PITTSBURGH:

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 22, 1857.

THE REWARDS OF SERVANTS.—When a public man is elevated to a high and responsible position, say for example to the Executive Chair of the United States, custom has taught us to expect that those who have served most assiduously in producing such a result will be made the recipients of official favor at the hands of Executive gratitude. This favor usually finds expression in gifts of offices which are to a great extent under the control of the President, such as consulships, foreign embassies, Cabinet appointments, etc. True, in the early days of the Republic, honest and trustworthy men were appointed to high stations without regard to the preferences they might have expressed in an excited Presidential campaign, but that thing has passed away. The age of gold has already given way to the age of iron. Nobody expects now-a-days that a president or other officer newly elected will reward any one except his own servants; those who have—

"Toiled through the Summer day,
Or watched the weary night away,"

to promote his interests.

We have learned all of us to acquiesce in this. We expect it. But we also expect that a president, a governor or other high official will give or attempt to give to his favorites only what he holds the right to bestow. The patronage of a President is great enough when shut up within its constitutional bounds. There it should be confined and strictly and sedulously watched. It may sometimes happen—although at present there is no prospect of the chance—that the Senate may stand between the Executive and his desire. At all times, it may well gratify the ambition and aid the schemes of a president to have a prompt, obedient and strongly partisan Senate to second his motions. But however desirable all this may be, a president elect would do well to remember that he has not in his gift seats in the Senate of the United States. Nay, more, to interfere by letter or word openly or otherwise for the purpose of influencing or directing the votes of the people's representatives in a matter in which said representatives' elections were a virtual instruction of the most decided character on the very point to be settled, this is well calculated to excite the indignation of an intelligent people, who, knowing their rights, dare maintain them. They cannot fail to appreciate the fact that no man in this Republic can be elevated to so high a position as to give States to his favorites, saying to this one, "we give you Pennsylvania to rule over in our interest." Here is the first grand mistake of Mr. Buchanan. He forgets that these are not the good old days of Federalism.

"When this old hat was new," that party whips and screws are buddled away for the most part into the limbo of forgotten things; that men are more and more inclined to think and act for themselves; that the very air men breathe is made in its subtile elements an agency of information to the minds of men.

The suggestion is quite pregnant in view of the letter of Mr. Buchanan to Harrisburg referring to the "claims" of Mr. Forney upon the Senatorship, that it remains to be seen whether Mr. Forney really has any claims upon the people of Pennsylvania for having been the chief instrument in the elevation of Mr. Buchanan to the Presidency. The party who voted for Mr. Buchanan in Westmoreland county live too near to Allegheny, and have felt too sensibly this influence of Republican less to bed whipped into subserviancy to such men as Mr. Forney or his master. We believe that the Greensburg Democrat speaks the sentiments of many honest men when it declares that "his (Buchanan's) interference with the judgments and feelings of the members of the Legislature was an unwarrantable assumption of dictatorial authority, and it was resented in a proper way. They cannot be read out of the Democratic party. All the bitter denunciations of the Pennsylvanian, and all the whining and howling of the truckling hounds who bow in miserable subserviency before the mandate of the President, and who think denunciations of Gen. Foster and his friends will be acceptable to him, cannot drive them from the supports of democratic measures."

SALE OF NEWCASTLE GAS STOCK.—Among the Stocks advertised to be sold to-night at the Merchants' Exchange, we notice some shares of Newcastle Gas Stock. This is a new investment, and, if we may judge from similar enterprises elsewhere, a safe one. Newcastle is a near neighbor of ours, and known to be a thrifty, growing and prosperous place. The erection of a Gas Works there is not only an evidence of the enterprise of its citizens, but of the fact that it is settling down into the substantial condition of a well-to-do place, challenging the confidence of capitalists. The following letter of Dr. Whipple, a gentleman well known here, is commended to the attention of all who may have inquiries to institute upon the subject of this investment:

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17, 1857.

