PUBLISHING THE CITY ACCOUNTS.—Our readers will have noticed that the old Councils, at their final meeting, adjourned without ordering the city accounts to be published, the two Councils not being able to agree upon the terms to be paid for the publication. The Select Council was for limiting the amount of compensation for publishing to $75 for each of the papers authorized to do the city printing; while the Common Council was in favor of paying the city printers whatever the cost would amount to at the rates agreed upon between the printers and the city. The latter body, however, agreed upon the sum of $100, but the Select Council refused to concur.

By an ordinance regulating the City Printing the Councils annually receive proposals from the various city papers to do the city advertising, and they then, after opening the bids, award the contract for a year to the two lowest and best bidders. The papers thus selected contract to do all the advertising of the city at a specified rate, and the city comes under obligation to pay them for the city advertising at the rates agreed upon. It is a mutual bargain between the two. The papers chosen have no right to charge more than the prices agreed upon, and the city has no right to exact less.

Whatever the Councils order to be published, comes legitimately under this contract. The annual statement of the receipts and expenditures of the city, with the accompanying reports, ordered to be published by the Councils, become an advertisement, and the city, in all honesty, is bound to pay for it at the rates accepted by itself. The usual resolution for such publication was offered at the late meeting of Councils; but it was accompanied with a proviso that the papers directed to insert the advertisement should accept, in compensation therefor, a lower rate than the Councils had contracted for. This advertisement is worth, at the contract rates, let us say $110; but one branch of the Councils says that the publishers shall take $75 for it or else not publish it.—Against this the Common Council protested, as a violation of a mutual contract.

The publication of this annual statement of the city's affairs is a matter of interest to every tax payer, as well as to those who have to give, therein, an account of their stewardship. Does it, we may be permitted to ask, become the dignity of a great city like this, to stand haggling about $25 or $30 in the cost of its publication, especially after having agreed to pay a stipulated price for all such publications?

Why is it, let us further ask, that this spirit of economy in city affairs is exercised only upon the press? What will it benefit the city to save $75 or $100 in its printers' bills, while no special effort at economy is made in any other department? The press is but poorly paid at best; and in this particular instance it has but little to gain from the advertising patronage of the city.

If the Councils were to order $100 worth of merchandise from any merchant in the city, for the use of the city, would they append to the order a proviso that he should furnish that amount for $75, to be paid in city warrants at 10 per cent. below par? And if they did, would they expect to get it upon any such terms, especially if they had contracted to pay higher prices?—Such a thing would never once be thought of. Why, then, apply a rule to the press that any business man would resent in his own dealings?

It may be said that it is a small thing for the press to stand upon such trifles. We answer, it is a much smaller thing for the city to do so.—The laborer is worthy of his hire. Let the city live up to its contract and the press will do the same. Young America, when his aunt was spreading the butter on his bread very thin, naturally kicked up a fuss about it, and being remonstrated with, said, "It is not the butter I care about, it's the spirit of the thing." So we say.

The new Councils, which meet to-day, will doubtless order the publication of the city accounts for the enlightenment of the tax-payers; and we refer to the facts contained in this article that they may act understandingly in a matter that may be new to most of the members.

REPUBLICANS IN THE U. S. SENATE.—The Senate is sometimes called the "aristocratic branch of the government," a drag upon the car of our progress;" the "regulator in the machine of government" etc. It is so constituted as to feel by almost imperceptible degrees the political revolutions which sweep the country and smite directly upon the floor of the House, emptying in the course of a comparatively short time the seats of the Representatives Hall of every caput mortuum and filling them with a new political vitality, with a new race of men corresponding to a new state of things, inspired with the spirit of new issues and new ideas. Thus we had an anti-slavery extension House as the first fruits of the Nebraska swindle while yet the Senate scarcely felt the shock of the battle which raged throughout the States where free speech and a free press are numbered among tolerated institutions. And yet in the short space of a little more than three years and a half, the Senate too begins to feel the swelling tide of the popular will. Freedom is beginning to plant her feet within the sombry walls of the chamber whose floor was stained with the best blood of one of her most fearless sons. The record of votes in that body will begin to tell for the right in the XXXV Congress and with this comfort to us too, that if it is slow to change in one direction it is as slow to veer in another, and as in the nutations of the planets, each variation has its exact compensation. The good fight of truth which we have been waging, brethren in the faith of free doms, has not been without rich fruit. But greater conquests and more glorious victories await us. Though we now have TWENTY true and tried Republican Senators elected, and a possibility of yet another within a short time, this is not all we desire. It is pitiful to hear free men apologising for their political opinions to men who stand in the Senate as the Representatives of secession and filibusterism. We must have the strength to make the enemy acknowledge the justice of our principles and submit to them, legally and properly expressed, not in the Senate alone but every where, where free discussion prevails and where truth can find language to address the hearts and consciences of men. The love of Freedom needs no apologies. Freedom herself scorns a devotee that will not acknowledge her before all MEN. She is no silken maiden but her brow,

