominations this society has not excited unusual attention, although its movements have been watched with much interest by thoughtful Christians generally. It is located in New York City. Rev. Dr. Cone was its first President, and on his death he was succeeded by Rev. Dr. Maclay, who has lately resigned the position. His resignation was at the time attributed to ill health and advanced age, but recent disclosures, made by himself, show that the act was grounded upon very different reasons. Unpleasant rumors respecting the operation and management of the Bible Union had for some time been in circulation, and one of the friends of the association finally addressed a communication to Dr. Maclay asking for a full explanation upon the subject. The reply appears in the form of a pamphlet of twenty-five pages, over Dr. Maclay's own signature.

Dr. Maclay had been for years the agent of the Association, and had raised upwards of twenty-thousand dollars for its expenses. During this time he recorded his instructions from the officers, and was supplied by the Secretary with an outline of the operations, and with statistics on which to ground his appeals. When he was chosen President he commenced a thorough investigation of its affairs, and found, he says, that duty to himself and the public, compelled him to leave a position he could not hold without dishonor and a fraud upon the public. His attention appears to have been first directed to the work which the association professed to perform—the translation anew of the Holy Bible. On this subject Dr. Maclay say:—

"On being elected president of the Union, in October, 1855, I found myself in possession of more direct and unequalled responsibility; and merely to vote and speak as I felt in the least capable of becoming more particularly acquainted with the operations of the body. I then for the first time ascertained who the revisors were; and found, to my astonishment, that instead of their having been about forty individuals actually engaged in translating the New Testament, as I had understood from the secretary, and had often stated, there had not been more than twenty three or twenty-four. Intead of all these being competent scholars, as I had supposed, and as the plan of the Union required, and as is often stated in the official documents of the Union, some them unquestionably lacked the essential qualifications of a translator."

It has always been an objection to the American Bible Union that, while professing to venerate the Holy Scriptures, and to be conscious of the momentous importance of not only preserving fidelity of translation, but of securing public confidence in the proposed new version, they have carefully concealed the names of the translators employed by them. The objection was a valid one. If the translators were so qualified for their work as to be worthy of confidence, if they had the requisite reputation as men of learning, piety and sound doctrine, there was every reason for making their names public. If otherwise, then they were not the men for the work. That the latter was the case, Dr. Maclay's disclosures go far to prove. But other grave errors appear to be habitually practiced in the conduct of the association. The mode of paying at least one of the translators is remarkable. Dr. Maclay states that Professor Conant, of Rochester, has a contract with the society "which secures to him, in addition to a salary of $1200 from the Theological Seminary, $2000 a year for the portion of time not required in his professional duties, till he shall have completed the Old Testament, with a copyright interest, and a percentage on the future sales of his translation, when published with notes." It is added that Professor Conant has already received three years salary, or $6000, and has not yet completed one of the books of the Old Testament; that his contract is binding until he has finished the whole, while it requires of him only that he shall give his leisure time to the work!

But this is not the worst charge. The translations and revisions, as far as they have gone, have been performed in a manner to bring disgrace upon the projectors, and discredit upon the scriptures. Dr. Maclay says that when he came to look at the work already stereotyped, he found much in it well calculated to shake the confidence of men in the truth of God's word. He gives various specimens to sustain his position, and adds that they are by no means the most objectionable renderings. Further he says:

"On a closer examination in the department of revision, I found that, in addition to the shocking translations already referred to, the misguided hand of the revisor had been rashly laid upon the original text."

He makes other grave charges against the association, and comes to the following conclusion:

"Being fully satisfied, from personal examination, that the funds which I have done so much to collect, and which I knew have been most sacredly devoted, by the rich and the poor, to one of the holiest purposes of Christian charity, are being squandered; that a vast amount is expended in operations remote from the legitimate object of the institution; that men are employed to translate the word of God who are not qualified for the work; that unwarrantable translations have been made, which, if published, must bring into discredit the most precious doctrines of my faith, nay the fundamental truths of Christianity as faithfully revealed in the Holy Scriptures, and shake the confidence of the people in the canon of the sacred writing; that such revelations are likely to be published for indiscriminate circulation without the previous precautionary examination, provided for, and required by, the plan and rules of revision, as originally adopted by the Board, that the unfolding power of the institution has become completely centralized in one man; and that the exercise of that power is not only such as to forbid the hope of reform, but also to blast the name and influence of every one who advocates reform; feeling perfectly satisfied of all this, I am compelled, by a stern sense of duty, to abandon the enterprise, and to free myself as far as possible, from all further responsibility in its operations. And I cannot doubt that my friends, when rightly informed, will justify me for so doing."

We give the substance of this document, as we find it in the New York papers. It is but just to the officers of the Bible Union to say that they have issued a card in which they say:

"We have good reason to believe that Dr. Maclay is not the real author of this pamphlet, but that it was written by a gentleman who has recently been dismissed from the service of the Bible Union for the very best reasons, and who we understand has another publication against the Union, in the press. We owe it to the public in this connection, to say, that we have abundant evidence for disproving every material allegation which the published document contains, in the form it has reached us. In due time, the Board and officers of the Union will ask a hearing.—They have nothing to suppress, they have no information to withhold from the public eye, and above all, they feel conscious they have nothing to fear from a thorough investigation of their doings. Measures have already been taken not only to invite but to demand such an investigation.

"At the same time, we now invoke the scrutiny of all who are interested in the cause of truth, and the welfare of the Bible Union. We therefore invite all such persons to call at the rooms of the Society, No. 350 Broome street, and examine our affairs personally, and we promise them every facility we possess for such an examination."