STEPHEN S. NOBLE, Esq:

Dear Sir.—Your note of the 17th inst., requesting me to state my opinion in regard to the stock of the Newcastle Gas Company, is received, and I hasten to reply, that I am acquainted with the Gas Works recently erected by you in Newcastle, and can say, without any hesitation, that they have been constructed in the most permanent and substantial manner—that they have been in successful operation for several weeks, and furnish as pure and beautiful gas as I have seen anywhere. Our town is now lighted, and our citizens are using the gas as fast as the necessary fixtures can be put up.

As to the value of the stock I can only say that I have no doubt it will, in a short time, yield as good dividends as any other Gas stock in the State. My reasons are these:—Newcastle is already a large and flourishing manufacturing town, with two extensive rolling mills and nail factories; one blast furnace, two foundries for castings of all descriptions, besides machino shops and other minor but similar establishments. The town is situated in the heart of an excellent agricultural district, abounding with coal, iron ore, limestone and timber. It has three canals, connecting it with Lake Erie at the town of Erie, with the Ohio river at Rochester, Pa., and with the lake at Cleveland, Ohio. Besides these, we have four rail roads centering at Newcastle; not completed it is true, but all partially so and steadily progressing to that point. The Cleveland and Mahoning road is finished and in operation from Cleveland to Youngstown, about sixty seven miles. The Northwestern road, which connects us directly with Philadelphia is all under contract, with 85 miles graded and ready for the iron; and we have the fullest assurance that the whole will be completed at an early period. The Erie and Pittsburgh road is also under way, and bids fair to be ultimately finished; and the Newcastle and Darlington road, which connects us with Pittsburgh, will be finished, and in operation, we have no doubt in the course of the present year. With these advantages Newcastle must become one of the largest towns in the State, and that no distant day.

Another thing should also be mentioned—we have one bank of issue, and two private banks, all on a safe basis and in a sound condition.

I repeat then, that the stock of the Newcastle Gas Company, cannot fail to become one of the best paying Gas stocks in the State. This is my deliberate opinion. Respectfully Yours,

C. T. WHIPPO.

MORALS OF THE COURT OF SPAIN.—The London Times, in a late article upon Spain says:

Furthermore, the scandals of the palace ago said to be graver than at any former period: The Queen, it is reported, has thrown aside the last remnant of decency, and relapsed, after a short period of restraint, into excesses of which even a southern capital is ashamed. The King, on the other hand, is divided from his wife by an intense mutual dislike, and is reported to be actually plotting against her throne. His narrow intellect is entirely ruled by the priests, who surrounded him, and these men are all on the side of Montemolin and legitimacy. His present scheme seems to be to force the Queen to resign, to place Count Montemolin in her room, and to marry the Infant Princess to Montemolin's nephew. Such is the royal couple to which the destinies of Spain are constitutionally confided.

A KNOXUK paper says that the rent of a little shanty thereabouts is 500; coal 40 cents; wood $6 to $8; and other articles at the same rates. At Burlington, an editor says, it takes almost every cent a man can raise to buy provisions for his family; consequently he has no money to pay his debts, and so we find it in all our exchanges throughout the West.

[Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19, 1857.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—Since I last wrote you there has been nothing interesting to your people in a local point of view. One of your delegation, Mr. Eyster, on Thursday last presented a lengthy expose of the views and doctrines of the Republican party of the House, to which was appended a resolution of instructions to our Senators in Congress to vote for the immediate admission of Kansas as a free State and only as such. Their presentation took the Democracy of the House very much aback; to use the homely phrase of Arkansas people, "it struck them all of a heap." He merely read them in place, but all kinds of side motions were at once directed against them to get them out of the way without discussion. They were not in a condition to be reached parliamentarily save by motions to refer. Mr. Eyster anxious to keep the matter under his own control at once moved to raise a special committee of five, to whom they should be referred. Mr. Petrikin, a new member, anxious to take the leadership at once out of the hands of the older members of his party, moved to amend by referring them to the Judiciary Committee. Eyster was on the alert and accepted the modification thereby making it his own. Foster and other experienced Democrats saw the false position in which Petrikin's motion placed their party, and attempted to get rid of this reference, but Eyster's prompt acceptance of Petrikin's substitute placed it beyond their reach. The Judiciary Committee is so constituted that the bogus democracy have but one majority upon it, hence if there happened to be one of the majority members absent, no report against the resolutions could be obtained. Accordingly the Democrats all voted against the reference to that Committee, including Petrikin himself.