"Glorious in beauty though it be, is scarred
With 2 keen of old wars. Her massive limbs
Are STRONG with struggling."

Strong in integrity and clothed in the panoply of truth, let us take courage from the inroads already made upon the ranks of the enemy in the seat of their boasted power and press forward to new and greater victories.

BOSTON AS A MANUFACTURING MART.—The following figures taken from the last report of the Board of Trade, show the value of some of the leading manufactures that find a market in Boston:—Manufactures of cotton, $47,000,000; Boots and shoes, $37,500,000; Woolen goods, $22,000,000; Clothing, $12 000,000; Leather, $9,000,000; Books, $5,500,000; Furniture, $4,500,000; Agricultural tools, $2,500,000—Total $140,000,000.

A WELL-ABUSED MAN.—Mr. Cameron ought to be proud of the following notice of himself from the Pennsylvanian of Wednesday:

The cheek of every true Pennsylvanian will tingle with shame when he reads the proceedings of yesterday, and his heart throb with indignation at the thought that any party could have been found base enough to pander to the ambition of such a man. We look to the United States Senate to rebuke as pointedly and forcibly as it can, the intrusion of such a creature into their midst. We know that Cameron will be scorned and despised by every honest and honorable man in that body, and we hope that, dead to shame as he is, he may be made to feel that the barely purchased and ill-deserved laurels with which he would deck his brow, are filled with thorns to goad one who so ill deserved them. Let him be shunned as a moral and political leper, whose organization is but a complication of foul diseases and corruptions.—Let him sit there, as though he were in a pillory, amid the hissing scorn and contempt of the other occupants of the chamber. If the United States Senators shall at all permit him to sit among them, let it be with the understanding that he is to be treated throughout as such a personification of infamy deserves. Simon Cameron will go to the Senate to serve no honest purpose, to represent no honest political opinion, to discharge no honest political duty. He will go there in quest of plunder, ready to betray friend or foe to gain his ends. He will go there through the old of corrupt means to accomplish corrupt purposes. He will go there as ready to sell his own vote and influence, as he has been to purchase votes and influence to assist him in securing his election.

The Pennsylvanian and The Union of this city have struck the same key note and run through the whole gamut of indignation and wo with amazing facility. The stings of sarcasm, the ornaments of rhetoric, the thrusts of irony, the coarse denunciations of impotent malice, the howlings of disappointed greed, all combine to give bitterness to border ruffian diatribes against Cameron, spiced with choice tid bits from ranting peacemakers and exploded play writers. Added Simon will pass among Doctor Johnson's class of "well abused men," a class which it is difficult not to esteem; for a man whom in success his enemies do not hate enough to abuse roundly, must lack point; must suffer under some radical defect. A man without any positive traits of character, who lives in an atmosphere of negation and constantly assents, tacitly if not verbally or outwardly to what he does not believe, and who does this for the sake of peace which is no peace, may be a creature to admire for his imperturbable gravity or to envy on account of the summer-calmness of his stagnant life, but he never does any thing in the world worthy of notice; never originates any thing.—A man must have something positive in him who can attract to his devoted head so many calpurnious thunderbolts as have fallen upon Simon within the last few days. And still the tempest of wrath increases. It appears to be a sort of chronic thunder-storm. Prithee fierce paragraphists! copy the example of the great Jupiter who is said to have been the father of the whole family of thunder-bolts, who, after storming away at his jealous spouse until tired with his exhausting efforts, and thereupon ceased for a time from his labor, and slept. Take it calmly friends! You must not expect always to walk out upon the high-ways with laurels and palms of victory. Long before Mr. Cameron shall have got through his six years, you will forget the present effervescence. Senator Bigler will regret his colleague more and longer than all the newspapers. Be calm and in the midst of wrathful denunciations, enter into a careful analysis of the questions—What is the use? Cui bono? What do you propose to do about it?

