GAZETTE—CITY DEPARTMENT.

PITTSBURGH:

SATURDAY MORNING, OCT. 25, 1856.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.—Judge Irwin on the Bench.

The jury in the case of the United States vs. Adam Grassmeier, the trial of which occupied a part of Wednesday and all of Thursday, came into Court yesterday morning with a verdict of acquittal on both counts.

Judge Shaler stated that not having received some necessary documents from the Post Office Department he was obliged to ask for a continuance of the case of U. S. vs. Thomas B. Lukehart, charged with embezzling letters from a post office in Indiana county. Hon. Augustus Drum, counsel for Lukehart, objected on the ground that the witnesses for defence were all present. The Court granted the continuance, and ordered the case for trial at the May term of 1857.

Judge Shaler stated that the case of the U. S. vs. R. F. Weddel, charged with passing and making false coin of the United States would not be taken before the Grand Jury, as he had made a thorough examination of the particulars, and found that the charge could not be sustained.

William McCreary was arraigned on the following charges, to all of which he plead not guilty. First—passing a counterfeit half-dollar on Thornton F. Miller. Second—two twenty-five cent pieces on David Orr. Third—a gold dollar on William Duval, and fourth—a gold dollar on John Lynn. The complainants all reside in Washington, and the alleged guilty passing of the said coin was on the 30th of November, 1855.

A jury was empannelled, and witnesses called on the first indictment.

Col. Byers sworn—Know the defendant in Washington; I am a constable there; about the last of November 1855, I got a counterfeit half-dollar from Thornton F. Miller, (showing it), which I retained from that time to this.

Thornton F. Miller, sworn—Know the defendant; gave this piece of coin (examining the half dollar the last witness showed) to Byers; William McCreary came into my house for something to drink; after he got if, he gave me this half-dollar, I him afterwards I didn't believe it to be good; he told me to put it in my pocket, if it was'nt good he'd make it good. This was in November 1855, after McCreary returned from Ohio; he passed a bad dollar gold piece on me after he offered me the half-dollar; that gold coin was bad, he picked up the gold coin and said he would pay me again. During the same week he passed a counterfeit quarter on me.

Cross examined—After McCreary came back from Ohio, was the first time I saw counterfeit money in Washington.

Direct—Wolf got the quarter referred to from McCreary, to get a drink.

Robert Cooper sworn—Know prisoner; he had a large quantity of bad coin in his possession in November; over $212 in quarters, half-dollars and dollars, and quarter-eagles. He also had some counterfeit notes; saw this in his possession on Tuesday, the 20th of November. He told me it was counterfeit, and I knew it was counterfeit.

Cross-examined—Prisoner showed me this money at my dwelling house. He came there under an arrangement to pay it over to an individual; I had something to do with it; I consented that he might pay it and $200 in notes to Chessrond, of Monongahela City, at my house; I paid it over to Chesserond myself; I am a pretty good judge of paper money, and know that all was counterfeit; never saw the money the unditement brought it to my house; I believe it was bought in Rockdale, Ohio, because prisoners and I went there to buy it. I had no interest in this trip at all, further than I went along for certain purposes. I am a member of the Washington bar; I can't tell you the numberless accounts I have given of the trip. I have been told that I said many things of which I have no knowledge; I might have told a committee that waited upon me that I did take McCreary along to drive the buggy it was on a visit; I would have taken a nigger; I know the committee took up that impression from what I said; I cannot say whether I told Mr. Lynn the same thing, and that at Steubenville I got drunk, and the landlord persuaded me to take McCreary back to take care of me; can't say whether I told Mr. Leacock the same thing; it was at the close of the afternoon McCreary showed me the money; I had not a dollar of bad money in my house except that the prisoner brought; McCreary left over a hundred dollars at my house, taking away the rest; a day or two afterwards I made him take away the rest; McCreary wanted to pay Chessrond at my office, but I objected to that; it was Court week, and I was rather thronged, I didn't think it was a suitable place; I suggested to the prisoner to go to a hotel.

Judge Shaler objected to the course of the cross-examination as not founded upon the examination in chief, but based upon answers to questions propounded by themselves, and that it was irrelevant. The Court sustained the objection.