Neither House was in session on Saturday, and in fact the Senate was not on Thursday. Hence there has been little or nothing done.

On Friday morning the Republicans held a caucus to nominate a candidate for State Treasurer, Dr. Gazzam presiding. Nothing was done save to appoint a committee of three to ascertain which of the candidates could secure Democratic votes. This committee is to report to the adjourned caucus at 9 A. M., to-day.

I notice at the Executive Department that Gov. Pollock has appointed James D. Owen an Aid with the rank of Colonel. Mr. Owen is a resident of your city.

It is evident at this hour that the Democracy are very much frightened for fear that they will not be able to elect their candidate Col. Magraw.

MONDAY EVENING.—The snow has fallen so heavily, and drifted so deep, that no trains have arrived or departed from this point since yesterday morning. The telegraph wires east and west are down, and we are completely isolated from the world. I have never seen so terrible a snow-storm east of the mountains as this has been, and none of so long continuance.

A number of Democratic and Republican members went home on Friday evening and have not yet returned. There were 17 Republican members absent from the House to day and 8 from the Senate. This absence was unfortunate for us, for by it I sincerely believe we lost the election of State Treasurer. It is but just to say, however, of Messrs. Benson, Imbrie and M'Calmont that they were in town confined to their rooms, although not dangerously ill—They expressed their intention of being present at all hazards if their votes could have contributed to a successful result. The names of the other Republicans who suffered themselves to be caught napping were of the House Messrs. Bishop and Thorn of Philadelphia, Penrose of Chester, Cleaver of Delaware, Hamilton, Housekeeper, Kauffman and Powell of Lancaster, Jacobs and Witherow of Franklin, Wright of Dauphin, Wintrode of Huntingdon, Purcell of Mifflin and Shaw, of Lawrence. The names of the absent Republican Senators were Coffey of Indiana, Taggart, Speaker; Crabbs and Penrose of Philadelphia, Finney of Crawford, Southiver of Elk, Sherman of Lancaster, and Lewis of Delaware. Of these Senators but one, Mr. Sherman, was in Harrisburg. He would have been present if his vote would have availed aught upon the result.

The democrats had present 45 members of the House and 9 of the Senate. Twenty-nine Republicans were in the House and ten in the Senate. Thus the Democrats had only fifteen majority in joint ballot. If the twenty-five absentees on our side had been present we would have had a clear majority of ten on joint ballot and a majority in both Houses. We could thus have forced a joint convention and have elected a Republican in place of Col. Magraw.

As it was the Democrats had a majority in the House, and fearful that our members were not really absent, and that if they agreed to go into joint convention they would be beaten; adjourned the House, and thus rendered a joint convention impossible. There was, therefore, no joint convention, and under a chance provision of the law directing the election of Treasurer Mr. Magraw holds over for another year. And this is owing to what I consider a dereliction of duty on the part of our Republican members. It is true there were fifteen Democrats also absent from both Houses, but that is the very reason why our friends should have been present, or at least not absent at such an important time, unless paired man for man.

It gives me pleasure to say that not a man of your delegation was absent. Indeed there were but three absent from west of the mountains besides the two invalids, McCalmont and Imbrie. From the glorious Wilmot district every man was present, as they were from the entire North. All that I have referred to were at their posts manfully, doing their duty and watching the fight. Your Senator, Mr. Gazzam, was in the very heat of the contest in the Senate, where the minority fought the majority under the rules during the whole morning to prevent the Senate from going into joint convention. When it was brought to a vote they sat still and refused to vote, and thus no quorum voting they at last forced the Senate to adjourn. They acted the part of factionists and not of Senators.

The fact, however, that with fifteen majority the Democrats were unwilling to go into joint convention, proves how terribly they have been frightened by the election of Cameron. They chose to trust, in this case, to an evasion of their duty, to a chance provision of the law rather than to rely upon their very large majority. They are completely, cuffingly cowed by the opposition, and that fear is not likely to abandon them during the winter.