"Put an extinguisher upon the moon
And ordered dinner to be brought at noon."

THE ELECTION OF CAMERON.—No event that has fallen under our notice these many days has created such a sensation as the election of Mr. Cameron, on Tuesday last. For a while past there has been a profound lull in the political heavens, the calm which usually succeeds a storm. This matter has come opportunely to wake us up. The press is full of it and to satisfy the laudable desire of the public to hear what every body says, we subjoin a few extracts from the leading papers of the day. The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Times, says:

The news of the election of Cameron as Senator from Pennsylvania over Forney was received while the House was in session. The intelligence soon spread, and occasioned much excitement everywhere. The opposition members are delighted, and were soon heartily congratulating one another on the result.

(From the Herald.)

After all the efforts of Forney—after all the puffs in the country papers—after all the influence of the King's name—in spite of all these influences, the blood of the Highlanders and Puritans has proved too much for that of the Cavaliers and the Huguenots. We are sorry for Forney. After all the efforts he has made to carry Pennsylvania for his master, to be thus treated in return is really too bad. We hope that the successful candidate will purchase and send to us the finest, and softest, and most expensive pocket handkerchief to be found in Harrisburg, with which we may wipe away our weeping eyes. Cameron is a trump after all. He has been in the Senate before, and knew precisely how to go to work to compass his object again.

This defeat of Forney will create a great sensation at Washington and elsewhere. It will have a most happy effect upon the result of the Presidential election, making him even more cool, calm, collected, courteous and conservative than ever, and he is somewhat distinguished for possessing a large share of these qualities. It will teach Forney a lesson of patience and perseverance, and he is now in a position to enlist sympathy, we consider all our debts with him as settled, and we hope that in the distribution of the spoils of the new administration he may find some court plaster for his sores, and be able in the future to regulate his political life better than heretofore.

A few years ago the famous Sam Patch used to jump from a great height into the basin of Genesee Falls; and, to the astonishment of every body, came up fresher and stronger than ever. So it is with Forney; he has taken a tremendous jump over the political falls at Harrisburg; he has gone under for the present, but he will come up in some new and unexpected place—say Washington—fresher, clearer, stronger and more amusing than ever.

(From the Times)

The friends of Forney must have been prepared for his defeat, and yet, if they had not believed they could elect him, it is surprising that they should have subjected him to the mortification of so prompt and decided a rejection by the Legislature of Pennsylvania. Since he has failed in the attempt to be elected a Senator, he will have to be provided for in some other manner. His rejection is a defeat of Mr. Buchanan, who will of course see that he is amply compensated for his disappointment. The election of Gen. Cameron will throw all the Cabinet arrangements for the new Administration into confusion again, and lead to new speculations and combinations.

(From the Courier and Enquirer)

* * * * * * *

Again, an important change has been made (in the Senate) by the election of Hon. Simon Cameron in Pennsylvania, in the place of Hon. Richard Broadhead. There has been no more thorough paced Democratic pro-slavery partisan in the body than the present Senator; and the man who succeeds him was one of the foremost Republican leaders in the State through the late Presidential canvass. Pennsylvania is the State of the President elect, and it is a matter of no small consequence to him and the party which he leads, that it should yield him a steady and firm support. But the weight in the Senate will now be divided and neutralized. And moreover, there is no Free State which is so peculiarly susceptible to pro slavery influences, and none upon which the Democratic party has spent such immense effort as Pennsylvania, and nothing could more impressively exhibit the strength of the Republican sentiment than the succeeding of a Republican, at the present time, to speak her voice in the Senate of the nation. Of all the misfortunes which have befallen the Democratic phalanx in the Senate, none will be more grievous to it than this.

