PATENTED! PATENTED!

Brother Jonathan's Furniture Polish.

The only Patented Furniture Polish in the World!

IT SHOULD BE IN EVERY FAMILY.

It has been admitted by every one who has ever used it, to be the best article of the kind ever invented. It is applied with a piece of Canton Flannel or Woollen cloth, and dries immediately, removing all stains, grease and dirt, making your furniture look as well as when new. It will remove the action of hot and cold water. Beware of Counterfeits! None genuine without John L. Brabon on the Label. Principal Depot, 444 Broadway, New-York. JOHN L. BRABON & CO.

Important to Everybody.

FOR the last three years I have been engaged in a business known only to myself, and connected with others, whom I have instructed for the sum of $2 each, which has averaged me in the receipt of $1,500 to $2,000 per annum; and having made arrangements to go home in the fall of 1857, I propose in the mean time, to instruct any person in the United States or Canada, who will remit me the sum of $1.

Those I have been favored with, as to the many thankful acknowledgments I have received from those whom I have instructed, and who are making from $5 to $15 per day at it, to give any opinion is needless, and but a few words, which is easy, pleasant, and very profitable at a small cost. This is positively No Humbug in the matter. References of the best class can be given as regards its character, and to refer to persons whom I have instructed, who will testify that they are making from $5 to $10 per day at the outset. It is a business in which either ladies or gentlemen can engage, and with perfect safety make a very handsome income. Several ladies in various parts of New York State, Pennsylvania and Maryland, whom I have instructed, are now making from $3 to $5 per day at it. It is a genteel business, and but a few dollars is required to start it. Upon receipt of $1, I will immediately send the recipient a printed circular containing full instructions in the art which can be perfectly understood at once.

All letters must be addressed (post paid) to A. T. PAIN & SONS, 335 Broadway, New York. de8,1mdr

To Druggists and Physicians.

YOUR attention is invited to a new Medicinal preparation called the

CHILDBIRTH PAIN ALLEVIATOR.

The proprietor of this article will assure the public that the principles that exists against anything new in the practice of medicine and especially in the case of those for which this drug sustains that it will only require a re-fect confidence in it. Great care is taken in its manufacture to procure only the purest drugs, as only such as are warranted genuine are used. There is no ingredient in it that would prove injurious. Circulars containing full information and testimonials can be had at the wholesale depot, 350 Hower's Avenue, Philadelphia. This is the only article of the kind in existence. It effects truly wonderful. When used rightly it entirely prevents the sufferings usually attendant upon childbirth, and preserves the mental and bodily strength of the patient in a marvelous degree, strengthening to the whole system, and most pleasing in its effect throughout the whole period of confinement. Here are a few testimonials:—

Dr. Brunon—I have used your "Childbirth Pain Alleviator," on a number of times in my practice. I find it to be a most excellent article, and can recommend it with confidence to the public. Its effects are truly wonderful. THOS. CUTHRIE, M. D., Washington st.

ORINGE, N. J., Nov. 17th, 1856.

Childbirth Pain Alleviator," and find it the best article I have ever seen for the purpose. It makes the pain and effects easily and quickly. I cheerfully recommend it. FRANCIS LEFEVRE, M. D.

Dr. Brunon—After having been confined several times with great danger and much pain, I was induced to try your remedy by my brother, who had heard of its wonderful effects. I did so, and experienced a most beneficial result. You have my best thanks, and I would cheerfully recommend your preparations to every sufferer.

Truly yours.

For sale by all respectable druggists, and wholesale only at 350 Hower's, 1st floor, New York. Price $3 per package, with full and simple directions for use.

Packages sent by Express to any part of the United States. de23,3mdr F. BRUNON, M. D., Proprietor.