Cross examination resumed—Saw the coin and know the denomination, saw it several times; I dont think I ever counted the whole until I paid it over; I never was to receive any pay for going to Ohio; I consented to go because I was on a spree; could'nt tell within a hundred miles the distance of the place in Ohio we went to; we went to Steubenville, then to Wheeling then to Bellair, which was within two miles of Rockdale. We left Washington on the 18th or 14th of November in a buggy.

Several propositions offered by the defence were overruled.

By a juror.—The money I gave to the prisoner, after I heard Chesserond was nearly all paper except a few pieces.

Direct resumed—I believe McCreary got the money when we were in Ohio. He came back with a carpet sack, the same which contained the money I saw at my house afterwards. We came from Wheeling to Washington in a coach. He stopped the driver a quarter of a mile from the stage office, and he got out with the sack and went towards his mother's. We returned on Sunday. He brought the money to me on Tuesday. He said it contained the money. McCreary introduced me at Rockdale to a man named Sayres. We stopped there at the house of a man named Fay.

Cross Examination Resumed—Do not know whether Sayres is a manufacturer of coin; he said to us he could have a larger coin in two weeks. We didn't talk much of this coin business; this talk was in the afternoon; can't say whether Sayres or I introduced the coin subject. I asked for an introduction to Sayres.

By a Juror—McCreary first introduced the trip to Ohio.

At this point the Court adjourned until three o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The government offered in evidence the counterfeit half dollar, and the case rested here. The defence was opened by Mr. Flenniken in a brief statement to the jury.

The record of the case No. 1 this term, U. S. vs. McCleary, was offered in evidence to show that the defendant was acquitted of the charge of passing the counterfeit quarter and dollar on Thornton F. Miller, in reply to the evidence in the morning by Thornton F. Miller in this case.

DR. Lyon sworn—Resides in Washington, Pa., and knows the defendant; shortly after Cooper came from Ohio, he commenced to explain where he went after he left Steubenville; when he reached Steubenville, he got so much under the influence of liquor that the landlord advised him not to travel by himself. He proposed to McCreary that if he went along with him and take care of him he would pay his expenses.

Cross examination.—He was gone so long that I advised him where he had gone; he and prisoner were in my office the night before they started; Cooper gave prisoner the money to hire the buggy—$7,50.

Leacock—Am a law student in Washington.—Cooper told me on two or three occasions he went to collect some money from Dr. Lemoyne for some coal company, and took prisoner along to drive his buggy for him.

Cross-examined—I belonged to a military company of which Mr. Cooper was commander. I was on a committee to interrogate him as to his absence the day of parade, and he gave that explanation. There was no complaint of his absence with McCleary, but of his own absence; he came before the company and made the same explanation.

Judge Hill sworn—Know Robert Cooper's general character, and have known him since he was a young man; his reputation for truth and veracity is not very good; the talk about him has been for some years back; he was sometimes attirely engaged in politics; he practiced law in Washington, and was clerk of the court.

Samuel Bartlett sworn—don't know Cooper's general reputation; lived in his neighborhood for thirty years; his reputation in the neighborhood for truth and veracity is rather against him; never heard anything against him until these difficulties.

Cross-examined—Cooper talks a good deal when he is intoxicated.

Col. Hopkins sworn—I live in Washington borough; Cooper has resided there for six or seven years; his general reputation for truth and veracity is not very good. Heard talk about him before these suits; but it was generally in regard to politics, and people said they would not believe what he said; he has taken an active part in politics; his political opponent and friends said they wouldn't believe him; his character is now not good, and have heard very few attempt to defend his character.

Mason Hamilton sworn—Has known Cooper for some years; his character is not now good; never heard it spoken of at all previous to these suits.

Col. Elliott, Thos. O'Hara, James S. Wolf, James Kerr, James P. Shepler, Richard Elliott, Andrew Ford, J. L. Judson, Alex. Lemoy, Atlas Lacock, gave corroborative testimony.

Thomas Cowan was called to show that T. F. Miller had passed bad money, in reply to Miller's allegation on cross-examination to the contrary. His testimony was ruled out.