REPUBLICAN SENATOR FROM RHODE ISLAND.—Hon. James F. Simmons, Senator elect from the State of Rhode Island, will take the seat now filled by Mr. James, a democrat. He was formerly a whig, and served as United States Senator from Rhode Island, from 1841 to 1847, being succeeded by Hon. John H. Clarke.

MR. CAMERON.—The Senator elect has held the post he will occupy after the 4th of March next, before. He was formerly a Democrat, and in 1845 was elected to serve out the unexpired term of James Buchanan, who resigned to become President's Folk's Secretary of State. He served till 1849, when he was succeeded by Hon. Jas. Cooper.

IN the Milwaukie market reports, venison is quoted "dull at 6c. in the carcass—market full." "Oh that I had wings like a dove."

THE COMMITTEE.—The Committee appointed under the resolution of Mr. Kelsey, of New York, to investigate the charge of bribery and corruption in Congress, consists of Mr. Kelsey, of N. Y.; Mr. Winter Davis, of Md.; Mr. Ritchie, of Penna.; Mr. Orr, of S. C.; and Mr. Warner, of Ga.

The correspondent of the N. American remarks that they are all men of acknowledged character, and any report from them will command the respect of the public. It will be expected, if they find the powers of the resolution too contracted, that enlargement will be asked and granted. The limited time left is one of the great obstacles to a thorough sifting of this discreditable business, and is the confident reliance of the trafficking tricksters who trembled when the motion was first submitted. They are today assured and defiant, but the finger of scorn will yet point them out from among their fellows, and the indignation of outraged constituencies will brand them with deserved reprobation.

ELECTION OF U. S. SENATORS.—Within a few days past, seven U. S. Senators have been elected to the Senate, from the 4th of March next, viz: Zachariah Chandler, republican, in place of Lewis Cass, democrat, Michigan; Stephen H. Mallory, democrat, Florida; Charles Sumner, repub., Mass; James F. Simmons, repub., R. I; and Simon Cameron, repub., Pennsylvania. Two of these are re-elections; Mr. Simmons succeeded Mr. James, democrat, and Mr. Cameron takes the place of Mr. Broadhead, dem. The two vacant places in the Senate for Missouri, have been filled—Polk, just inaugurated Governor of the State, for the full term, and J. S. Green, for the short term. These are both of the border ruffian stamp of the democracy. The vacant seats for Delaware were, probably, filled on Wednesday, but, at the moment of this writing, we have not heard of the fact. The democrats nominated Hon. James A. Bayard and Martin W. Bates, the former for the full term and the latter for the unexpired portion of the term of the late Senator Clayton.

CAPTAIN HARTSTEIN.—This gentleman and his associates who went in command of the recovered ship Resolute to Great Britain, are lionized in all parts of the kingdom where they make their appearance. The English papers are crowded with notices of balls, banquets, toasts and speeches which are interesting but which we cannot find room for in our columns.

THE inaugural ceremonies connected with inducting Gov. Polk, of Missouri, into office, were delayed more than half an hour in consequence of there being no Bible at the State House, and not a copy in the vicinity. One was finally obtained at the penitentiary.

PROSECUTING BANKS.—Col. H. S. Magraw, the State Treasurer, is, it is said, about instituting proceedings against the Chambersburg Bank, the Honesdale Bank, and a number of others, to recover the forfeiture for neglecting to keep their notes at par in Philadelphia.

ZACHARIAH CHANDLER, the republican Senator from Michigan, to succeed Gen. Cass, is a new man. He is a wealthy merchant residing in Detroit, and was elected on Saturday last by an unanimous vote of the Legislature in joint convention.

APPLETON'S TRAVELLER'S GUIDE.—This book is published monthly under the Supervision of the Railway Companies, by D. Appleton & Co., New York. It is just what it proposes to be, a competent guide on every railway or steamboat route in the United States and Canada. It costs but 25 cents.

