A VALUABLE INVESTMENT—The proprietors of the ST. LOUIS PLANING MILL, desiring to change their business, offer the above well known establishment at private sale. The property which is pronounced to be in an already flourishing and rapidly improving portion of the city, and the lot located, as a speculation in real estate alone, offers great inducements. The lot is bounded by four streets, has a front of 370 feet on High street, running back 200 feet to Mulberry alley, and has upon it one of the best kind in the country for those competent of guiding the business. The engine is of 70 horse power, and three large boilers, all in first rate order. The main building is 70 by 100 feet, and the roofs covered with galvanized iron, and all the openings have doors to prevent fires and doors. The dry room is detached from the main building, and is an air tight room, giving the seasoning of lumber a favorable position as regards insurance. Attached to the premises is a dwelling house, which pays the owner a handsome rent, and has separate entrance. The business is the most approved kind, and of the latest improvements. The stock consists of the usual woodworth's Planing machines, the latter entirely new, and of the latest improvements, and all other late improvements for the manufacture wing of sash, doors, &c.
The mill has been established about four years, and has a steady and favorable custom throughout Missouri and Southern Illinois, which is capable of very large increase. To any person understanding the business in connection with the lumber trade, the mill is ready established in a city destined at no remote period, to become one of the most important, and manufacturing points of view, one of the largest in the West.
