ADVERTISING is a speedy means of soucces.— The Iron City College folks have tried it and found it so. One thing advertising can't do; it can't alone retains physical favor. Real merit and superiority are absolutely necessary to this. "Time honored" bombast will not do it. Hence the decay of Institutions only time honored, even though most abundantly advertised. By adver-tising, the Iron City College has become known to the people; by solid advantages and real worth, the public has unbesitating! decided in its favor, and so every day but adds to its all ready wide-spread popularity.—"A word to the wise, &a."