REBUTTING TESTIMONY.

Wm. Duval sworn—Know Wm. McCreary, did not see Cooper start with him to Ohio.

T. F. Miller recalled—Saw Cooper and McCreary start for Ohio; it was early in the morning.

Fay sworn.—The defence objected on the ground that he was here to testify to an occurrence in Ohio, beyond the jurisdiction of this Court. It might subject McCreary to an indictment in Ohio. The objection was overruled.

The witness went on to say that he resided in Hanover, Licking county, Ohio; it is merely a station, about a mile from Rockdale; I keep a tavern; last November Cooper and McCreary were at my house together, McCreary and Cooper both went out; Cooper had complained of sickness; they were gone a short time; McCreary then went out towards Sayres; I went to the door, I saw McCreary along the road with a small carpet bag. They got their dinner; and wanted me to get them a horse and buggy; some business took me off; Sayres lived just across the road from me; McCreary was at my house two or three weeks before, and before that; the first time he stopped with me, and the next time with Sayres; he was a gentleman of leisure, and is now in the Ohio Penitentiary. Don't know what the carpet bag contained. The time he was with me he got a meal; he said he was going to Zanesville and would be back in a week; he came back and I saw him at Sayres, I didn't see Cooper go to Sayres.

By a juror—McCreary never told me what his business was.

By a juror—Cooper was hardly capable of ordering when he was at my house; he was very drunk, but got sobered; Cooper wanted to get off as he said he had business at home.

Hague Luddington sworn—Know Cooper and McCreary; came with them from Wheeling on the Sunday previous to Court in November; Cooper was inebriated; noticed a carpet sack; the coach stopped at a blacksmith shop near town, and McCreary took the sack and got out with it.

Cross examined—I think I saw a blanket in the coach but can't say what was said about it; don't know who took the blanket.

Robert Hague sworn—(Showing a carpet sack,) this is my sack; it contains counterfeit money, and the means to make it, dies &c.

The evidence of Mr. Hague was ruled out.

John McCallister sworn—Have known Cooper for eight years; never heard anything said against his character for truth until of late, and that but little; he gets drunk once in a while and plays the fool; I would believe him on oath if he was sober.

Cross examined—I cant say that I ever said I would'nt believe him.

Col. Byers sworn—Never heard anything against the reputation of Cooper for truth; there has been a great deal of talk about these suits; I would believe him on oath.

H. C. Luddington, A. Wishart; David Ahl, Daniel K. Albright, Wm. S. Moore, Murdock, John Hall, John Clemens, W. J. Alexander, D. Aiken, A. Smith, were called and corroborated the evidence just given as to Cooper's character.

The case for the Government closed here and the Court adjourned.

THE DEMOCRATIC DEMONSTRATION.—The following "bill of fare" was extensively circulated yesterday; by whom we do not know. It was the talk of the day, and we publish it to be the bill of fare of those who have not seen it:

"GRAND DEMOCRATIC MACKEREL ROAST!

In consequence of having selected Friday next, for the celebration of our glorious victory, the majority of our friends object to roast beef, the Committee of Arrangements have therefore been compelled to defer for the present roasting an ox. The Committee hope that their efforts to cater for their Democratic friends will be duly appreciated after an examination of the following

FRUIT.

Ostend Prunes, Cuba Oranges.

N. B.—If this is not enough it is expected you will let Forney know.

☞ The above will be cooked with butter, so our friends can be no ways scrupulous in in eating them."

It has been suggested to us that the above bill of fare is fishy, as no place is mentioned where the Boast was to have been served. We do not place much reliance in it on that account.

A POWERFUL SERMON.—Rev. Mr. Blair, an old and highly respected member of the Indiana Presbytery of the Associate Church, delivered yesterday morning, in the 7th Street church, in this city, a powerful sermon upon the evils of the day. His text was taken from the 1st chapter, 18th verse of Romans:

"For the wrath of God is revealed from Heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness."