No legislation of any kind was gone through with to-day in either House save what I have already referred to. I.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 12, 1857.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—To-day brought but little of interest unless you consider, a factious Democracy, and an unprecedented, blasting, biting snow storm in that category. Many members of both branches of the Legislature, including the Speakers of both houses, who left for home on Friday and Saturday, have been unable to reach the Capitol, in consequence of the immense snow drifts, which have blocked up the rail roads.

This is the day appointed by law for the election of State Treasurer.

In the House the Republicans voted in a body to proceed regularly to business. But the opposition, though they had a majority of the members present, refused to go into an election. They had an indefensible notion that there was certainly a "nigger in the wood pile" somewhere. The appearance of the Republican minority in the House they regarded as a ruse, and insisted that seven others were hid away in the "coal hole or somewhere else convenient, who if they went into an election, would suddenly appear and defeat them." Poor fellows! They thought of Cameron and last Tuesday, and dreaded the idea of being caught in the Republican trap twice within a week. So they all voted for an adjournment until tomorrow.

These same patriots so loud in their lamentations a few days ago against their opponents, whom they accused for not observing the precise letter of the law, were found to-day dodging, equivocating and playing the baby generally, simply because they dreaded a flaxing similar to the one they got on last Tuesday.

In the Senate the same factious spirit was manifested. There they became mulish and refused to vote at all, and thus that body was compelled to adjourn over without accomplishing anything of importance. So you will perceive that business progressed here to-day at about the same rate lawyers are said to go to heaven—very slow.

But the Republicans in both Houses stand right upon the record.

The different elements of opposition to the Democracy here, are well united. Every other difference is forgotten, in the general wish, to unite on the living issue of constitutional freedom, the extension of that freedom to our brethren in the territories who have suffered untold atrocities at the hands of those who professed Democracy; and the universal approval of their course which reaches here almost every day, augers for our cause in the future.

That frot the clouds are Messengers of day."

OHIO AFFAIRS.—The Ohio House of Representatives on Friday agreed to the Senate resolution to print 4000 extra copies of the Report of the Investigating Committee, yeas 62, nays 26. The following is a brief but pregnant summary of the results of the investigations of the Committee on the Penitentiary, Public Buildings, and Asylums.

OHIO PENITENTIARY.

Defalcation	$6,288 83
Due on Books	5,559 55
Over charges on Physician	800 00
Paid Wm. Trevitt	108 00
Fraud on Com. Contract	505 00
	$12,261 88

NEW STATE HOUSE.

Useless expenditures	$100,000 00
Frauds and over charges	48,229 44
	$149,229 44

NEWBERGH LUNATIC ASYLUM.

Useless expenditures	$6,500 00
Frauds and over charges	61,642 00
	$57,142 90

DAYTON LUNATIC ASYLUM.

Useless expenditures	$5,600 00
Frauds and over charges	55,200 05
	$60,760 05
Total	$279,883 77

The Ohio papers present the above as a specimen of democratic honesty and economy.

THE Sandusky Register says the Message of the Governor of Michigan was ordered to be printed in the English, German, Holland, French and Chippewa languages, and the appointment of competent translators authorized. The locos foco members opposed the printing in all except the Chippewa language. Mr. O'Flynn of Wayne, proposed to add 500 copies in the Irish language; but as he could not give assurance that a competent translator could be obtained, his proposition did not prevail.

THE following bills now pending in the Legislature, are of interest to our readers. They stand first among the bills on the files of the House:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act it shall and may be lawful for John Aiken of the city of Pittsburgh upon ten days' notice given to the solicitor of the said city to apply by petition setting forth the facts in the case to the court of common pleas of said county who shall thereupon appoint three disinterested persons as viewers to view and report upon the matters and things complained of.

