Adopted March 16, 1857. An Incomm.—A very consequential individ-ual was brought before Muyor Weaver the other day for disorderly conduct, and wishing, we supday for disorderly conduct, and wishing, we surpose, to have everything conducted in atyle, bad employed "counsel" to conduct his case according to all the forms of law. The information being made, the individual proposed that his lawyer should, ask the witness some questions for the purpose of cluddating a vory knotty point in the swidence, but his honor, wishing to conclude the common cases as quickly as possible, stated that the disorderly conduct as possible, stated that he districtly boolects was perfectly clear, and very summarily imposed a fine on the violator of the city's peace. The point that the hedividual washed to prove was that he had not struck a cortain personage. was that he had not struck a certain personage in the quarrel which had led to his arrest, and the lawyer, not appearing to understand a great deal more about the meris of the affair or the principles of the law than the defendant, remarked that the Mayor had no right to make a (decision until he had heard all the particulars of the case. His honor immediately informed the disciple of Blacktone that any additional language of the same tenor would lead to his commitment for contempt, and the said disciple, thereupon sat down.

ILANGEST.—A man named Patrick O'Brien was arrested yesterday morning, at the house of Patrick Murphy, on Ponn street, near the river, where he was boarding, charged with robbing Hugh Danlap, who was stopping over night at the same house, of a pecket-book containing $21. From the avidence before Alderman Danaldson, it appeared that O'Brien was a desperate character. When strested he denied all knowledge of the robberty, but after a strict search, part of the money was found secreted in the heel of his boot, and the remainder was faulty recovered. A very large dirk knife was also found in his possession, and the immates of the house stated that the previous night ho had made at assault on his wife with this weapon, from some cause, and ithrestened to kill her, when some pursons interfered and prevented him from carrying out his threats. He was fully committed for trial.

DANGEROUS WEAPORS.—Mayor Weaver is particularly severe on individuals brought before him for any offence who have dangerous weapons concealed about their persons, such as "slung-holts," knucklefs," &c. A young man was brought up yesterday moraing for some common of suce, when it was disavered that he had one of the above weapons in his possession. The Mayor immediately trebled the amount of the fine that he had intended to impose, with the injunction that he, intended to establish it as a rule to deal very harpity with all those found in junction that he intended to establish it as a large discount to be placed in with the intended to establish it as a large discount to the same that the same that the same that the same that and things risk to it. I we the same predictioned. It has become quite fashionable for a majority of our "Young Ameroum" to keep such "infernal machines" about them, readylor immediate action, and we are glad to see that the Major has taken the necessary stops to abate it.

A Lesson.—A gentleman whose name we were requested not to publish, went on a visit to East Birmiogham on Banday and became intontested, in company with two strangers whom be met on the street. When he returned home he discovthe street. When he returned home he discovered that he had lost a gold watch, raised at about $8.0, and make information before Allerman disjor charging the individuals in whose company he had been with stealing it. They were arrested, but there was no evidence to establish their guilt and the magistrate discharged the case, with the consoling advice to the prosecutor, that if he wished to keep his property safe, he should keep soher.

To an enterprising man, with a few thousand dollars this is a good anaparimity of entitied into a wall octable. ing man, with a new thousand dollars this is a good opportunity of getting into a well established besiness, which is now yielding a good profit, and might be much increased.

SUBDAY MORRING, Mayor Weaver's office was perfectly flooded with common cases. Eighteen persons were brought up for drunkenness, disorderly conduct cases. persons were brought up for grunkenness, disor-derly conduct and vagrancy, who were fined and discharged or committed to jail; and the owner of a black horse was fined for allowing his sui-mal to stray through; the city.

LEGURE.—T. L'Arcy McGes will lecture this evening, for the beach of the orphane, in the beachent of St. Páni's Cathedral. The subject, "St. Bernard and the Gruandes," is a very interesting one, and, as Mr. McGes is a profound thinker, and an eloquent lecturer, we have no doubt the house will be well filled.