His discourse was divided into the consideration of the sins of individuals, sins of families, sins of churches and sins of nations. Under the latter head he placed the sin of slavery and the extension of slavery, and he proceeded to show the necessity of the ministry condemning this sin. He replied to the charge that ministers should leave to the State State sins. After demonstrating that the extension of slavery was a sin, he went on to show that the wrath of God surely followed the commission of every sin, and he instanced every noticeable crime recorded in the scriptures, from the murder of Abel down. One of his most impressive instances was the disobedience of the Israelites in retaining in slavery their bondsmen after the allotted term of their bondage had expired, and the sore punishment in the seventy years' bondage to the Babylonians, which followed the crime.

Presenting the case fairly and strongly to the minds of his audience he called upon them to do everything to avert the threatened sin of the extension of slavery, to use every legitimate means to throw out of power those who had instituted the means to cause that extension, and to see that their future governments would be of such a complexion as would forever prevent the consummation of those means. We regret we are unable to present more copious notes of this able effort.

THE TORCH-LIGHT PROCESSION.—The agony is over; the great torch-light procession has passed, and the citizens of Pittsburgh breathe again.—One office was illuminated; a bunch of crackers was fired from a dwelling house and several roman candles from another, to greet and appropriately the torch-lighters. The spirits of the rank and file were slightly elevated by these brilliant demonstrations, for along the remaining portion of the route they saw nothing but Fremont flags. As they made it a point to grunt each one, they exhausted themselves in groans long before they got through.

The procession occupied about twenty-five minutes in passing; more than half of them were boys from ten to twenty years of age. It is said that men for the procession, so scarce were they, commanded a dollar a head. The devices were poor, ill-spelt and worse painted. There was only one that approximated to anything like smartness, and that was a rap at the Gazette.

As the affair was well calculated to do our cause good we have no objection to it, whatever, and we close this notice of it with the assertion that if the Fremonters desired they could by this evening have a procession in the streets as much larger and better as was that of the 17th September than the Democratic fizzle of the 10th of that month.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER, QUARTER SESSIONS &c.—Judge McClure and Associates on the Bench.

In the case of Rudolph Berger and Charles Berger, charged with stealing three pigeons from Dr. Walters, the jury returned a verdict of Not Guilty.

Hugh Orrison and Hugh Deary were arraigned for the larceny of a large quantity of powder from Mr. Dr. Witt O. Bidwell, agent for the Messrs. Dupont. The powder was sold by them to various merchants at very low prices. The jury found Hugh Orrison not guilty, and convicted Hugh Deary.

PLEAD GUILTY.—George A. Shaner and Wm. Anderson, the lads who stole a number of money and other letters from the Post Office on the 20th June last, addressed to John S. Hough, Daguerreotypist, yesterday plead guilty in the U. S. Court to the indictment charging them with intercepting letters. There are two other indictments against each. One is for stealing money and the other for stealing a check from letters addressed to Mr. Hough. Their manner of proceeding was to call at the office and inquire for the letters addressed to Mr. H. They were detected by a decoy letter.

FIRE.—An incendiary last night about eight o'clock, fired one of the long butcher's boxes in the market house on the right hand of the street going to the river, in the hope of destroying the building. Fortunately the alarm was raised promptly and the burning wood thrown into the street. The building was not injured.

SUPPOSED FOUL PLAY.—The Chronicle of yesterday said:—"This (Friday) forenoon, a man and women called at the Mayor's office for the purpose of seeking information as to the whereabouts or fate of a man named Isaac Kerr, who came to this city last November, and has not been heard of since. The missing man is a resident of Jefferson county, and followed the lumber business for an occupation. He came to this city with a lot of lumber at the time above stated, and, beyond the fact that he put up at Lytle's tavern, on Irwin street, nothing further has since been heard of him. He had on his person a large sum of money which he had received for lumber here a short time before, and the notes of several parties in this city, who purchased from him on time. The fact that he had this money in his possession, which must have been known to some of those who came down with him, coupled with his silence since, and the inability of his friends to find the slightest trace of him, lead them to think that he has been foully murdered for his money, and his body, perhaps, thrown into the river, to hide all evidence of the crime. His wife is now in the city, anxiously inquiring after her missing husband.—Parties who gave him their notes for lumber, may possibly be able to throw some light on the matter, and should communicate with her at once."