THE M'Keesport Standard appears in a brand new suit. Glad to see it.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 13.

After the vote for U. S. Senator in joint convention, Mr. Browne, of Phila., presented a protest against the election of Simon Cameron, which he desired to place on the minutes. The President ruled it out of order, and the convention adjourned.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 14.

SENATE.

A protest, signed by 14 Democratic members of the Senate, was presented as follows:

The undersigned members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, do hereby protest against the proceedings of the Joint Convention which met at 12 o'clock, M., on Tuesday, the 13th inst., in the Chamber of the House of Representatives, for the purpose of electing a Senator to represent this State in the Senate of the United States for six years from the 4th day of March next; and they protest against the election of Simon Cameron by said Convention, for the following reasons, viz:

Because there is not a concurrent majority of each House in favor of the candidate declared to be elected.

Because the Senate did not comply with the requirements of the act of the 21 day of July, 1839, entitled "An act relating to the elections in this Commonwealth," in this, that they did not appoint a clerk, and make a nomination of persons to fill said office, nor give notice of said appointment and nominations at least one day previous to the meeting of said Joint Convention.

Mr. Penrose inquired, if Mr. Forney had been elected, instead of Mr. Cameron, would this protest have been presented?

The further consideration of the protest was then postponed.

A similar protest to that in the Senate, concerning the election of U. S. Senator, was presented, signed by 33 members. A motion for its indefinite postponement was lost, yeas 46, nays 48, and pending a motion to receive it, the House adjourned.

Prof. Wood's Hair Restorer.—A Real Hair Restorer.

Mr. Samuel Jones, a Methodist clergyman, residing in Harrysville, Westmoreland county, says that his hair had been getting gray for the last twenty years, and was disposed to fall out. He used two bottles of Prof. Wood' Hair Restorer, which entirely stopped the falling out of the hair all the hair resumed its original color, and has kept the color now for nine months. This is a common case, but we publish it because it is near home, so that the public may be convinced that Wood's Hair Restore s retails it purports to be. Sold at one, two and three dollars per bottle, at Dr. GEO. H. KEYSER, Druggist, No. 140 Wood st., wholesale and retail agent.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

What the New York City Folks say of Dr. McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE. Manufactured by Fleming Bros.

NEW YORK, August 23, 1852.

This is to certify that I am well acquainted with a man 50 years of age, for many years a resident of this city, who had been at times extremely ill, but could not tell from what cause, unless it was worms. He told his attending physician his suspicions, but the physician at once ridiculed the idea, and refused to attend him any longer.—His son then mentioned Dr. McLane's Vermifuge, and asked him if he would take it; he reply was—I must take something to get relief, or die.

They at once procured a bottle of Dr. Mr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge, and he took one half at one dose.—The result was, he passed upwards of three quarts of worms, cut up in every form. He got well immediately, and is now enjoying most excellent health, and like the good Samaritan of old, is endeavoring to relieve his unfortunate neighbors. For further particulars enquire of Mr. Hyde, 31½ Cannon st; New York city.

Sold, Wholesale and retail, at Dr. GEO. H. KEYSER'S Drug Store, 140 Wood st., sign of the Golden Mortar.

Important Notice to those Afflicted
WITH CHRONIC DISEASES, by Dr. A. S. HEATH, New York City. Finding it impossible to attend personally to all our patients, and being unwilling to trust such responsible duties to assistants or students, and for the purpose of suppressing the sale of worthless and injurious quack medicines, as well as the impositions advertised under fictitious names, offering to send pretended cures gratis, or on receipt of letter stamps or one dollar, &c.—to obviate these, and to accommodate patients in all parts of the country, I send medicine, with full directions, to cure any disease, for $5, unless treatment is required for a longer period than one month, when the fee is the same for each month. The fee for all oral or personal consultations, including that for the medical report of Lancets, will depend upon the peculiarity of the case. Patients will give a full statement of all their symptoms as the remedies are prepared with an especial reference to each case. All money letters should be registered. The first page of my illustrated work will be sent to any address on the receipt of 10 cents. A. S. HEATH, 101 Spring street, opposite the St. Nicholas Hotel,
oct10 New York.