The Canterbury Tales are surpassed in English literature.
THE HUMOROUS POETRY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE. By JAMES PARTON. 600 pages, 12mo. cloth—price $1.00. Throwing the reins upon the neck of his droopingbeast, and lightly grasping his rifle, he dismounted quickly, and tapped lightly on the slab door.
"Who's there?' demanded a voice from within, with the intonation peculiar to the natives of New-England.
'Eden Stanforth,' was the reply of the horseman.
Almost instantly the door was thrown open, and exclamations of pleasure broke from two of the four persons present.
These four persons consisted of a tall, large, strong, handsome, muscular man, of middle age—a small, pale, sharp-featured, thin-lipped woman of forty—a long, lank, awkward youth of twenty, with pocked face, daxen hair, light blue eyes, and freckled skin—and a plump, fair, brown haired, hazel-eyed, comely maiden of nineteen.
'Why, Eden Stanforth, be you back already? Who on earth thought of seeing you here to-night?' said the elderly female who had opened the door, which she still held with one hand, while with the other she took the hand of the young horseman.
For young he was and handsome, possessing a fine, manly form, in the full flush and vigor of early manhood, with an open, frank, honest, intelligent countenance, an eye clear, bright and expressive, and with waving locks rolling back from a broad, high, smooth forehead, and clustering around healthy-hued cheeks and temples.
'I hope I'm surprised you, aunt?' he said quickly, as he pushed in and closed the door, 'for had I failed in doing so, I fear you would soon have received a surprise of a more terrible nature.'
'Mercy on us! what's happened?' cried the aunt in alarm, while the others held their breaths to listen to the reply.
'First,' said Eden Stanforth, 'do you know that war has been declared between our country and Great Britain!'
'No! exclaimed the uncle of the young messenger, starting up from his seat: 'is such the fact?'
'Such is the fact,' pursued Eden hurriedly: 'war was formally proclaimed by our government against Great Britain on the 18th of last June—though it is said that when the imbecile, treacherous, cowardly old Hull marched through here, on the last of the same month, he did not know it.'
'Eden, what do you mean, by speaking in such disrespectful terms of General Hull?' inquired the brother of the young man's father.
'Would that my words were daggers, to let out his heart's blood!' cried Eden fiercely. 'Of woe the day that such a man was appointed to command such a gallant band as he has basely betrayed and sacrificed.'
'Eden, speak! explain!' demanded the uncle, who was a man of a few words.
'He has surrendered Detroit, his army, and all his forts, garrisons, and military stores within his jurisdiction into the hands of the British, without so much as permitting a single blow to be struck in our defence.'
'You don't tell me so!' exclaimed the elder Stanforth, turning slightly pale, and involuntarily clenching his hand.
'Mercy on us!' cried Mrs. Stanforth, clasping her hands in alarm; 'what'll this do to us, Eden!'
'Put us to flight, aunt; to save our lives!' cried the young man, excitedly. 'The hordes of Indians, collected under the leadership of Tecumseh, having now no check at the North, will soon be upon them; and for a few minutes a scene of the wildest confusion prevailed.
'Fool!' cried Stanforth, Peleg's guardian, who reached him first—and who, seizing him by the collar of his hunting shirt, jerked him to his feet, and shook him till all the teeth in his head rattled: 'Fool! coward! what d'ye mean by making all this here fuss for nothing?'
By this time Peleg had become fairly awakened; and as he feared his guardian in anger almost as much as he did the savages in themselves, he slunk away, without uttering a word in his defence.
But further sleep for any of the parties after this was out of the question; and Eden Stanforth —who at the first sound of alarm, had started up and grasped his rifle, ready to sell his life dearly in defence of those he loved—now turned his whole attention in quieting the nervous excitement of the females—all of whom, except Mabel Duncan, was still trembling from their late fright and apprehensions of the future.
'Come, mother—come, aunt—and you, Carrie —I am astonished you should permit such a cowardly jackanapes as Peleg White to frighten you all out of your senses. Let me entreat you to lie down again, and get what rest you can, for really I do not think there is any danger. I do not think the Indians have reached this quarter yet, or we should have heard something of them.'
'From what I have heard of them, they generally move about pretty quiet,' replied the father.
'Until they make an attack,' said Eden, and then they give vent to their most terrific yells. If they were about to-night in this vicinity, it is quite likely they would have attacked some of our neighbors before this, and we should have heard their death-signal.'
'I don't feel all-together at ease,' said the father, drawing his son aside, and speaking in a low tone, which reached no ear but Eden's; 'I feel strangely oppressed with something like a presentiment of danger; but keep this to yourself—be a wold of it to the women folks, or we shall have Bedlam to pay again. There is Peleg! That boy ought to be gagged to keep him quiet; and if any harm comes to us to-night, I shall blame him for it.'
'I never yet saw a boaster that was not a coward,' replied Eden; 'and Peleg has often annoyed me by boasting what he would do in case he should ever be so fortunate as to be placed in a position of danger.'
'This is very gloomy work,' said the father, sitting here in this old boat on the river, on a dark night, watching for an unknown foe! I wonder how long it is to day-break?'
'The dawn cannot be far off,' replied Eden. 'Look yonder, over the tree-tops, to the eastward' I think I can see the first streak of day now.'
The sky looks reddish in that direction, but I'm not sure 'tis morning,' said the other.—What do you think, Amos?' he continued, addressing his brother, who was standing within a few feet of him, apparently trying to peer into the darkness, which the thick