From the National Intelligencer.

A Card.

I am informed that the Memorandum of a recent conversation of myself and friends with the friends of Mr. Brooks has received, in some quarters, from its position, as appended to Mr. Brook's speech, an interpretation which does injustice to its real meaning and to my intentions.

This is what I say, and have said, in relation to my speech: That I observed in it the rules of personal and parliamentary decorum; that I could not qualify or retract any portion of it, and held myself responsible to any gentleman aggrieved by it.

This is the only construction which I supposed would be placed on the memorandum, which my friends reduced to writing, that there might be no misunderstanding. But, inasmuch as attempts, not altogether unsuccessful, have been made to pervert its true meaning, I now withdraw it. And, that there may not be any misapprehension in the future, I say, explicitly, that I leave my speech to interpret itself, and hold myself responsible for it, without qualification or amendment. A. BURLINGAME.

WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE,

whereby further testimony is afforded of its being the best Sauce extant.

The celebrity of this Sauce has extended to every quarter of the globe, and its efficacy in promoting the general health is becoming daily more observed and acknowledged.

In the United States it is held to be the most agreeable condiment, and is a useful adjunct to dressing delicate properties, its habitual use enabling the stomach to digest the food.

Go to Continent of Europe, these qualities have been testified to by a gentleman, who writes to LEA & PERRINS thus: "I have carried a bottle of your Worcestershire Sauce in a tour I have just completed through Spain and Portugal, and believe I owe my present state of health to it as a sure preventive against the fever and ague, and other diseases, in consequence of the unwholesome state of the water in those countries. The sea-sickness I experienced in my passage out and home was entirely removed by the use of it; in fact your Sauce is stomachic, and I think medicinal.

In India, also, where it is found at the mess of every regiment, a medical gentleman writes from Madras to his brother in the same profession at Worcester, in the following terms: "Tell Lea & Perrins that their sauce is highly approved in India, and that it is, in my opinion, the most Palatable as well as the most wholesome sauce made."

This sauce is suitable for every variety of dish, and the universal demand which its excellence has created has led to many imitations being offered to the public, under a variety of names, but the genuine may be known by the names of "LEA & PERRINS" being impressed upon the patent metallic capsules, or patent glass stopper of the bottles, as well as the labels and wrapper.

Dr. Keyser's Shoulder Braces.—From Pittsburgh Dispatch, April 10th, 1856.—For more than 3 years past we have constantly worn the Washington Suspender Brace, manufactured by Dr. Geo. H. Keyser, of No. 148 Woodst., in this city, and would heartily recommend it to all who are compelled to follow a sedentary occupation. As we have before remarked, in talking attention to its merits, it answers for a brace and suspenders, the weight of the pantaloons being so placed as to continually tend to bring the shoulders to their natural position and expand the chest. Women, hundreds of whom are annually injured by the weight of enormous "skirts," should also procure these braces. Be particular in procuring the kind mentioned, as many of the brace sold are humbug. In the United States it is held to be the most agreeable condiment, and is a useful adjunct to dressing delicate properties, its habitual use enabling the stomach to digest the food.

Go to Continent of Europe, these qualities have been testified to by a gentleman, who writes to LEA & PERRINS thus: "I have carried a bottle of your Worcestershire Sauce in a tour I have just completed through Spain and Portugal, and believe I owe my present state of health to it as a sure preventive against the fever and ague, and other diseases, in consequence of the unwholesome state of the water in those countries. The sea-sickness I experienced in my passage out and home was entirely removed by the use of it; in fact your Sauce is stomachic, and I think medicinal.

In India, also, where it is found at the mess of every regiment, a medical gentleman writes from Madras to his brother in the same profession at Worcester, in the following terms: "Tell Lea & Perrins that their sauce is highly approved in India, and that it is, in my opinion, the most Palatable as well as the most wholesome sauce made."

This sauce is suitable for every variety of dish, and the universal demand which its excellence has created has led to many imitations being offered to the public, under a variety of names, but the genuine may be known by the names of "LEA & PERRINS" being impressed upon the patent metallic capsules, or patent glass stopper of the bottles, as well as the labels and wrapper.

Frostwort or Rock Rose.—For the cure of scrofulous Diseases.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 1, 1852.

My son Charles has been afflicted with inflammation of the hip joint. At the age of 3 he was first attacked; the inflammation became violent, the hip joint diseased, and the joint seriously affected his leg, drawing it up so that it was impossible to straighten it; a professor of surgery gave it as his decided opinion that the leg would have to heal, and that the young man would never walk again.—The disease increased so rapidly that for two and a half years he only walked with a crutch, and the effects to excruciating that were attended with great pain, so that he could not sleep. We had a bottle of Scurvitis, that for 5 months did not have one full night's rest. He has been treated by distinguished medical practitioners, by leeching, blistering, &c., he had also been before the Medical Children of Yale College. The remedies they recommended, we once had thought perhaps would relieve him, but his disease and dreadful condition 18 months; since when he commenced taking Myers' Rock Rose. One bottle was but partly taken when he was much better, continuing till he has totally healed him, when a cure was effected entirely completed, now he is in excellent health. This is the testimony of and can be corroborated by addressing Mrs. Catharine McGill, 91 Wallace st., New Haven, Conn., or can be fully substantiated by hundreds of witnesses, or by addressing a line to Rev. W. W. Belden, New Haven, Conn.