The only Medal Awarded by the New York Exhibition to the English or foreign Sauce Manufacturers has been obtained, against numerous competitors, by LEA & PERRINS, or their whereby further testimony is afforded of its being the best Sauce extant.

The celebrity of this Sauce has extended to every quarter of the globe, and its efficacy in promoting the general health is becoming daily more observed and acknowledged.

In the United States it is held to be the most agreeable Condiment yet introduced to the notice of connoisseurs, and it is the first one entitled to be a gentleman, who writes a letter to LEA & PERRINS thus: "I have carried a bottle of your Worcestershire Sauce in a cruet I have just completed through Spain and Portugal, and before I saw you I never knew a proper state of health t its use; your Sauce is stomachic, and I shall maintain it can with truth say there is nothing in a traveler's baggage so essential to his comfort, at least in these countries, as your Sauce.

In India, also, where it is found at the mess of every regiment, a medical gentleman writes from Madras to his brother in the same profession at Worcester, in the following terms: "Tell Lea & Perrins that their sauce is highly approved in India, and that it is, in my opinion, almost Palatable as well as the most wholesome sauce in the world."

This sauce is suitable for every variety of dish, and a universal demand which its excellence has created has led to many imitations being offered to the public, under a variety of names, but the genuine may be known by the names of "LEA & PERRINS" being impressed upon the patent metallic capsules, or patent glass stopper of the bottle, as well as the labels and wrapper.

Age and Debility—As old age comes creeping on on, it brings many attendant infirmities.—Loss of appetite and weakness impair the health, and want of activity makes the mind discontented and unhappy. In cases where clergymen are infirm, it is almost impossible to add vigor and health and although many remedies have been tried, all have failed, until BERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS were discovered and used. In every case where they have been supported they have invariably given strength and restored the appetite. They have become a great agent for the sick alone, and are used by many people who are suffering from loss of appetite and general debility. In cases of long standing chronic diseases, they act as a charm, invigorating the system, thus giving nature another opportunity to repair physical injuries.

Caution—Guard against purchasing an imitation. To prevent imposition, be careful to ask for Berhave's Holland Bitters
☞ Sold at $1 per bottle—six bottles for $5, by the proprietors, BENJAMIN PAGE, JR., & CO., Manufacturing Pharmaceutists and Chemists, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Druggists generally.

Dr. Keyser's Shoulder Braces—From Pittsburgh Dispatch, April 10th, 1856—For more than 3 years past we have constantly worn the Washington Shoulder Brace, manufactured by Dr. Geo. H. Keyser, of No. 140 Wood st., in this city, and would heartily recommend it to all who are compelled to follow a sedentary occupation. As we have before remarked, in calling attention to its merits, it answers for a brace and suspender, the weight of the pantaloons being so placed as to continually assist in bearing the shoulders to their natural position and expand the chest. Women, hundreds of whom are annually injured by the weight of enormous "skirts," could also procure these braces. Be particular in procuring the kind mentioned, as many of the brace sold are bombus. Sold at Dr. GEO. H. KEYSER'S, Wholesale Druggist, 140 Wood st., sign of the Golden Mortar. [oct6-dawtf Consumption Cured—Be not deceived by base imitations. Hegeman, Clark & Co's Genuine Cod Liver Oil, never disappoints, and nine years' experience has proved it superior to all others, and the only reliable cure for Consumption.

As there is a great deal of spurious oil in the market adulterated with acid oil, whale oil, &c., &c., see much care cannot be taken to procure the Genuine.

Our Oil is made at our own factory in Newfoundland and each bottle has our signature over the cork, to be cut to get Hegeman, Clarke Co., for since the name of Mr. Hegeman, our late partner, there has been an article introduced called Hepbine, which is in no way connected with H. C. & Co. or H. C. & Co. Sold by W. A. FAHNE STOCK & CO. R. E. SELLERS & CO., and by druggists generally. ja23-lyd&w