THE FREMONT BOYS are going to parade today, we are informed, and will no doubt make a good display. Turn out, boys, and let us see your forces. We hope to see you all qualified to count at the polls, as well as in procession, in a few years.

THE BIBLE CLASS conducted by Rev. Dr. Jacobus at the rooms of the Young Mens' Christian Association will meet hereafter every Saturday afternoon at half past 3 o'clock.

Ladies and gentlemen interested in the study of the Bible are cordially invited to attend.

APOLOGY.—Our entire attention yesterday was required in the U. S. Court, and we consequently are without our usual variety of news.

COUNTERFEITS AND IMPOSTORS.—The public are cautioned against purchasing articles pretending to be of the nature of the 'Balm of Thousand Flowers,' for performing the breath and beautifying the complexion. The popularity of of that article has brought forward a host of counterfeiters. None is genuine unless signed by FETHERSTON & Co. For sale by all respectable druggists who frown down counterfeiters and impostors.

FREMONT, THE MUSTANG CANDIDATE.—If Col. Fremont had as many friends as the Mustang Liniment, the opposition could not draw a corporal's guard. Mr. Fremont remarked, in his dispatches to President Fillmore, while transporting horses and cattle over the plains of Mexico, "That if the Government would send on a liberal supply of Mustang Liniment, it would save 95 per cent. of his losses." This is very important for all Farmers and Liverymen to know. The Mustang Liniment is a wonderful article for man or beast. It always be used for Sores, Swellings, Stiff Joints, Strains, Bruises, Rheumatic Pains, &c., and for Galds, Sprains, Spavins, Ringbone, &c., upon horses. Beware of imitations. The Mustang is sold by all respectable dealers everywhere.

BARNES & PARE, Proprietors, New York.

(From the Boston Saturday evening Gazette.)

LOST!—One week Hereth.—What lady or gentleman would recover the above, by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," as a dentrifice? Its effects are magical. It will remove the teeth white as alabaster! Many persons do not clean their teeth because they are afraid the delicate fibrils of the gums will never mention it. Put a little on the finger and rub the teeth with it, night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

CAUTION.—Caution may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples, and freckles from the skin, leaving it a soft and tender texture. Use it night and morning after the three drops, and wash the face bright and morning.

SEARLE'S AMBROSIAL HAIR DYE—Brush to either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of the Amber Hair Restorative, brush well and it will make a beautiful soft lather much facilitating the operation of dressing. Try Searle.

Sold by all druggists, New York.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Further from Europe.

ADDITIONAL BY THE ARABIA.

HALIFAX, Oct. 3.—The London papers are filled with discussions of the financial prospects of Europe. The Times of Wednesday says of the advance of the bank rate, that supposing prudent counsels prevail, the only consequences of the change will be thus the artificial purchase of gold, which the banks of France are now driven to make in London, will cease, and that our discount market will return to an easier position according to the progress towards a general revival of confidence on the Continent. Assuming on the contrary an inflation in Paris from increased paper issues, gold will be drained chence to this and other countries, and a great buoyancy of trade, coupled with increased abundance of money, must be anticipated here.

The Times of Thursday says the next monthly statement of the Bank of France will be looked for with greater anxiety than ever before.

The last letters mention that the drain was not increasing, but nothing has transpired subsequently. As the pressure on this side is merely indirect, the returns of the Bank of England are not awaited with equal interest. It is to be expected that the next returns will present a remarkable diminution in the amount of employed notes. On single day applications for discounts advances are known recently to have exceeded a million pounds and are understood on many other occasions to have been extremely large.

The greater part of these advances will have to be paid on Monday next. Simultaneously with these fall due the dividends. It is therefore plain that the dividends, with this quarter, afford no relief. The position of affairs being precisely the same as if the public had already received them.

LONDON, Friday.—English funds are quoted without material alteration. There is great activity in business, and there seemed to be increased confidence. Consols for money 91¼@ 91⅜; account 91⅜; ninety-eighty exchequer bills 4s@6s premium; bonds 98⅜.

The Austrain Gazette says the King of Naples had written a letter to Queen Victoria and the Emperor Napoleon expressing a desire to take part in the new conference at Paris.