SECTION 2. That it shall be the duty of said three viewers as soon as convenient after their appointment to fix a time and place for their meeting of which ten days's notice shall be given to the attorney of either party and at the day and time of such meeting after having been first duly sworn and affirmed by some competent authority they shall proceed to view and assess the damage done to the said John Aiken by reason of the laying out and opening of Forbes street in the Eighth ward of the city of Pittsburgh through the property of the said John Aiken as though said Forbes street had been actually opened and the said viewers after having examined the premises and heard the parties their proofs and allegations shall make their award in writing signed by at least two of them and file the same in the office of the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of said county subject to an appeal by either party as in other cases of viewers of damages and in case of an appeal to be tried as other cases of like kind Provided That if the said award is not appealed from within twenty days from the filing of the same by either party, that then it shall be taken and deemed to be a judgment against the city of Pittsburgh and collected as other judgment against said city.

A Supplement to an act relating to Banks Saving Trust and Insurance companies, approved November eighth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That to the end that the full intent and purpose of the acts to which this is a supplement may be accomplished, and that the notes of other States may be forced to give place to the secure issues of the banks of this Commonwealth, the thirtieth section of the act approved the 16th of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, entitled "An act regulating banks," be and the same is hereby extended to all persons holding licenses as brokers under the laws of this Commonwealth, or who may be transacting the business of private bankers; Provided, That nothing herein contained shall authorize any broker or bankers holding a license as such or any person engaged in the business of private banking, to create any bank note or certificate in the similitude of a bank note; Provided further, That this act shall not go into effect until the first day of July next, or until the license of any said broker shall have expired.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Fire Proof Safes,

A Safe that will be safe against the ravages of fire can be had at DURKEE & DARNES' in this city. The following testimonial, which appears in the St. Louis Republican, of the 16th, speaks volumes in their favor. The builders of these Fire Proofs have established an amiable reputation through the excellence of their manufactures:

To the Merchants of St. Louis and the Public Generally:—In justice to Messrs. E. R. Yeomans & Co., and their successors, William Dean & Co., who are agents for the sale of Burke & Darnes' Fire Proof Safes, we hereby certify that upon opening our safe that was in the great fire of the Lexington Hotel, Conclusion, on the night of the 19th of November, 1856, that our books and papers were found as perfect as new after being in the safe two days, and we can cheerfully recommend the above safe to the public.

The above mentioned safe was this day opened in our presence, and we herewith certify that the large amount of books and papers therein contained were found perfect in every thing perfectly legible.

Age and Debility—As old age comes creeping on us, it brings many attendant infirmities,—loss of appetite and weakness impair the health, and want of activity makes the mind discontented and unhappy. In cases where this age sits its tedious, it is almost impossible to add vigor and health, and although many remedies have been tried, all have failed, until DERHAVEN'S HOLLAND BITTERS were known and used. In every case where they have been employed they have invariably given strength and restored the appetite. They have become a great agent for this alone, and are used by many people who are suffering from loss of appetite and general debility. In cases of long standing chronic disease, they act as a charm, invigorating the system, thus giving nature another opportunity to repair physical injuries.

CAUTION—Guard against purchasing an imitation. To prevent imposition, be careful to ask for Derhaven's Holland Bitters.

Sad, but True.—How often has the church bell tolled forth its solemn notes, and the wailings of kindred, and the lamentations of friends arisen, as the body of some loved one has been borne to a premature grave, who died through ignorance of their disease by those who attended them, or the administration of delatorious and ineffectual remedies. We write this in all sobriness and sincerity, and in thus alluding to the dead would try and benefit the living. What are some of the most fatal messengers that beckon to the tomb? We answer, Scrofula, Erysipelas, and similar diseases. Now although Providence has ordained that such disease shall exist, it has also provided a remedy, distilled from the herb of the field, and its name is Kennedy's Medical Discovery. Invalids, reject it not.

Highly Important to Invalids!

Cod Liver Oil.

PREPARED BY C. BRASHEARS & CO.

Has, on one of its distinguished marks of superiority over other brands of Oils, entire absence of that peculiar nauseous and disagreeable flavor, and offensive odor inseparable from oil crudely and imperfectly prepared.

It may be taken without disrelish by the most delicate patient, and retained without effort on the most sensitive stomach.

