

PITTSBURGH GAZETTE

OUR WARREN. Editorial Correspondence.—We are gratified to learn that the gap between Fort Wayne and Chicago has been filled up, and the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago road has now opened, and continues road from this city to Chicago, nearly the whole of which is in its own hands, under its own control. This road, from Fort Wayne to Chicago, is not yet finished, but a connection has been formed at a point between the two, with a view to giving the company an embrasure through Indiana, and across direct to Chicago; and thus our rapidly growing trade with that region will receive a decided impetus, and our merchants will be enabled to supply the following market:—

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 16, 1856.
READING MATTER ON EACH PAGE OF THIS PAPER

THE TIMES.

DAILY—Six Pages per annum. Payable in advance, and will be supplied on the following terms:

Do one month's subscription $1.00
Do six months' subscription $5.00
Do three weeks' subscription .75
Do one week's subscription .25
Do one day's subscription .10
Do one month's advertisement $1.00
Do six months' advertisement $5.00
Do one week's advertisement .75
One copy of paper, (over 200 pages) .25
One copy of paper, (over 200 pages) .25

Editorial Correspondence of the Gazette.

BUFFALO, Nov. 10, 1856. j

Boat, detained in this city for a few hours while en route to Montreal, to make a few more by the road, and a few days, and the atmosphere is occasionally blizzardy, with drifts of snow. The lake which stretches away like an ocean to the West is also like the ocean in its wild and stormy appearance. During several days of the past week freight storms have been frequent, and the ocean causing shipwrecks and destruction of property. On Friday night the freight depot of the Great Western road in this city was merciful, and the road covered some distance by the wind. A general特派 of the road of the New York Central Railway. Derailed cars and other buildings were laid in many instances more or less injured. Vessel and steamers sank and those inland oceans wrought like a sea of foam not unlike the great ocean itself.

Business men are scarce, even the chorale of life weather and tempest by flood and field, of minor import in the presence of the yet all prevailing theme, the Presidential contest.

Freight, detained at every point, at every place where we have turned, at every place where we have arrived, is in every conger. The wonderful success of Fremont in the East, and every trait with the highest hopes for the future. Fremont has an overwhelming majority in the popular vote. The people have affixed the seal of condemnation upon Pierce, and by the authority of an electoral college, only, they have decided, and so we got for the next four years a president who has elected by a minority of the people for an assassin. Fremont's majority over Buchanan in the East, in the States is more than 75,000 and still counts up. Where will it stop? Massachusetts more than 65,000 majority for Fremont. There is hope for the Republic. What delights us most is the adhesion of the spirit of freedom everywhere among the Republicans. Our friends go on unhesitatingly. Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town, and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them. It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of liberty in eternal vigilance and he is certain who, with the vast majority of the people, that united States urging him forward and almost to the top of the mountain, and the virtue of the North cheering him on his way, shall for a moment fail to stir up the sword of truth. What we must do, if we do our duty is to fight every inch of ground, yield nothing, stonewall, and other local offices and be always ready for the fight.

A large number of our friends, who wrote a letter to the Journal, expressing their views, trust our friends who fought so successfully the cause of freedom in Allegheny County will return to the cause of freedom in Indiana. We have no friends, either foreign or domestic, who said of submission, even, "dominatio-

nem, pater," etc.

INDIANA.—The Louisville Journal, referring to the result in Indiana, says:

"Mr. Buchanan did carry Indiana, but we have lost the lead down front, and are overwhelmed, and are in danger of being beaten, unless our opinion is opposed to that of the people of Indiana, in favor of the Union."

It is evident that we are going on unhesitatingly.

Enthusiastic meetings are held in every town,

and every avenue of man could overtake that of the slaves, planned, like that of the slaves, to do whatever it pleases upon them.

It is true that it is easier to turn the water back into sink pipes, and "turn the delusive phantom of hope" to deprive slaves of their labor and anxiety than to turn the price of