Its superiority in this and other important characteristics of consistency, has guaranteed for it the commendation of the most eminent of the Medical Faculty through out the States.

It is the most effectual remedy for consumption, bronchitis, rheumatism, scrofula, &c., and may be had in bottles of the druggists in this city or of the manufacturers,

Prof. Wood's Hair Restorer.—A Real Hair Restorer.

Mr. Samuel Jones, a Methodist clergyman, residing in Murrayeville, Westmoreland county, says that his hair had been getting gray for the last twenty years, and was disposed to fall out. He used two bottles of Prof. Wood's Hair Restorer, which entirely stopped the falling out of the hair all the hair resumed its original color, and has kept the color now six or nine months. This is a common case, but we publish it because it is near home, so that the publishmay be convinced that Wood's Hair Restore is what it purports to be. Sold at one, two and three dollars per bottle at

Important Notice to those Afflicted

WITH CHRONIC DISEASES. By Dr. A. B. HEATH, New York City. Finding it impossible to attend personally to all my patients, and being unwilling to trust such responsible duties to assistants or students, and for the purpose of suppressing the sale of worthless and injurious quack medicines, as well as the impositions advertised under fictitious names, offering to send prepaid gratis, or on receipt of letter stamps or one dollar, &c.—to obviate the above, and to accommodate patients in all parts of the country, I send medicine, with full directions, to cure any disease, for $5, unless treatment is required for a longer period than one month, when the fee is the same for each month. The fee for all curatical operations, including that for the radical cure of hernia, will depend upon the peculiarity of the case. Patients will give a full statement of all their symptoms as the remedies are prepared with an especial reference to each case. All letters should be registered. The first part of my illustrated work will be sent to any address on the receipt of 10 cents. A. B. HEATH,

No 19 Spring street, opposite the St. Nicholas Hotel, ap8-1ydw New York.

The only Medal Awarded by the New York Exhibition to the English or foreign Sauce manufacturers has been obtained, amongst numerous competitors, by LEA & PERRINS, for their whereby further testimony is afforded of its being the best sauce extant.

The celebrity of this Sauce has extended to every quarter of the globe, and its culinary is promoting the general health is becoming daily more observed and acknowledged.

In the United States it is held to be the most agreeable condiment, and esteemed for its tonic and invigorating properties, as it has a final use enabling the stomach to digest the food.

On the Continent of Europe, these qualities have been certified to by a gentleman, who writes to the firm of LEA & PERRINS thus: "I have carried a bottle of your Worcestershire Sauce in a tour I have just completed through Spain and Portugal, and believe I owe my present state of health to its use; your Sauce is delicious, and I think medicinal, even with truth say there is nothing in a traveler's baggage so essential to his comfort, at least in these countries, as your Sauce.

In India also, where it is found at the mess of every regiment, a medical gentleman writes from Madras to his brother in the same profession at Worcester, in the following terms: "Tell Lea & Perrins that their sauce is highly approved in India, and that it is, in my opinion, the most palatable as well as the most wholesome sauce made."

This sauce is suitable for every variety of dish, and is in universal demand which its excellence has created has led to many imitations being offered to the public, under a variety of names, but the genuine may be known by the names of "LEA & PERRINS" being impressed upon the patent stopper, label, capsule, cruet, or patent glass stopper of the bottle, as well as the label and wrapper.

Consumption Cured—Be not deceived by base imitations. Hagerman, Clark & Co's Genuine Cod Liver Oil, after disappointing and nine years' experience has proved it superior to all others, and the only reliable cure for Consumption.

As there is a great deal of spurious oil in the market adulterated with seal oil, whale oil, &c., &c., too much care cannot be taken to procure the Genuine.

Our Oil is made at our own factory in Newfoundland, and each bottle has our signature over the cork, to secure it to get Hagerman, Clark & Co., for fine the sale by all druggists, and together, there has been an article invented called Rushton's, which is in no way connected with H. C. & Co., or H. C. & Co. Sold by R. A. LAVINE & CO., and by druggists generally. jan22-1ydaw
